ALLIED TROOPS SEIZE CATANIA

Russian Army Occupies Orel After Furious Fighting

The War Today . . .

By De Witt Mackenzie

Associated Press War Analyst

A COUPLE of more stout spikes have been driven into the coffin of Hitlerism in the capture of two highly-strategic cities—Orel on the flaming Russian front and ancient Catania in the northeast corner of Sicily.

Both these cities were vital anchor points for the Nazis.

The heavily-fortified and strongly- held railway center of Orel for almost two years has been the hinge for Hitler's great battle line between this point, not far below Moscow, and the Sea of Azov.

Catania, crouching under the great volcano of Etna, has been the powerful position to which the Nazis and Italians hooked the left wing of the front which they threw across the last remaining tip of northeast Sicily in defense of Messina and access to the Italian mainland, only two miles across the strait from that port.

These two operations, while widely separated and seemingly having little relation to each other, are parts of offensives which in reality are acting as a pair of mighty pincers on the German front in Russia.

THIS is so because (1) if the Russians have the reserve power with which to follow up their notable capture of Orel, it will endanger Hitler's entire right wing and because (2) victory in Sicily brings the Allies nearer to possible invasion of the Balkans, which would further jeopardize that Nazi right wing.

In short, Hitler is being pushed steadily toward that day when he will have to pull back his entire vast line of more than a thousand miles in Russia in order to reach new positions which will afford greater security.

While this is a historic moment for the Alles, we should remember that these two captures are parts of continuing operations. Fierce fighting lies ahead in both theaters.

In Sicily the terrain within the remaining triangle which the Axis forces are defending is rugged and hilly. It's well adapted to defense and has been fortified strongly.

There are said to be close to 100,000 Axis troops assigned to the desperate task of holding this "last ditch", something more than half of them being Germans.

THUS we have the makings of a great battle among the innumerable hilly strongholds, many of which probably will have to be taken at the point of the bayonet—assuming that the Axis forces don't fold up, and there's been no indication of this yet among the Germans.

Ultimately the enemy must surrender or be annihilated, for there is no escape from this triangular trap for the vast majority of the Axis troops.

It's too soon to assay the full import of the Red capture of Orel. The cracking of this major fortress represents one of the great victories of the war. Into it have gone the lives of many scores of thousands of fighting men of both Germany and Russia.

Incidentally, it's only 10 days ago that I received a letter from an anonymous Nazi sympathizer, signing himself "a soldier", who took me to task for saying that the indications were the Reds would take Orel. He said it was a preposterous suggestion and sang the praises of the Boche. There are a lot of these fifth columnists still about.

The fighting which has preceded this victory has been titantic—reminiscent of the struggle at Stalingrad. The Russians drove forward, in the face of the best defense which Hitler could muster, until they had all but had Orel surrounded.

COMPLETE encirclement would have meant the annihilation of a Nazi force of some 250,000 men, but it would appear that the German command has been able to withdraw many of them.

Orel not only is a strong point, but it is a vital rail communications between Moscow and the southern sectors.

The ultimate effect of the fall of Orel might be catastrophic for the Germans, if the Russians have the strength to develop it. However, this is no time to jump to sweeping conclusions.

All members L. U. 86 are requested to be present at N.B.O.P. Hall, 7:30 this eve., for special meeting. By order of Pres.—Ad.

REDS HAMMER WAY THROUGH CITY STREETS

Bitter Rear-Guard Defense Made By Germans After Losing Great Base

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 5 — The Red army battled its way through the streets of Orel today, completing occupation of the first great city to be wrested from the Germans in the summer campaign.

The Germans offered stubborn resistance, throwing tanks into bitter street fighting, but the action appeared to be only a rear-guard defense rather than a serious effort to challenge the Russians for possession of the key fortified city.

Bitter Resistance Met

Front-line dispatches said the Germans still are offering bitter resistance northwest and southwest of Orel in an effort to cover the retreat of the main body of their troops through the bottleneck to the west.

The Soviet army newspaper Red Star declared the Nazis have stepped up their rear-line firepower in those areas, virtually doubling the number of guns for each mile of the front, and are counter-attacking with groups of 15 to 25 tanks.

Soviet bombers, however, were reported blasting at the enemy's support lines and main bases behind the Orel salient, concentrating on the communications center of Bryansk.

Nikitovka, Yasinovataya and Ilovaiskaya behind the Kharkov front and Mga on the Leningrad front also were subjected to heavy air attacks.

'According To Plan'

(The Berlin radio announced last night Nazi forces have evacuated Orel. Describing the retreat as an "evacuation according to plan," the announcement said German forces have taken up previously-prepared positions behind the city after destroying everything of value.)

The Russian announcement that the city's inner defenses have cracked after 24 days of savage fighting, during which Soviet armored units, infantry and cavalry stormed them from three directions, listed vast stores of ammunition and guns as captured.

More than 2,500 Germans were killed and 18 enemy tanks were knocked out as the Germans fought bitterly and even counter-attacked in desperate attempts to check the Red army masses pouring into the city's streets, a Soviet communique said.

Orel, which had a normal popula-

'FLASH FLOODS' TAKE AT LEAST FIVE LIVES

Scores Of Homes Destroyed In West Virginia Area

By The Associated Press.

SUTTON, W. Va., Aug. 5— "Flash floods" which struck early today are believed to have taken at least five lives, destroyed scores of homes and left several communities in Braxton and Gilmer counties isolated.

Deputy Sheriff O. N. Singleton of Braxton county said he was informed that Mr. and Mrs. George Yeager, their daughter and her two children were drowned when their home at Heaters, about nine miles north of Sutton, was swept away by raging Salt Lick creek.

Members of several other families in the Heaters area were trapped in their beds and are missing, Singleton added.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 5 — Heavy rains sent streams throughout central Ohio flowing out of their banks today and forced hundreds of persons to evacuate their homes.

Ninety families moved out of two Columbus suburbs as Big Walnut creek overflowed its banks. Forty families were evacuated from the Wonderland addition north of Port Columbus and 50 families were forced out in Gould park.

The Franklin county sheriff's office said a cloudburst in the northern section of the county caused the already-swollen Big Walnut to overflow.

SOME STRIKERS RETURN TO JOBS

Local Sets Deadline Before Asking General Walkout

A "back-to-work" movement began developing today in the strike of kiln employes at the Homer Laughlin China Co., but members of the original striking local remained adamant in their demands for adjustment of a seniority dispute and promised to urge a general walkout of their craft in the industry unless their demands are met by 3 p. m. Friday.

One labor official declared "the backbone of the strike is broken", while a company spokesman asserted some of the workers returned to their jobs today, apparently from the ranks of the 300-odd kiln shed men who struck in sympathy when local 130 walked out Monday.

Sympathy strikers, consisting of kiln placers, dippers and kiln drawers, began returning to their posts this morning, and others have indicated their intention to return, it was reported.

At a meeting held Wednesday night, the kiln firemen's local voted for Friday's deadline in the face of stern warnings from the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which already has declared it an outlaw strike, and suspended union benefits for the strikers until they return to work while a settlement is reached.

James M. Duffy, president of the Brotherhood, declared today, "The act of last night's meeting of trying to involve other plants is a violation of the rules and constitution of the Brotherhood. Local 130 automatically stands suspended and loses all benefits of the Brotherhood.

"The executive board will take proper action against Local 130 and other locals who have assisted them in the 'outlawed' strike."

At Homer Laughlin, where kiln shed employes left their jobs Monday morning following an argument over seniority rights, production has been cut to less than 10 percent of normal, Joseph M. Wells, general manager, said.

Late News

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes declared today "the oil transportation problem has been about whipped" and that fair and just handling of the oil supply problem will require diversion of petroleum products from the middlewest and southwest to the east, now that they can be moved.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 5—A New York identification expert swore today that a fingerprint on a paper-covered wooden screen in the room where Sir Harry Oakes was bludgeoned and burned to death was made by the multimillionaire baronet's son-in-law, Alfred De Marigny.

New Allied Victories May Bring Parley By Roosevelt, Churchill

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—A swift round of Allied victories in Russia, Sicily and the air over Germany appears to have brought the war to a point where President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill must decide soon on the best strategy for shattering Hitler's European fortress.

In the past, decisions of such magnitude have been in personal conferences in Washington or Casablanca or aboard ship.

The present situation suggests that although the two leaders last met in Washington in May, they may find it necessary to confer again at an early date in order to give final shape to a victory campaign in Europe, weigh the prospects for an early victory and relate these prospects to the possibilities of speeding up the war in the Pacific.

News of Catania's fall, indicating the imminent collapse of all Axis resistance in Sicily, was regarded here as posing the immediate problem of whether to follow the Sicilian conquest with an invasion of Italy or whether to soften up Premier Pietro Badoglio's strongholds by air first in hopes of forcing surrender without invasion.

Even more important ultimately is the question of whether to crush Germany by an aerial offensive alone or to employ a combined land-air strategy.

If air power is depended on to deliver the main punch, the in-

MARINE AND SOLDIER FROM COUNTY KILLED

War Casualties Boosted To 33 By Newest Deaths

A Lisbon district soldier and an East Palestine marine have been killed in action, according to word received here today by the war and navy department.

John Pierce, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vid Pierce who live on the Lincoln highway three miles west of Lisbon, was killed in the South Pacific.

Their deaths boosted to 33 the number of war casualties in Columbiana county.

Word of the soldier's death was received Wednesday night by his parents from the war department. No details were given.

The young man was drafted into the army in 1941 and had been overseas for several months. His last letter to his parents was written June 23.

BIG JAP TRENCH TORN ON MUNDA

U.S. Infantrymen Battle At Close Grips With Enemy

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 5—United States infantrymen fought at close grips today with Japanese on the south fringe of the Munda air field opposite its center after breaking through a long, covered trench.

The battle for possession of the New Georgia island air strip, which long since has ceased to serve Japanese planes but which in American hands would pose an aerial threat at enemy bases in the northern Solomons and on New Britain, is a slow-moving and violent one.

The jungle-fringed airdrome runs roughly east and west. The infantrymen now near its center came in from the east along the coast.

Capture Of Hills Expected

Across the strip from them and about a mile north of the airdrome, other Americans strove to rout the Japanese from the western slope of Bibolo hill preparatory to moving against the field.

(A naval spokesman at headquarters of Admiral William F. Halsey Jr.'s command in the South Pacific said that capture of Bibolo and Kokengolo hills is expected momentarily. He added that a drive past these positions would put the American forces on the sea coast behind Japanese lines, thus pinning the defenders within a small area and cutting off all routes of escape.)

Seven Float Planes Blasted

Along the coast on the western end of the field, many of the Japanese were frightened from their foxholes into the nearby reef-studded waters by swarms of fighter-escorted bombers which dropped 45 tons of high explosives Wednesday.

Navy Corsairs saw to it that no

SWORDS WILL SETTLE ARGUMENT OVER NAZIS

By The Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 5—Ex-Deputy Raul Damonte Taborda, who formerly headed a congressional committee investigating anti-Argentine activities, and Jack Diaz Vieyra, editor of the pro-Nazi newspaper Cabildo, undertook today to settle with swords a controversy they have been conducting through the press.

Seconds arranged for the two to meet in a duel this afternoon with double-edged, pointed blades after tentative places for a meeting last night had been canceled.

Diaz Vieyra recently launched a blistering attack on Damonte Taborda in the columns of his paper. The latter replied yesterday with an open letter offering to take on Diaz Vieyra and the editors of three other pro-Nazi papers simultaneously.

NEW BADOGLIO PARLEY HINTS PEACE MOVES

Britain Expects Meeting To Bring Answer One Way Or Other In Tangle

By The Associated Press.

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 5—Announcement that the Italian government will meet today to examine "important measures" again stirred the hopes of the Italian people that steps will be taken to remove them from the war.

(Associated Press dispatches from London said the British looked for the meeting to bring an answer to the Italian people's cries for peace and Germany's demands that Italy stay in the war.)

(A National Broadcasting Co. correspondent in Bern reported the Italian foreign minister, Raffaele Guariglia, has drafted peace proposals containing among other conditions that no Allied troops come into the country except for control purposes and that the peninsula be "neutralized". Guariglia's proposal is said to be up for consideration at today's cabinet meeting.)

'We Want Peace'

A Swiss correspondent in Milan said an air of desperation has settled on the Italian people and signs were scribbled on walls at night reading:

"Death to Badoglio and the king!"

"We want peace and work!"

"The Germans must get out of Italy!"

Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, meanwhile, convoked an extraordinary session of the 16 cardinals now in Rome for the apparent purpose, said the Corriere Della Sera of Milan, of discussing questions connected with the international situation.

At the same time a constant stream of ambassadors, ministers, apostolic nuncios and other diplomats was reported flowing in and out of the foreign office in Rome, lending credence to the belief that some important development is in the offing.

Takes Different Tack

The Lavora Italiano, taking a different tack than that of the last two days, when the press on orders from Premier Badoglio warned the Italian people that "the war must go on," today declared the sessions of the British cabinet held last Tuesday "have been interpreted in many capitals as a prelude to an eventual armistice."

The newspaper said the position of Italy and her allies is "very fluid and very dangerous" in a moment when "the voices of the diplomats should be raised."

The Corriere Della Sera declared that thoughts of liberty and war dominated Italian minds today, adding that "many have awaited, during these unforgettable days, clearer words and so are able to receive without excessive fear and

NAPLES RAIDED AGAIN BY U.S. FORTRESSES

Docks, Sub Bases Pounded In Latest Air Assault

By The Associated Press.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 5—American Flying Fortresses engulfed bomb-torn Naples in another flood of high explosives Wednesday in the fourth Allied raid against the southern Italian seaport in four days.

The four-engined bombers slashed at docks and submarine bases and left the target "well covered with bombs," headquarters said. One merchant ship was left ablaze.

The unescorted Fortresses winged through heavy anti-aircraft fire and engaged 25 to 30 Axis fighters, destroying three of them.

Other Allied planes supporting the great forward surge of armies in Sicily maintained heavy assaults during the day, blasting supply dumps, road communications and motor transport, destroying and damaging many vehicles, the Allied air communique said.

From all operations over Sicily and the Italian mainland, three Allied planes are missing, headquarters said, and additional reports disclosed six more Allied aircraft are missing from operations on Tuesday besides the two previously reported.

Entire Mt. Etna Line Of Axis Faced With Collapse As Americans, British, Canadians Smash Forward; U.S. Warships Bombard Enemy's Positions

See map of Sicily on Page 9.

By The Associated Press

Allied troops captured the vital German-defended city of Catania at 2:30 a. m., East Liverpool war time, today in a triumphant sweep threatening collapse of the enemy's entire Mt. Etna line and paving the way for the swift conquest of Sicily.

A bulletin from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said the stronghold, key to Axis defenses on the east coast and Sicily's second largest city, fell to the British Eighth army despite strong enemy resistance.

Gen. Eisenhower's command also announced that Allied troops have seized Paterno, at the foot of Mt. Etna, 10 miles northwest of Catania.

This means the enemy's western escape road which skirts the base of towering Mt. Etna has been cut off. Allied warships already have blasted the Germans' only other avenue of retreat via the narrow east coast road to Messina.

"Our troops continue their advance along the whole front," Gen. Eisenhower's command said.

The German radio attempted to sugar-coat the blow of Catania's fall with the announcement that "evacuation of Catania by German troops is confirmed authoritatively, the enemy having been misled by a successful maneuver."

This seemed to imply that Nazi defenders of the port, 18 miles below Mt. Etna and 55 miles south of Messina, have made good their escape.

Allied headquarters indicated Axis defenses are collapsing along the entire Mt. Etna line, declaring the Germans and Italians are "trying to slow down our advance by leaving behind mines and destroying all installations."

Italian headquarters gave no inkling of the latest catastrophe to befall the Axis, asserting that German and Italian troops "are withstanding with unfaltering heart the renewed impetuous attacks of enemy forces."

Gen. Eisenhower's command said American cruisers and destroyers are continuing to carry out day and night bombardment of enemy positions on the Sicilian north coast in support of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's U.S. Seventh army, racing eastward toward Messina.

The Americans have crashed four miles beyond fallen San Stefano to occupy Caronia and its port, Caronia Marina.

Axis defenders along the coastal road were blasted by American destroyers which pumped shells into defense targets from the battle line to Cape Orlando, 18 miles to the east.

Bloodiest Victory Of Campaign

The battle for Messina now has begun, all along the enemy's mountainous bridgehead British and American forces plunged forward for new gains.

The British by their continued bombardments of Taormina acted to paralyze if not cut the Germans' east coast supply—and retreat—route.

The enemy's line of retreat from Catania is a three-mile-wide corridor between the mountains and the sea and in that harsh, rugged strip there are a number of points where he might attempt a stand.

Catania's capture in effect turned the flank of the east coast and the British surged ahead on the slopes of Mt. Etna facing the sea.

The enemy frantically planted mines and blew up bridges in at-

225,000 To 270,000 Nazis Patrol Northern Italy

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 5—Travelers who left Rome three days ago estimated today that Germany now has approximately 15 to 18 divisions (between 225,000 and 270,000 men) in northern Italy and is moving with incredible speed to increase this concentration of military strength north of the Po river.

Although American bombers recently left the railroad yards at Bologna in a shambles, the travelers said, Nazi military engineers quickly restored traffic on the main lines to expedite movement of German troops to strategic centers.

Throughout northern Italy, where the Nazis feverishly are constructing defenses in depth throughout the Po valley, eyewitnesses said they noted strong anti-German feeling expressed in signs chalked on walls, many of which read, "Germans, get out!"

Adding to the bitterness of the north Italian populace was the discovery by police of huge caches of food in the homes of Fascist party members, many of whom were engaged in black market operations, the travelers declared.

U.S. CASUALTIES PLACED AT 6,741

Losses Termed 'Moderate' By Stimson In Report

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—American casualties in Sicily through July 22 totaled 6,741—501 killed, 3,870 wounded and 2,370 missing.

Secretary of War Stimson reported this today, observing:

"Considering the number of troops involved, these losses are considered moderate—particularly in view of the terrain in Sicily."

The secretary said he does not have the figures on British casualties for the same period, but they are "not a great deal higher." Casualties since July 22 are believed by Stimson to be "relatively light."

The secretary told his press conference substantial gains were made by Allied forces in all theaters in the last week.

Prisoners taken in Sicily total nearly 100,000, including several thousand Germans.

In other theaters, Stimson reported:

The raid on Rumania's Ploesti oil fields by 177 American B-24 Liberator bombers struck "a most damaging blow at a vital German resource."

American losses—15 to 20 bombers shot down in the target area, as many more missing, and eight down in Turkey — made a loss exceeding 20 percent of the bombers engaged, "a very high proportion." The raid nevertheless was considered a success, due to "the deliberate gallantry of our men."

Weather has interfered with operations in the Aleutians.

Allied airmen in India continue to range all over Burma, blasting enemy installations, but in China the Japanese air offensive has revived.

Portable Pianos Devised For Solders

By The Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—A new army piano, procured by the quartermaster corps for overseas doughboy units, is less than five feet high, uses only 35 pounds of metal and sounds like one of the slickest morale aids to come out of headquarters.

It can be set up almost anywhere. The top and front of its waterproof case drop down to form a platform for the player.

Or, by taking out a couple of screws in the face of the case, a "window" can be opened up which permits playing the piano without moving it from its moisture-proof jacket.

It even has a stool attached to the base which folds out of the way when the instrument is locked up for shipment.

OPA Continues Process Of Simplifying Forms

Effective immediately, new types of tire rationing certificates requiring fewer entries by both consumer and dealer will be issued by the East Liverpool ration board.

The new forms, OPA Form A-2, eliminates completely the fourth part which the dealer formerly was required to tear off and return to the local board. This is the latest in a series of OPA steps to reduce bookkeeping.

To Paint Or Not To Paint? That's Summer Problem

Many consumers have asked cosmetic experts whether the use of leg make-up is dangerous.

The answer, according to chemical laboratory analyses and professional consumer advisors, is "No!"

Most of the alleged infections and skin disruptions reported to have come from the use of leg make-up can be traced instead to hair-removing methods used before the make-up was applied, according to these experts.

The cream and emulsion types of make-up are better for covering blemishes than the coal-tar types.

Most business girls and college students hail it as a money-and-material-saving cosmetic and a blessing in hot weather.

'A' Book Renewals Still Coming To Board

Though the No. 7 gas stamp has been valid for more than two weeks, many tardy applicants are still applying to the East Liverpool ration board for their new "A" books, ration officials said.

An applicant who is unable to produce the cover of the old book may submit the registration card of the car and a statement that he is the person entitled to use the car and that no renewal already has been issued, according to new instructions received from the Cleveland regional OPA branch.

In addition, "A" book processors at the local board say that many motorists have written in asking for their old tire inspection records.

"They don't seem to understand that the form returned to them with their new "A" book is to be used as their new inspection record and that they have no use for the old one which accompanied the application," said a member of the clerical staff working on the late applications.

OPA Question Box

Q.—I hold only an "A" book. Am I entitled to new tires?

A.—For 30 days after date of issue.

A.—Yes, each retail market must have the retail ceiling price chart on display. Moreover, it is important that this chart be displayed so it can easily be read by all customers in the market.

Q.—Is there a ceiling price on meals served on trains?

A.—Yes, standard "economy" meals are provided at 85 cents for breakfast, $1 for lunch, and $1.10 for dinner. Other a la carte meals, including alcoholic beverages, are frozen at the highest prices charged during the February 1-April 10, 1943, base period.

Q.—In applying at rationing board for my 15 pounds of canning sugar, now that I have used the 10 pounds obtained with stamps No. 15 and 16, will I be allowed sugar for making jelly?

A.—Yes, because of butter scarcity, OPA this year has made it possible to obtain five pounds of sugar per person for making jams, jellies, preserves, and fruit butter. This five pounds is included in the total of 25 pounds available for canning purposes: 10 pounds through stamps 15 and 16, and 15 pounds by application at your local war price rationg board.

'Shoe Swap Center' Is Latest PlanTo Help Ration Program

THE newest OPA scheme, which in time may filter down from Cleveland regional headquarters to East Liverpool, is a "shoe swap center" for children's outgrown shoes.

Details of the plan are being sent to each regional office, and according to OPA, the "shoe swap" program will work like this:

To the center would be taken all shoes which children have outgrown, but which still are wearable.

These shoes would be disinfected by methods approved by the U. S. public health service, cleaned up and minor repairs made under center auspices. Major repairs must be taken care of by the new owners of the shoes.

No Ration Stamp Required

Any growing child, whether or not he has contributed a pair of shoes, who actually needs another pair, is eligible to come to the center and be fitted without surrendering a ration stamp.

According to present plans for such centers throughout this region, the swapping program would apply to children's shoes only.

Fitting would be done by adults who understand the subject, such as local stores' shoe salesmen who volunteer their services.

Not A Charity Project

"Swap centers are in no sense charitable or salvage projects. They are aimed at getting into circulation idle shoes so that the present supply can be made to go further," says program sponsors.

Though the shoe panel of the East Liverpool ration board has received no designated date when such a center might be set up here, the regional office is expected to send details on a proposed local setup soon, says OPA.

HE'S DIFFERENT. Most Itailian prisoners are happy and smile for the cameraman. This captured Italian officer, sitting atop a "throne" chair on a truck bound for a temporary prison camp, is an exception. He was taken near Rosolini, Sicily.

Stores Lauded By WPB For Advertising Code

Within five weeks of its proposal, the country's leading retail stores have adopted and put into practice an advertising code prescribed by the war production board as a necessary step to avoid clothes rationing.

This quick and patriotic action has been hailed by all the war agencies as one of the most constructive steps yet taken to keep supply and demand balanced and to put off panic buying and further rationing steps as a consequence of such buying.

The WPB asked retail stores to refrain from threatening shortages, urging multiple purchases and to eliminate the word "sale" and the phrase: "It's scarce—buy now".

"Cooperation has been marvelous," said a WPB spokesman.

"As a result, clothes rationing seems unlikely and the available textile supply will be distributed fairly."

He added, however that the eventual success of the stores' sacrifices depends on the consumers' willingness to buy sparingly.

Price Offensive Set By OPA At Youngstown

Special To The Review.

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 5—A special crew of OPA enforcement experts will come here soon, it was revealed Wednesday, to assist police and prosecutors in enforcing price ceilings.

The double-barreled drive against black markets, made possible by the city's price ceiling ordinance, was agreed upon at a meeting of A. R. Fiorette of Cleveland, chief enforcement attorney for OPA, and City Law Director John A. Willo.

A Hartville farmer already has been fined $100 under the city ordinance and two wholesalers charged with ceiling violations have pleaded innocent and will get jury trials.

Wholesales Sausage Prices Are Boosted

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The office of price administration announced Wednesday that the wholesale price of pork sausage will be allowed to rise $1 a hundredweight provided the sausage is packed in sheep casings and it is sold in one-pound wax paper cartons. No increase will be permitted in the retail price.

Prosecutor Moves

WEIRTON, Aug. 5 — William J. Moore, prosecuting attorney of Hancock county has moved his offices to the Triangle building at Main st, and Pennsylvania ave. here.

877 CONVICTED BY FBI FOR DRAFT VIOLATION

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Reporting 877 convictions for failure to register with draft boards in nearly three years enforcement of the conscription law, J. Edgar Hoover said Wednesday that by contrast with the last war compliance was "in a spirit of willingness and cheerfulness."

In the first year of the 1917 draft law, the director of the federal bureau of investigation said in a statement, there were about 10,000 prosecutions for failure to register.

By comparison, Hoover added, the FBI handled only 7,190 complaints from October, 1940, to July 1, and of these 5,455 were not willful violators, 435 were found to be inelgiible and 383 agreed to immediate induction without prosecution.

There have been about 22,000,000 registrations of men from 18 through 37 years of age.

Detroit has 370,000 more inhabitants than in 1940 and San Francisco-Oakland 236,000 more for the highest increases of any cities in the nation, according to an analysis of Ration Book Two totals by an advertising firm.

LISBON BOARD FILLS 4TH GRADE VACANCY

Coach Appointee Released For Another School

LISBON, Aug. 5 — The Lisbon board of education has filled a fourth grade teaching vacancy and is casting about for other instructors in preparation for the resumption of school next month. At the same time the board released a coaching appointee from his contract.

Miss Helen Gilbert, who taught the fourth grade at the Lincoln school for several years and has been employed in a war plant in Cleveland during the summer months, has decided to continue in her work there and not return to Lisbon. Mrs. Leo J. Hockman of Hephner Hollow road, will succeed her. Mrs. Hockman taught in the schools of Center township for several years.

John Cavalier, who was coaching at Central Catholic school in Allentown, Pa., last year, was hired by the board as head coach of David Anderson High school, but on Tuesday was released at his request. Mr. Cavalier had accepted the position in the school here and had planned to assume his duties this month with the opening of football practice, but he asked to be released to accept a position in the Greentown, Stark county schools.

A vacancy yet to be filled is the place of H. L. Reuter, science instructor in the high school, who has been employed in the soil conservation office at the courthouse, and will continue in his present work.

Actress Gives 10%

HOLLYWOOD — Film scouts spotted 17-year-old Aureen Cannon, singer-dancer-actress and linguist in six languages, in a Broadway production and signed her up. In her Hollywood contract approved by Judge Joseph W. Vickers, 10 percent of her salary will go into war bonds unless the war ends before her contract does.

It's no secret. The Help Wanted ads that fill the vacancies are the ones that appeal to the reader's viewpoint.

SLAVE TO PURGATIVES FINDS FREEDOM!

Feels 20 Years Younger, He Says!

Everyone who has despaired of ever finding normal regularity should read this unsolicited letter:

"Six years ago, I was quite constipated. I'd taken many so-called 'cures', but it was the same old story. It seemed that each dose had to be stronger than the last. Then, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Soon I was 'regular' again, with none of the old griping pain. I'm 50, but feel younger than 20 years ago when I was a victim of common constipation." Mr. A. Bousfield, 426 S. Villa Avenue, Villa Park, Ill.

What's the secret of such reports of ALL-BRAN's wonderful results? It's simply this: Lack of certain cellulosic elements in the diet is a common cause of constipation. Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a rich, natural source of these elements—which help the colonic flora do their job—lightening and fluffing the accumulated waste for easy, natural evacuation. ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Not roughage that acts by "sweeping you out"! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

Eat ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't find the relief you've dreamed of! Insist on the genuine ALL-BRAN! It is made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

MAYORAL RACE WILL HIGHLIGHT LISBON BALLOT

Incumbent Asks Nomination For Seventh Term; 7 Are Council Aspirants

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Aug. 5—What interest there is in the primary here next Tuesday will center on Mayor G. C. Rauch's bid for nomination for his seventh term as village mayor.

The incumbent, who has been making clean sweeps since he won the office 12 years ago, is opposed by Clyde V. Hadley, garage operator. Seven candidates also seek the six council posts.

All candidates are Republicans, since the Democrats did not enter a slate.

Mr. Rauch is a lifetime resident of Lisbon and president of the Rauch real estate and insurance agency. He is married and has one son. He is a member and trustee of the Presbyterian church, a member of the Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodges and the Kiwanis club.

World War Veteran

His opponent is owner of the Hadley garage. He is a member of the Methodist church, Masonic lodge and Elkrun Grange. Mr. Hadley, a First World War veteran, is married and has two daughters.

Six of the seven candidates for council are incumbents.

Harry Arter is completing his third term and is serving as president. He is proprietor of the Arter harness shop and is a member of the Methodist church. He is married and has one son.

L. H. Johnson, completing his second term, is a lifetime resident of Lisbon. He served for a number of years, as clerk of the county commissioners. Mr. Johnson is a photographer and operates a studio. He is a member of the Christian church, is married and has one son in the service.

Charles Van Fossan, dean of Councilmen, is a former farmer of Elkrun township and served as trustee.

Seeks Fourth Term

He has two sons and two daughters. His wife died in 1941. Mr. Van Fossan is a member of the Presbyterian church. He is seeking a fourth term.

Edward Heim, a member of the firm of Heim and Heim, sheet metal workers, is completing his fourth term. He is married, a member of the Methodist church, the Masonic lodge and a veteran of the First World War.

Graham Kearney, coal broker, is finishing his second term. He has been a resident of Lisbon for many years and is chairman of the Lisbon rationing board. Mr. Kearney is married and has a son. He is a member of St. George's Catholic church, the Kiwanis club, and a veteran of the First World war.

Clarence Ball, a foreman at the R. Thomas and Sons Co., is finishing his fifth term. He is a member of the American Legion and a trustee in the Methodist church. Mr. Ball is married and has a son in the service.

Operates Auto Supply

Henry Dawes is assistant secretary and treasurer of the National Brass and Copper Co., and is owner of the Dawes Auto Supply Co. Mr. Dawes is a member of Trinity Episcopal church and the Kiwanis club. He is married and has a son in the armed forces.

The remainder of the posts are uncontested with incumbents as candidates. They are: Clerk Kenneth W. Hiscox; treasurer, Helen Blackburn, and trustees, public affairs board, William M. Morgan, Robert T. Morris and John H. Vogan.

SEIZED AFTER ESCAPE. Lieut. Hans Peter Krug, German airman whose previous escape from a Canadian prison camp led to the conviction of treason of Max Stephan, Detroit restauranter, has been captured after an escape Monday night, it was announced today.

48-HOUR WEEK FIXED FOR NEARBY COUNTIES

By The Associated Press.

CANTON, Aug. 5—The war manpower commission's labor-management committee here today ordered a 48-hour work week for workers in Stark, Tuscarawas and Carroll counties and at Sebring in Mahoning county.

J. W Reinhardt, WMC director for the Canton area, said employers will have 30 days in which to attain the 48-hour week, adding the order applies to all employers of eight or more persons.

Applications for exemptions will be studied by the labor-management committee and the area WMC office, Reinhardt said.

Victory Gardener May Enter Produce At Wellsville Show

The first Victory Garden exhibit sponsored by the Wellsville Glad-Dahlia club will be held in conjunction with the ninth annual gladiolus show Aug. 14-15 in the first floor of the Odd Fellows building, Fifth and Main sts.

Any gardener, except professional growers, may enter and membership in the club is not required. There will be no charge of any kind and all entries must be in place by 3:30 p. m. Saturday, the opening day of the show, to be eligible for judging.

Each entry will be shown on paper plates, provided by the club, first and second awards will be made in each class and a prize will be given for the best exhibit in each class. Vegetables will be returned to the owner at the close of the show, unless otherwise disposed of by notice to the secretary. All vegetables and containers must be removed Sunday night at 10.

(1) Beets, tops off, three; (2) beans, green, 12; (3) beans, yellow, 12; (4) cucumber, one; (5) carrots, tops off, three; (6) cabbage early, one; (7) corn, white, sweet, husks open on one side, three; (8) corn, yellow, sweet, husks open on one side, three; (9) pickles, six; (10) peppers, sweet, three; (11) peppers, hot, three; (12) tomatoes, three; (13) squash, summer, one; (14) potatoes, early, five; (15) salad greens, including lettuce, endive, spinach, etc. one bunch; (16) herbs, such as parsley, sage, thyme, etc. may be shown in a glass of water, one bunch; (17) other vegetables not listed above, three of small varieties and one of large varieties; (if sufficient entries of one variety is made a class will be created). (18) collection of more than five varieties arranged for artistic effect in a basket, tray or other container to be judged for eye appeal and quality of vegetables.

Schedules may be obtained from Mrs. W. M. Crawford, the secretary, or members of the club.

Since the garden show is being held at the request of the government everyone having a garden, whether it be a backyard plot, a larger one or a Victory plot, is asked to cooperate by entering some produce or fruit.

VOTE FAVORS STRIKE AT TWO WAR PLANTS

By The Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 5—No immediate work stoppage in two Springfield war plants is inticipated, labor leaders said today, despite a vote by a majority of employes in favor of a strike in the nation's first election under the anti-strike law.

More than 1,800 employes of two Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plants balloted Wednesday in the secret election held by the national labor relations board under provisions of the recently-enacted Smith-Connally law designed to forestall strikes.

The NLRB announced that 1,850 of the 2,200 employes eligible to vote cast ballots, 1,005 in favor of a strike and 836 against. Nine ballots were voided.

The election climaxed a dispute between district 50 of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the CIO United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers of America as to which union has jurisdiction over the maintenance and production workers at the two plants.

Piles Of Rubble

HAMBURG has been added to the destroyed cities of World war II. Its population has been terrorized and scattered. The German government, fearing a similar fate for Berlin, has ordered its evacuation. Aerial bombing of cities now has exceeded the expectations of all but the most enthusiastic champions of air power.

They are confirmed in their belief that more damage can be perpetrated in a few minutes of "saturation" bombing than was done in the sacking of Rome, Carthage, or Moscow by direct invasion. They are confirmed in their confidence of air power's ability to exact a heavier price for war than any nation can afford to pay.

The piles of rubble that represented great cities are mounting in number but the war is not over. There is no method yet known to ward off bombers, provided the power behind them is willing to pay the price. There is not even a known way of making the price exorbitant, despite British success against German bombers; Germany undoubtedly would be retaliating with mass raids on Britain today had not its fundamental strategy been altered by the stalemate in Russia.

And still the reduction of cities to rubble is hardly out of the experimental stage. More powerful planes and more destructive bombs must wait on the outcome of the war now in progress. The weapon so powerful that men will not dare to raise it in anger lest they destroy themselves is in sight.

No Easy Outs

MUSSOLINI'S disappearance has come and gone, and the Allies still are waging war in Italy. It has been a good lesson.

There will be no easy outs in this war, except accidental ones. A Mussolini, a Hitler and a Tojo can be toppled without positive effect.

What the people feel is less important than what their leaders do. Revolution against a government rarely is clean-cut and incisive; it is frequently a grinding process of trial and error.

Soldiers in the field, being at grips with war's realism all the time, are not likely to make the common civilian mistake of expecting more than the circumstances warrant. Gen. Eisenhower, Gen. Alexander and their staffs probably anticipated nothing but the prospect of a hard campaign in Sicily, developing into a hard campaign in southern Italy, with the Germans ultimately making a tremendous stand somewhere in the north of the peninsula.

They were not unmindful of the possibility that something might happen to make things better than they promised to be, but they did not depend on it. Their countrymen now are reconciled to a similar point of view. No easy cuts are to be expected—in Italy, in Germany, or in Japan.

August Sound Effect

ALL the time wasted in hunting for the simile to describe the sound of locusts pulsing in the sultry air of August could have been saved by greater familiarity with the war worker's alarm clock—the kind that substitutes a buzzer for a bell.

It is indistinguishable on an August afternoon from the whirring of the locusts in the trees outside the windows—the same rhythmic rise to the crescendo, the same dwindling into silence. But one would need to be listening to the clocks at exactly the right time to get the complete effect—the time when they are buzzing by the score.

Otherwise, the distinguished characteristic of August's chief sound effect would be lost. When the locusts are in tune, they never stop.

Their shrill buzzing is caught up endlessly by new performers as old ones tire and run down. Science says the relentless music is concerned somehow with mating, but humans understand it only as something that comes with August, like burned-out grass, goldenrod and tomatoes by the bushel.

So accustomed are they to the sound effect they forget it is there, but let it stop for a moment and the silence roars until it is overcome by another zz-zz-zz-zz-ZZ-ZZ-ZZ-zz-zz-zz! What would August be without it?

Mr. Landon Adds His Bit

IN a speech which fortunately didn't get much attention, Alfred M. Landon charged that the "American Fascists" mentioned by Vice President Wallace are all in the New Deal.

Mr. Landon now can join Mr. Wallace in the corner. Whatever an "American Fascist" may be, it there is such a thing, neither political party can claim a monopoly.

When Mr. Wallace introduced the phrase, he obviously was using a tar brush on the opposition; it was his contribution to the Roosevelt administration's smear word vocabulary. The vice president of the United States should be above such tactics. So should a former presidential candidate of the Republican party.

If Messrs. Wallace and Landon haven't anything better to do than call names as their contribution to the discussion of current problems, their cue for the duration should be silence.

By comparison with the people of other countries, Americans still live in luxury.—Rep. James W. Wadsworth of New York.

Order is the sanity of the mind, the health of the body, the peace of the city, the security of the state. —(Southey)

Finns At War

The People Are Tired Of Fighting But Won't Quit For Fear That Reds Will Move In As 'Liberators'

(John Colburn, after a trip to Finland, tells of living conditions in the war-ravaged country, and of the aspirations of the people.)

By JOHN H. COLBURN
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM — Finland's war-scarred men and resources, the shabbiness in dress that is stylish, empty shop windows and extremely rigid food rationing mirror the havoc caused by two years of warfare.

The current war is their second in four years and the people are tired of war, but it is a psychological weariness that comes from the inability to get good food or a real cup of coffee; from having to crowd into packed trolley cars, clump around in wood-soled shoes or wear clothing fabricated from paper textiles—apparel which becomes useless after several hard rains.

People still can laugh and have a good time, especially the younger generation, and morale is high despite the general desire for peace.

Everyone would like to get back the fine prosperous life which they led before 1939, but maintain they cannot until Finland's independence is assured.

Finns hobbling around on crutches are a grim reminder of the heavy price the little republic's manhood is paying.

Most of Helsinki's bomb scars are healed but much of the Karelian isthmus is devastated. Viipuri is still a city of naked walls.

Only 55 homes were rebuilt in Karkisalmi, where 800 were set afire as the Russians retreated two years ago.

THE Finns burned hundreds of their own farm houses during the winter of 1940 and many farm families are living in two-room temporary houses. Many of them prefabricated by soldiers during idle hours in the listless front lines.

Reconstruction work is slow due to limited manpower and lack of materials. Finland's small-scale pattern of the gigantic reconstruction job that faces Europe forecasts a troublesome problem after peace comes.

In some respects Finland is like an occupied country. Due to the Allied blockade she is economically dependent on Germany. It is a daily sight to see uniformed German soldiers, sailors and young girl members of the Nazi army auxiliary in the streets of Helsinki.

The German band even gives concerts in one summer restaurant. But where there was much heiling in the streets two years ago, there is little now, and the Nazi flag seldom is seen.

Despite the presence of the Germans, the people are beginning to talk of an Allied victory. That trend of thought since the fall of Tunisia and the invasion of Sicily has increased although the Finnish press still is prevented from saying anything detrimental about Germany.

Some sections of the Finnish press have gone so far as to try and disillusion the people about Axis victory chances and the German foreign office has protested.

WHEN asked why they do not withdraw from the war and let the Germans occupy the country, the Finns reply, in effect:

"We can't do that. Germany will lose the war and the Bolsheviks will march in as liberators as the Russians did in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania in 1940."

The Finns are as stubborn as they are tough and they are determined to battle for independence just as they have fought nature to cultivate farmlands out of the rock crust left by the ice age.

Two-thirds of the nation's 3,800,000 population are engaged in agriculture or forestry and most of them are spread around the country's lakes, swamps and forests in isolated communities, where they must depend on their own self reliance to combat the frigid winters to earn a livelihood.

No one is starving and food conditions are better than in 1918, but the average family must reply principally on potatoes, fish and dark bread except during the vegetable season. About 20,000 children have been sent to Sweden to get proper nourishment.

The food problem is complicated by bad harvests since 1938.

The employment situation, aided by the scarcity of consumer goods, is leaving the stores with little need for manpower. Many establishments not only boarded their windows to protect the glass from bomb splinters but because they had nothing to display. The people spend most of their extra money on amusement, with American motion pictures being popular.

Most of the people have lost weight, but health generally is good although tuberculosis is increasing and nervousness caused by air raids and alarms is resulting in more heart disease. Doctor O. S. K. Reinikainen, chief of the medical board, reported fewer epidemics than in other war years.

There has been an increase in crime.

Reinikainen said the care of invalids will be the biggest post-war medical problem. From the winter war there were 8,000 crippled men among the 57,000 wounded, the Red Cross reported. No official casualty figures will be released until after this war, but estimates place the dead at 50,000 and the wounded at 100,000.

During the winter war of 1939-40, 23,000 were killed and the Red Cross is busy caring for 7,000 war widows and 20,000 fatherless children.

Auto Toll Declines

WHATEVER may be the other effects of gasoline rationing and the ban on pleasure driving, these wartime restrictions on the use of automobiles have brought about a reduction of the motor vehicle accident toll in this country to the level of two decades ago, according to statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

During the first six months of 1943, the mortality from this cause among the company's policyholders was 11.6 per 100,000, approximately the rate which prevailed in the first half of 1922, and represents a drop of 37 percent from the first half of 1942.

While statisticians anticipate that the motor vehicle accident death rate will continue to improve during the last half of 1943, they do not look for any such startling drop for the year as a whole as was registered in the first six months.

Restrictions on automobile driving already had brought down the mortality from motor vehicle accidents to a relatively low level in the latter part of 1942, with the result that the difference in mortality in the two years undoubtedly will be less during the second six months of the year than in the first.

The statisticians predict that the automobile accident mortality for the full year will be approximately 13 per 100,000 policyholders, about the same rate as registered in the early 1920's.

Automobile drivers and passengers, rather than pedestrians, have been the principal beneficiaries.

While mortality due to collisions between automobiles decreased about 30 percent between 1942 and the year before, pedestrian deaths declined by only 15 percent.

Smaller reduction for pedestrians was due, in part, to carelessness in crossing streets and highways because of diminished traffic, and to inadequate lighting.

"It is gratifying that the number of deaths from automobile accidents has dropped materially at this time when manpower is so vitally needed," the statisticians comment.

"For many years those in the safety movement have been working toward a sizeable reduction in the death toll from this cause.

"In some measure their efforts have been fruitful — the death rate figured on a mileage basis has been lower in recent years than formerly.

"There also has been an appreciable drop in deaths from automobile accidents among children under 15 years of age.

"It is somewhat disappointing, however, that the recent sharp decline has been brought about mainly by diminished traffic and decreased mileage and not by safeguards to pedestrian and driver."

Dr. John R. Mohler, Who Helped Develop Livestock Industry, Now Has Retired

By OVID MARTIN

He is Dr. John R. Mohler, who was chief of the agriculture department's bureau of animal industry, an agency which stands guard over the health of the nation's multi-billion-dollar dairy, feed cattle, hog, sheep, and poultry industry to assure Americans a stable supply of disease-free meat, dairy and poultry products.

Dr. Mohler retired after serving 46 years in the bureau, of which 26 were spent as its chief.

A man of commanding personality, 68-year-old Dr. Mohler was able to obtain funds from congress for scientific research programs where secretaries of agriculture often failed. His clipped mustache and restrained goatee were distinguishing personal characteristics.

Perhaps his most outstanding achievement was the eradication of bovine tuberculosis, which threatened the milk supply several years ago. This country is also one of the few great nations of the world free of the terrible livestock scourge, foot and mouth disease.

Dr. Mohler sponsored the improvement of domestic animals by research in genetics and the application of scientific knowledge to practical stock breeding. Through his encouragement, the government obtained breeding stock from abroad. He sponsored also an effective nation-wide plan of poultry improvement, involving breeding and disease-control.

A lover of horses, he directed the improvement of Morgan horses at an agriculture department farm in Vermont. Many fine specimens, some of which have been used in army horse breeding, have resulted from this project.

In commenting on Dr. Mohler's retirement, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said he had "helped the department of agriculture perform a great service for the people of the United States—a service from which all of us have received many benefits."

Dr. Mohler was a native of Philadelphia. He entered government service as a veterinarian inspector shortly after finishing his college education in 1897.

'Right Down Uncle Sam's Alley'

ROSIE the Riveter, Wanda the Welder, Mack the Machinist and Larry the Lather get a break in another of the new booklets aimed at letting war workers know what they are doing to speed victory for our side. This one is about airplanes.

What goes on beneath the hood of an automobile is as mysterious to most drivers as the whereabouts of Mussolini, but an automobile engine is child's play compared to modern airplane engines.

However, "this is a condition destined in the near future to be revolutionized. After the war an airplane may be parked in everyone's garage, maybe two airplanes.

Also assist Rosie, Wanda and the average man up to the first rung in the ladder toward understanding what makes an airplane tick, General Motors Corp. has published "Airplane Power", with special reference to engines and altitudes.

Simplifying intricate aeronautical engineering problems in a faithful fashion, the booklet nonetheless is struggling with a subject which is beholden to anyone whose closest association with aircraft is the fence at an airport.

The publication touches only on the A, B, C's of airplane engines. The disinterested reader still may say, "It's all Greek to me."

Examples of this are: "The tip speed of an airplane propeller must be kept below the speed of sound . . . which incidentally accounts for the fact that a bullet does not need a streamlined tail!"

General Motors undoubtedly welcomes suggestions on efficiency from its employees but when it comes to the finer points of physics and airplane design, most employes who think they have a brand new idea probably find out they are about the umpteenth person to "originate" the unworkable principle.

The booklet should do much to forestall workers at General Motors asking foremen difficult questions.

THE booklet describes the propeller tip speed limitation thus: "When any object reaches the speed of sound — about 750 miles an hour — there is an enormous and sudden increase in drag. The air fails to follow the usual laws that govern its behavior.

"The pressure generated at the forward point cannot get out of the way and so must be carried bodily along by the power of the moving object.

"Furthermore, the air no longer will close in at the rear end of the object which incidentally accounts for the fact that a bullet does not need a streamlined tail!"

Half of the book is devoted to describing principles underlying the use of superchargers.

Following a discussion of airplane motors lacking enough air in their cylinders for proper combustion and power production, this description of the purpose of a supercharger is given:

"Next we come to the possibility of boosting the power by increasing the destiny of the air before it is supplied to the cylinders.

"In other words, if instead of using the outside air just as it is, we could compress it to a greater density, we then would be able to get more of it into the cylinders, thus providing greater power without increasing the size of the engine and without having to run it at undesirable speeds.

"This can be accomplished through the use of a blower mechanism or pressure fan connected with the fuel intake system. Such a mechanism is called a 'supercharger'."

THAT is simple enough, but from here on, the aeronautical engineers who supplied the information for the booklet pour it on.

Among reasons why the supercharger principle cannot be carried on to infinity until a plane is built which can fly to the sun are:

Compressing the air raises its temperature, which makes it difficult to handle and increases the work better on cool mixtures and when a mixture gets too hot disorderly combustion results which might seriously injure the engine; engines must be designed to withstand the higher stresses resulting from the extra power; energy expended in running the super-charger detracts from the total power produced by the engine; the bigger and supercharger the bigger and heavier the airplane must be. So it goes.

To these problems add those of designing airplanes for specific tasks, such as those built for trainers, carriers, observation, bombers and fighters, with necessary variations in the design of each to suit the altitude at which it will operate, the speed required and the load it will carry. Then you really have yourself a job.

The delicate balance between possible victory or defeat for a nation — for that matter the United Nations — is nicely put in a discussion of four hypothetical fighter planes. Word comes in that an enemy bomber is 90 miles away and heading for a city.

RATES of climb of the four planes to 25,000 feet are, respectively, 6, 8, 11 and 15 minutes. The first three would get to the bomber before it reached the city, but the two slower fighter planes would not have enough time to attack as the fastest one.

However, they might have more armor, more gasoline capacity and more guns and more ammunition with which to attack.

The fourth plane would have even more of these than the other three, but its chance of being able to engage the bomber in reaching 25,000 feet over the city virtually rules it out.

All the reader has to do is what United States and other Allied engineers and military authorities already have done so successfully—figure out which plane to put into quantity production.

The booklet contains this statement by Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, U. S. chief of service of supply: "When Hitler hitched his chariot to an internal combustion engine, he ran it right down Uncle Sam's alley."

"We're not depriving you, are we?"

Empty Promises

Either We Grant Servicemen Those Post-War Benefits At Once Or They Never Will Receive Them

By DAMON RUNYON

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT indorses in principle the campaign I have been carrying on in this column the last year for provision for men discharged from the service for a period of time that will enable them to readjust themselves to civilian life without immediate financial worries. He puts the idea in a slightly different form.

I do not think his form is as good as mine. I contend the men should continue to receive service pay for at least a year after their discharge. In his recent speech, President Roosevelt suggested that each member of the armed forces and the merchant marine should receive mustering-out pay on discharge large enough to cover a "reasonable period of time between his discharge and the finding of a new job." The "reasonable period" turned out to be three months.

In case no job is found after diligent search, then the servicemen is to get unemployment insurance if the individual registers with United States employment service, which sounds fine, though how anyone can determine what amount would be large enough to cover a reasonable period of time between a man's discharge and the finding of a new job is beyond me. I would hate to trust to the generosity of the government in that respect, taking it off past performance, or to the liberality of the United States employment service.

Moreover, President Roosevelt's remarks might be taken as meaning he thinks the men should be paid the full sum of the mustering-out pay in a lump. I think the American Legion with its experience in the payment of the bonus will bear me out in my opinion that it will be better for the men themselves if the payments are scattered rather than to plunk down the money alloted each man in a job at a time when many veterans are likely to be lacking in financial judgment.

BUT in any event, there is a bug in the bucket. President Roosevelt states the things to which he says he thinks the men are entitled. He says he thinks the men are entitled. He says they must not be demobilized into an environment of inflation and unemployment, to a place on a bread line or on a corner selling apples. He says we must have plans ready, instead of waiting to do a hasty, inefficient and ill-considered job at the last moment, which is the same thing I have been saying for a year.

So have many others. Yet no plans are really ready. President Roosevelt hopes congress will help in carrying out his assurance to the men in the armed forces that the American people will not let them down when the war is won, which is, as he says, obviously the executive branch of the government cannot do it alone. But congress, with several bills before it that would make definite the pay continuance and otherwise give confidence to the servicemen of their future, has done little or nothing to confirm that assurance which was first made some time back.

Thus, it all simmers down to promises, the same old promises that have been held out to the men in all our wars. Even most of the other things which President Roosevelt says he thinks the men are entitled to are things that should have been made definite long ago.

"May the congress do its duty in this regard," says President Roosevelt. "The American people will insist on fulfilling this American obligation to the men and women in the armed forces who are winning this war for us."

I FERVENTLY echo this hope, but I cannot wax too optimistic about his faith in the attitude of the American people with respect to the men and women in the armed forces if we are to judge by how we have helped to get something done for the boys—and girls. The American people (again going to past performance) will insist only on their right to squawk about any proposals for the benefit of the veterans that will involve an additional penny of expense.

All the obligations to the veterans the people will recognize, you can put in your eye, as the saying is. You can ask the veterans of the First World war about this, if you wish. Ask them how many of the American people stepped up to them after the war and said: "I am under obligation to you and am working tooth and nail for you to get your bonus."

Remember what I tell you. If we wait until the war is over without getting definite legislation providing for the veterans, the only time you ever will hear of those promises again will be in the platforms of the two parties every four years for the next 20 years.

Pictures Do Lie

By Truman Twill

WE still want to know where they get the fakes whose pictures appear in the advertisements to help make us want to buy stuff.

This morning when we slumped into a kitchen chair which had jelly spilled on it and dug despondently into a bowl of pallid material to see whether it tasted as bad as the lukewarm coffee that had been left standing too long, we thought about the breakfast food fellow. He's the one who romps down to breakfast bright-eyed and bushy-tailed, loads up on crisp, whizzy vitamins that are all crunchy and tasty, then gallops down to the war plant or the office or wherever he's going—and gets another raise.

Where do they find that guy? Where do they find his simpering wife who's always grinning like a doorknob as she's eating breakfast—and where do they find all those unbearable kids who scream for a second bowl of Seedies?

Another thing we'd like is the lowdown on the frauds who model glasses—no, not drinking glasses. The contraptions you balance on your beak, with things you hook over your ears—four-eyed glasses. Millions of people wear 'em. They're 'em twisted and battered and stuck together with chewing gum and quick-drying cement, wrapped with thread to make them bearable, smeared with flecks of potatoes and fly specks, lopsided, cracked, mutilated and bent.

They fly scorn their fate, and girls walk in blindness for the first 20 years, and then they land the biggest man, before they admit they need glasses, too. But to look at the pictures you'd think everybody looked handsome in the monstrosities.

Not to be nasty or anything, but something else we'd like to find out is where the soap people find the housewives who whisk through a washing with no trouble at all, get the thing dried, sprinkled, ironed and put away and rush to the photographer's studio while the dew is still on the roses to grimace at their loving public with those great big, gleaming white teeth while they announce in words of one syllable "It is fun to wash the bloop way."

Years of investigation on wash day never have disclosed any babes in laundries. When they wash, they all look like wash women.

There are more, but for the present we will settle for these and for the fellow who sits down at the table in the living room with his pipe in his teeth and his gorgeous family clustered 'round him to think seriously about his life insurance while the lights are low.

In real life a fellow thinking about his life insurance is on the flat of his back in a corner with an agent choking off his wind supply. That's when the fellow's wife is out of the room and his kids kick him in the short ribs to make the stubborn old goat sneeze up more dough to grease their future when they push him in front of a truck.

A Quick Glance At The World's News:

From Washington—

'Functioning Efficiently'

Secretary Hull asserted Wednesday the state department is "functioning efficiently".

That was part of his response to a request for comment on a published assertion that "conflicting personalities, lack of a cohesive policy and a resulting impairment of the efficiency of the department of state at a time when it must assume tremendous burdens relating to the effectiveness of the coming peace have been reported by administrative experts to the executive office of the President." (This appeared in the New York Times, in a special dispatch from Washington.)

Hull told his press conference: "I have no comment to make except that I might say that, having been in the department for some 10 years and more and charged with all the responsibility of its administration, I think I know something about what is going on in the department.

"It is functioning efficiently and I am prepared at any time to give the fullest accounting to any person or agency. That is all I have in mind at the moment."

The published account said "rivalry between Secretary Hull and Undersecretary Sumner Welles is common knowledge" here and that "great concern is felt in Washington over the ability of the state department, in its present organizational condition, to fulfill the added tasks imposed by the President."

Rail Strike Ballot Held Up

Officers of 15 railway labor unions approved a strike ballot Wednesday but agreed not to issue it pending further conferences with railroad officials, starting Friday.

A strike vote might result in government seizure and operation of the roads for the duration. Railroad officials, anxious to avert this, were reported willing to discuss an agreement to be submitted jointly with the unions for government approval.

The unions represent more than 1,000,000 non-operating employes. An emergency board which heard their demands for an increase of 20 cents an hour and a minimum wage of 70 cents an hour recommended an increase of 8 cents. Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson set aside the recommendation.

Wire Closing Probe Ordered

The federal communications commission Wednesday ordered an investigation into the recent closing of Postal Telegraph offices in connection with the firm's proposed merger with Western Union.

The action followed a complaint filed June 26 by the American Communications association that such closures are causing "discontinuances, reductions and impairment" of telegraph service.

Both Postal and Western Union officials testified at recent hearings that the closings have not resulted in any impairment of service.

A. P. Writer Honored

John A. Moroso III, Associated Press correspondent with the Atlantic fleet, won a commendation Wednesday for his "courage, fortitude and resolution of purpose" during the Allied invasion of Sicily the morning of July 10.

The commendation came from the commanding officer of the American transport to which Moroso was assigned. The officer recommended that Moroso be given the silver star medal or some other suitable award for his courageous participation in a combat action.

Package Restrictions Relaxed

Restrictions on the size and weight of packages that may be delivered by eastern states retailers have been relaxed by the office of defense transportation to permit delivery of merchandise ordered by mail or telephone without regard to size or weight.

Retailers also may deliver gifts and make deliveries to return or replace property delivered in error without regard to the size and weight limitations.

Around The Nation—

Correspondent Operated On

NEW YORK — George Tucker, Associated Press war correspondent injured in a plane crash in Algiers May 16, was operated on successfully for a bloodclot on his brain Wednesday in a New York hospital.

Tucker, former Broadway columnist who had been on war duty in the Middle East, returned to this country Tuesday by plane under the care of Capt. James J. Ryan, chief of the neurological division of the United States army base hospital at Cairo.

He was injured while returning from the Tunisian war front where he had been on duty with the British motor torpedo boat flotillas which were making forays into Tunis harbor just before the city's fall.

Tucker was a passenger in an army transport which had landed on the Maison Blanche airport at Algiers when another plane which was carrying Col. Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son, taxied in and collided with the transport.

No one in Col. Roosevelt's plane was injured, but Tucker was thrown against the side of the transport and suffered a brain concussion.

Tojo Asks More Planes

NEW YORK — Premier Hideki Tojo of Japan, addressing workers at the Mitsuishi aircraft factory at Nagoya, called for "a far better achievement," qualitatively and quantitatively, in the production of Japanese aircraft, a Tokyo broadcast said Wednesday.

WAC's Ask Discharge

FORT CUSTER, Mich.—Twenty-one percent of the WAC membership in three companies here has requested discharge in preference to re-enlisting for regular army service, Lieut. A. T. Etcheson, public relations officer, has announced.

Etcheson said a survey conducted to determine reasons for their failure to re-enlist as regular army personnel under new war department regulations showed many of the young women are wives of soldiers who originally expected to be sent overseas but who still are in the United States.

As a result, he explained, many of them applied for discharges so they could join their husbands. Others said that they are needed at home, where illness has stricken a working member of the family.

Around Ohio—

Will Scan Replacement Schedules

COLUMBUS—Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, said Wednesday that replacement schedules, under which employers in essential industry classifications agreed to release a six-month period 70 to 75 percent of their draft-eligible men, will be considered when the induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers begins this fall.

Capt. Lester J. Burbidge, in charge of replacement schedules at state selective service headquarters, indicated fathers in plants which cooperated in the plan "early" might not be called before early next year.

Maternity Plan Parley Due

COLUMBUS — Dr. C. C. Sherburne of Columbus, president of the Ohio State Medical association, announced Wednesday the organization's council will meet "quite soon" with Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, to discuss developments on a federal offer to provide free maternity care for wives of enlisted servicemen.

The health department recently rejected the government's offer after the council objected to its adoption on the ground it might lead towards socialized medicine. The federal plan would pay the cost of maternity care for wives of men below the rank of army sergeant and navy men of comparable rank.

Dr. Sherburne in a letter to Dr. Markwith said, "I am not in a position to predict what action the council will take but I am confident that it will make every possible effort to clarify the misunderstandings which have arisen and to work out ways of assisting servicemen's families in meeting their medical problems."

Chicken Production Boosted

COLUMBUS—Ohio farms produced approximately 38,631,000 chickens this year, an increase of 14 percent over the number produced in the spring of 1942, the federal-state crop reporting service announced Wednesday.

The state ranks eighth among the states in the number of young chickens produced in 1943, the service said.

It also reported prices received by farmers for agricultural products are higher generally than a year earlier. Hog prices, however, are 60 cents per hundredweight below July, 1942, prices.

The items showing the greatest price gains within the year are wheat, oats, barley, rye, apples, hay, chickens, butter, butterfat and milk.

From Abroad—

Calls Nazi Balkan Hold Slim

CAIRO—Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, British commander-in-chief of the Middle East, expressed doubt Wednesday that the Germans could hold the Balkans with their present forces in the event of an Italian collapse, but was of the opinion that they will try as long as possible.

In answer to a question about speedy occupation of the Balkans, Wilson, who was commander of unsuccessful British forces in Greece in 1941, cautioned:

"We can't use a magic carpet to get there."

Changed conditions will require a vast reorganization in the Middle East, he explained, saying the main role of the Middle East at the present stage of the war is to supply the North African striking forces.

"As long as Gen. Eisenhower wants our resources they are at his disposal," the general said. "We have a certain number of forces which can be used for occupation purposes."

U. S. Triples Bomb Load

CAIRO—Ninth air force headquarters announced Wednesday that American bombers operating from the Middle East nearly tripled their bomb load delivery on Axis targets during July over the previous month.

The July total was 9,894,322 pounds against 3,694,640 in June. During the last nine months, more than 30,000,000 pounds of explosives have been hurled at the enemy by the Ninth air force.

Nazi Aluminum Plant Razed

LONDON—An official Norwegian spokesman said Wednesday information has been received that the American daylight raid on Heroya, Norway, July 24, wiped out the new Nazi aluminum factory there and destroyed other factory areas, a power station and two anti-aircraft batteries.

He said the director of the aluminum factory, which was the main target of the Flying Fortress attack, had reported its destruction was so complete it cannot be rebuilt during the war. Forty-two persons were reported killed and 100 injured.

ONLY ONE. Only American baby in Chungking is 4-month-old Cyrus Duncan Stewart, above, who also holds the distinction of being the first American infant born in Free China since outbreak of the Pacific war. His father, James L. Stewart, is acting chief of the China division of the U. S. office of war information.

Field Marshal's Son Promoted

Gen. Edward von Mackensen, youngest son of 93-year-old Field Marshal von Mackensen of First World war fame, has been promoted to colonel general in the German army, the Berlin radio announced Wednesday in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

Eberhard von Mackensen has been an army group commander since 1939. His eldest brother, Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen, is German ambassador to Italy.

Dehydrators Being Made

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — Electrically-heated and thermostatically-controlled home dehydrators expected to sell at $39.95 each are expected to be rolling in quantity off production lines in a few days, an electrical manufacturing company here has announced. The units are made of non-strategic materials and have been "in the works" for many months. Each unit can dehydrate two-thirds of a bushel of fruit or root vegetables at a time or a full bushel of greens. About 100,000 are expected to be manufactured.

without shame the thought of coming peace."

There was little news of disturbances in Italy early today, but reports from frontier towns said that half-hour strikes are continuing in Milan and in factories in other industrial cities in northern Italy as a protest against the government's insistence that the war must be continued.

Reported from Rome today was establishment of a commission to investigate the riches that Fascist officeholders were reported to have acquired between Oct. 22, 1922, and July 14, 1943, during the reign of Fascism. Fortunes irregularly obtained, it was said, will be confiscated by the state.

King Refused To Put Mussolini In Hitler's Hands

By The Associated Press.

MADRID, Aug. 5—King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy politely but firmly turned down a request by Adolf Hitler that Benito Mussolini be handed over to the Germans for safekeeping following his fall from power, it was reported here today.

The king's refusal was given to Reichmarshal Hermann Goering, who was sent to Rome by Hitler last week to find why Mussolini was deposed, travelers from the Italian capital said.

Goering was reported to have told the king that Hitler fears Mussolini's life is in danger as long as he remains in Italy.

ONLY MILITARY SITES BATTERED IN CATANIA

By The Associated Press.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 5—Precision bombing smashed military targets inside Catania, but left the city itself virtually unscathed, an R.A.F. pilot reported today as British troops entered the vital objective.

All hangars were damaged at the airdrome and one administration building had received a direct hit from a heavy bomb. Some attempt at repairs had been started, then nullified when bombs blew holes in repaired sections.

The railway switching yards are pitted with craters from heavy bombs and two large sheds were gutted.

Some of the new port facilities which will be valuable for Allied shipping almost are untouched by high explosives.

ACTION DUE SOON ON RATIONED GAS

Ban On Pleasure Driving In East Believed Near End

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said Wednesday eastern motorists can look forward to action next week on the pleasure driving ban but refused to say flatly that it will be lifted.

It nevertheless is anticipated that the promised action will be an announcement that the prohibition will be removed in the reasonably near future inasmuch as both Brown and his new chief-assistant, Chester Bowles, are opposed to that regulation.

Indications are that the step will be accompanied by an equalization of gasoline rationing between the eastern shortage area and the rest of the nation except the far west.

Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes has said several times that equaliztaion is in the offing.

Under existing regulations, eastern "A" card holders receive an average of only one and a half gallons of gasoline a week, while the "A" coupon is good for four gallons weekly in the remainder of the country.

Ickes and top members of his staff went to Chicago today for a session with a group of congressmen on the question of whether the midwest and southwest should have less gasoline.

One member of an unofficial midwest congressional rationing committee from each of 32 mid-continent states was summoned for the meeting by the chairman, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R.) of Ohio.

Ickes notified the committee last week that changes in gasoline rationing are in prospect.

Gasoline rationing procedure rapidly "is becoming a complete farce," the Oil and Gas Journal said today at Tulsa, Okla.

"The solution to this problem lies in adoption of an equitable rationing program and then enforcing it."

The Marine is Gerald R. Ashdown, son of Mrs. Louise M. Ashdown of 42 Liberty st., East Palestine, whose name was included on the latest navy casualty list.

This brings to 27,875 the total of navy, marine corps and coast guard casualties reported to next of kin since Dec. 7, 1941. The grand total includes 8,857 dead, 4,889 wounded, 9,970 missing and 4,159 prisoners of war.

William B. Scott Dies In Crash Of Bomber

William "Bill" Scott, 26, son of Will J. Scott, who was industrial secretary of the East Liverpool Y. M. C. A. between 1922 and 1925, was killed in a bomber crash July 30 in Arizona, friends of the former "Y" executive were notified here today.

Mr. Scott, who left here in 1925 for Hamilton, and who also was on the "Y" staffs at Chicago and Ft. Wayne, now is associated with the New York "Y" war services.

In a letter written to friends here, Mr. Scott relayed news of his son's death which came only two weeks after the flier had been home on leave after serving in the Caribbean area and in Peru.

The crash occurred 30 miles from the training field at Tucson, Ariz., where the former East Liverpool youth had been stationed only nine days as an instructor.

The entire crew of the B-24 bomber was killed in the crash, according to the letter from Mr. Scott, who resides at 3900 Greystone ave., New York city.

In addition to his father, the flier is survived by his mother, who is critically ill in a New York hospital; one sister, Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, whose husband is an air force navigator at Alamagorda, N. M., and his wife, Mrs. Phyllis Scott of Ft. Wayne.

CONTINUING DROP DUE FOR CONSUMER GOODS

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Cautioning civilians to expect a "continuing drop" in consumer goods and services during the war, the office of civilian requirements today handed the war production board a tentative program for production of what it regards as enough necessities to keep the civilian economy functioning adequately.

Arthur D. Whiteside, OCR director and vice chairman of WPB, did not make public the kind and quantities of goods to be manufactured.

District Heeds Pleas To Give Recreational Help To Army Camps

Response to the East Liverpool Red Cross appeal for recreation facilities and supplies for Shenango replacement center and the Deshon Military hospital has been generous, Red Cross officials said today.

The camp is near Sharpsville, Pa. and the hospital is near Butler.

After 44 representatives of civic, fraternal and social organizations met Tuesday night and heard of the serious need for recreation rooms for the soldiers, voluntary donations are being made in a steady stream by phone call and car to the Red Cross headquarters in the Mary Patterson memorial.

Collected thus far in the "attic hunting" program have been card tables, playing cards, baseball uniforms with bats and balls, several easy chairs, record players, magazine subscriptions and radios.

"We hope this will be only the beginning of a real avalanche of goods for outfitting day-rooms and bare-looking recreation rooms at the camp," Miss Ethel M. Pierce, Red Cross executive secretary, said.

Persons interested in helping the newly-organized camp-and-hospital council need not belong to any group or club, officials stressed, but may call the Red Cross office or Standley T. Hilbert, chairman of the transportation committee, to have their donations collected and taken to the "Shenango storeroom" on the Diamond.

Officials said they hope to designate two days weekly as "pick-up" days, during which the transportation committee can make all calls at once. These will be announced as soon as arrangements are completed.

RUSSIA

tion of 91,000, had been fortified extensively with the hedge-hog system of defense since it was occupied by the German army Oct. 8, 1941.

Will Re-Open Rail Lines

It is the hinge and key defense position of the long south-central German line extending to the Sea of Azov and its recapture will reopen vital railway lines linking the Ukraine with Moscow.

(The Berlin radio's announcement did not state the extent of the German withdrawal, but the next position of importance is Bryansk, 80 miles to the west.

The Germans have only one remaining rail link between Orel nad Bryansk and the Russian column advancing from the north already has been reported within five miles of that line, holding it well within artillery range.)

The Russians also reported new successes at Belgorod, 165 miles south of Orel, where they said they smashed ahead for gains up to six miles and improved their positions..

(In London, it generally is believed Orel's fall will have an immediate and far-reaching effect on German morale, which already has suffered this summer from Allied victories in Sicily, the Italian crisis and intensified Allied aerial attacks on German industrial cities.)

WAR PARLEY

vasion army may have but to smash the outer walls of the continental defenses in order to have the whole thing collapse. The high command, it seems, must decide whether air can do the job.

Such questions ordinarily are reserved for decision by the President and prime minister and their chiefs-of-staff for land, sea and air.

Never before in the war have the Anglo-American and their Allied associates been compelled to deal with events so climactic or fast-moving.

Churchill himself posed the question of using air power to crush Germany when he addressed the congress May 19. He reported then that opinion was divided "as to whether air power by itself could bring about the collapse in Germany or Italy." he added:

"The experiment is well worth trying so long as other measures are not excluded."

The experiment has been underway several weeks. Other measures have not been lacking. On the eastern front the Russians countered Germany's major attempt at an offensive with a drive which has resulted in the fall of Orel.

Military authorities say the German army still is powerful and well equipped, but the fall of Orel definitely weakens its hold on the eastern front.

Likewise in Sicily the fall of Catania may be regarded as the beginning of the end of enemy resistance to the first Allied invasion thrust into the immediate area of Europe.

CATANIA

Catania represented the hardest and bloodiest victory of the entire campaign.

Catania dominates the Catania plain where some of the bitterest fighting of the Sicilian campaign has been ragng as the Eighth army hammered against strong mine fields and artillery and tank defenses of crack German troops.

The text of the special communique:

The city of Catania has been in our hands since 8:30 a. m. this morning.

"It is the British Eighth army which has entered the town."

Official reports said Montgomery's triumph at Catania, as brilliant as any he achieved in Africa, was made at a relatively slight cost of his soldiers' lives.

Catania can be converted rapidly to Allied use. The big port once accomodated 2,000 ships a year and liners of 50-foot draft entered there.

An official report said relations between German and Italian troops are worsening. One Italian captured in Catania said he had been a sapper but was forced into the infantry for the final defense of the city during which "I killed more Germans than I killed Englishmen."

78,000 WAR WORKERS IN STATE FACE DRAFT

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 5—Col. C. W. Goble, state director of selective service, said today 78,000 war workers in 800 Ohio plants are subject to the draft and that about 70.7 percent of the eligibles will be called within six months.

Goble explained selective service headquarters keeps records on draft status of workers at plants participating in the replacement schedule program.

Under this arrangement, he said, selective service informs employers in advance that an employe is to be called for army service and allows the employer time to train replacements.

In contrast, plants not participatign in the program often receive no advance notice of their employes' imminent induction, Goble said.

The most famous western ocean packet of the early 1800s, the 1,413-ton "Dreadnaught", held the record of 13 days, 8 hours, between New York and Liverpool. Her skipper, Capt. Samuel Samuels, never once "lay to" in a storm.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Frank McC Ferren

Frank McC Ferren, 71, retired saggermaker died Wednesday noon at his home at 955 Monaca st. following a long illness.

He was born in Smith Ferry, son of Samuel and Nancy Dillon Ferren. Mr. Ferren came to East Liverpool in 1888. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist church and the Men's Bible class. Mr. Ferren was affiliated with the Saggermakers' union. He retired 20 years ago.

His survivors include two sisters, Miss Jennie Ferren at home and Mrs. Cynthia Wilson of East Liverpool, and several nieces and nephews.

Rites will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. from the Kelly funeral home by Rev. W. E. Speaker, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue church. Interment will be in Longs Run cemetery.

Friends may call tonight and Friday night at the funeral home.

Dale S. Mercer

Dale S. Mercer, 26, auto mechanic, died Wednesday at 6 p. m. at his home at 1602 Globe st., following a long illness.

He was born in East Liverpool, and was a life time resident. He was employed by the A. B. Patsch garage of Midland as a stockroom man and a mechanic. Mr. Mercer was a member of the Presbyterian church.

His survivors include his wife, Mrs. Aldah Barnes Mercer; an infant son, Dale Jr., and a brother, Pvt. Paul Mercer stationed in Panama.

Rites will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. at the late residence by Rev. Wilson M. Stitt, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Interment will be in Sharon cemetery in Carnet, Pa.

Friends may call Friday night between 7 and 9 at the late home.

Earl T. Clark

Earl Thomas Clark, sign painter in East Liverpool for many years until he moved to Youngstown a year ago, died in the South Side unit of Youngstown City hospital Wednesday at 1 p. m. after an illness. He was 61.

Although he was born in Morristown, O., he spent virtually his lifetime here. He was employed as a sign painter in Youngstown, where he resided at 21 Chalmers st.

He is survived by a brother, Otto N. Clark of East Liverpool.

Services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the Martin funeral home by Rev. D. Park Chapman of the First Church of Christ. Interment will be in Riverview cemetery.

Miss Lola L. Love

Miss Lola L. Love, 76, lifelong resident of Wellsville, died early this morning at the home of Mrs. Charles Cain of Maple ave., where she resided for several years.

Miss Love was born in Wellsville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James W. Love. She was a member of the Second Presbyterian church.

The body was removed to the MacLean funeral home, where services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. by Rev. E. C. Irwin, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Interment will be in Spring Hill cemetery.

Friends may call Friday night at the funeral home.

Mrs. Harriet J. Gillespie

Mrs. Harriet Jane Gillespie, former resident of Wellsville, died this morning at the Glenmoor nursing home, where she was a patient for several months.

Mrs. Gillespie was born in Wayne township, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Forbes. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church. She spent her entire lifetime in Wellsville and in Columbiana county.

Her survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Harry Freshwater of Toronto; a son, Clarence Gillespie of East Liverpool; five sisters, Mrs. L. E. Conner of East Liverpool, Mrs. John McCord, Mrs. Mary Robinson and Mrs. Frank Huston of Lisbon, and Mrs. Anna Robinson of Cleveland; two brothers, Howard Forbes of Lisbon and Norval Forbes of Canton, and four grandchildren.

The body was removed to the MacLean funeral home. Arrangements will be announced later.

William Hawk

Interment was made this afternoon in Spring Hill cemetery for William Hawk, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hawk of 1615 Riverside ave., Wellsville, who died Wednesday night at the home.

PALESTINE HAS 3 CONTESTS IN G.O.P. PRIMARY

Only Republicans Interested Tuesday As Democrats Lack Candidates

EAST PALESTINE, Aug. 5 — This community's primary next Tuesday will be strictly a "family affair" for Republicans, as Democrats did not enter any candidates.

The G. O. P. partisans will decide three contests, with five seeking nominations for the three councilmen-at-large posts, while two each ask the nominations for Second and Third ward offices.

Incumbents Listed

The councilmen-at-large incumbents are Warren Ashbaugh, William Wile and Russell Biggins, while the opponents' are E. C. Leake, John MacIntosh and Howard Patton.

Mr. Ashbaugh is seeking his second term. He is employed in the editorial office of the Vindicator at Youngstown and serves as the paper's East Palestine correspondent. He is married and has one son.

Mr. Wile, also seeking his second term, is a pottery worker and an official in local 31 of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters. He is single and a veteran of the First World war.

Mr. Patton was named to fill a First ward council vacany recently when Albert Forney resigned to accept a board of elections post. He was a contestant in the last election for the same position. Mr. Patton is a foreman at the W. S. George Pottery Co., is married and has a son in military service.

Candidate Is Councilman

Mr. Leake, who is serving his third term as Second ward councilman, is a potter. He is married, has a son in the armed forces, and another son and daughter at home.

Mr. MacIntosh, former Third ward councilman, is a potter and plumber. He is married, has a son in the service and two daughters at home.

In the contest for Second ward councilmen, two men are seeking the post now held by Mr. Leake. They are Mr. Biggins and James Taylor.

Mr. Biggins, former president of the Eagles lodge, is employed at the W. S. George Pottery Co. He was named to fill the unexpired term as councilman-at-large of Chester Whitehouse, who is in military service. The candidate is single. This is the first time his name has appeared on a ballot.

His opponent, Mr. Taylor, is a carpenter and the primary marks his entrance into politics. He is married.

Asks For Third Term

James Vocature, incumbent, and Roy Van Fossan are candidates for the Third ward council post. Mr. Vocature is seeking his third term. He is a welder at the Adamson Tank Co., and is married.

Mr. Van Fossan is a newcomer. He is employed at the W. S. George Pottery Co. and is married.

Mr. Gaiser, who is entering politics for the first time, is a machinist. He is married.

460 CRUCIBLE HOUSES AT MIDLAND ARE SOLD

Special To The Review.

MIDLAND, Aug. 5—Sale of 460 dwellings owned by a subsidiary of the Crucible Steel Company of America to the Beaver Valley Land Companies has been announced.

C. C. McKallip and Co., Pittsburgh realtors, yesterday reported the sale of the units, including substantially all the housing properties of the Midland Improvement Co. in Midland.

The improvement company is a subsidiary of Crucible. The buyers of the property, the Beaver Valley Land Companies, was represented in the transaction by the Sache Real Estate Co. of Pittsburgh.

The properties include 136 single homes; 132 double houses, eight blocks of six houses each and a number of other buildings and 76 vacant lots.

MARRIAGE VOWS WERE EXCHANGED before an altar decorated with palms, ferns, white gladioli and lighted tapers Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Second Presbyterian church of Wellsville by Miss Frances Mae Givens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Givens of 601 17th st., Wellsville, and Petty Officer Second Class Harry S. Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Goodman of 1648 Globe st., East End.

Rev. E. C. Irwin performed the ring service in the presence of friends and relatives.

An organ prelude was given by Mrs. E. R. Baughman and included, "Dreams", "To a Wild Rose," and "Venetian Love Song," She used the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengren" for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a wedding gown of white slipper satin trimmed with a chiffon yolk with seed pearls. The skirt had a short train. Her veil of illusion was trimmed with Irish lace and was draped from a halo of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book from which was festooned white orchids and white satin streamers.

Miss Margaret Givens, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of rose taffeta bodice with buffant skirt of chiffon. A shoulder veil of rose fell from a rose taffeta head bandeaux, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and baby breath.

Mr. Charles E. Goodman served as his brother's best man.

Both mothers were attired in navy blue with navy and white accessories and both wore shoulder corsages of gardenias and red rosebuds.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Tice and Mrs. James Boram of Bellevue, Pa.

Mrs. Goodman is a supervisor with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in East Liverpool and will reside with her parents for the duration. The bridegroom is in the insurance corps at Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va. Previous to his enlistment, he was employed in the office of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co. in Midland.

A double ring ceremony united in marriage Miss Janet K. McConachie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McConachie of 757 Armstrong lane, and Mr. Robert J. McNicol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McNicol of 249 Moore st., Saturday night in the rectory of St. Aloysius Catholic church. Rev. Fr. Francis J. Lavery officiated.

Mrs. Martha J. Swoger as matron of honor wore brown crepe with a corage of yellow tea roses. Mr. John J. Stoffel served as Mr. McNichol's best man.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of East Liverpool High school. The bride is employed with the Ohio Power Co. and the bridegroom is associated with Bergner's service station.

A reception for 50 guests followed the ceremony and was held in the newly-furnished apartment of the couple at 911 Dresden ave.

U.S. DEFIES SUIT IN COAL SEIZURE

Ickes Declares Government Might Charge Operators

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—An undercurrent of talk about possible damage suits against the government for seizing the coal mines during the recent strikes brought from Interior Secretary Ickes today a warning the government might charge the operators for running the mines.

Representatives of the coal industry have demanded return of the mines to the owners and Ickes, the mine boss in his capacity as solid fuels administrator, has withheld a reply.

He made it clear, however, in laying down terms for return of the mines on an "if and when" basis, that in any case where the government is subject to a damage claim:

"It expressly reserves the right to assert by way of offset to any such claimed liability, benefits resulting to the mining company from government possession and control."

The interior secretary thinks the owners should regard government control of the mines as a benefit. He contends government seizure kept the mines going and making money whereas they would have lain idle and profitless.

It is not clear how he would measure the extent of the "benefits" or how long a period of time he would claim they ran.

He has held the mines for more than three months—through three strikes by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers — and Lewis has threatened to strike again if the mines are turned back to the owners before Oct. 31.

Meanwhile, Ickes is awaiting an opinion from Atty. Gen. Biddle as to when he must return the properties under terms of the new anti-strike law.

NEW PROGRAM DRAWN TO AID RETURNING MEN

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Republican congressmen dissatisfied with President Roosevelt's plans for the economic rehabilitation of returning soldiers are considering legislation under which war veterans would be absorbed by private business.

Their plans are in a nebulous stage but out of conference now going on with some of the nation's business leaders they said they expect something concrete to develop by the time congress reconvenes in September.

Rep. James C. Auchincloss of New Jersey, First World war veteran who is spearheading the movement among freshmen members of congress, said the returning warriors will not want "a dole or a handout."

"What they want and what they deserve is security for themselves and their families," he said.

SMITH & PHILLIPS ANNUAL
August Furniture Event?

During the past years we have conducted, each summer, an August furniture sale. There will BE NO AUGUST SALE at SMITH & PHILLIPS THIS SUMMER.

Our government, striving to conserve diminishing stocks of merchandise; endeavoring to check rising prices and to prevent further inflation, is urging civilians to confine their purchases to ACTUAL NECESSITIES. We are desirous of supporting any action designed to aid the war effort.

We believe that by conserving the stocks we now possess—by exercising prudence in their distribution—we will be able to supply the ACTUAL homefurnishings NEEDS of ALL of our customers throughout the duration. It is our intent to REMAIN in business all through this trying war period and to CONTINUE in business for long thereafter.

However Smith and Phillips can still supply your every furniture need.

Try to make the homefurnishings you now have last.

In the meantime, buy all the WAR BONDS you CAN. These gilt-edge, interest-bearing securities will continue to increase in value until date of maturity and will provide a tidy nest egg that will enable you to purchase that modern kitchen or the new living room or dining room and the many other items which you will want when its over.

Five Pitchers Likely To Win 20 This Year

10 Others Have Good Chance To Extend Streaks; Most Of Them Are In National League; Sewell Leads

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major leagues may be able to boast of 10 or more 20-game winning pitchers this year compared to only four in 1942.

Where only Mort Cooper, Johnny Beazley, Ernie Bonham and Tex Hughson were able to make the grade a year ago, five twirlers already seem certain of reaching the coveted 20-game goal with 10 others having better than an even chance.

Topped by the veteran 35-year-old Rip Sewell of the Pittsburgh Pirates, the National league claims four of the five twirlers virtually certain of winning 20 games. Sewell has won 17 and lost two. Cooper, Cardinal ace, has a record of 15-6. Elmer Riddle of Cincinnati, with 14-5, and Hi Bithorn, of the Cubs, with 13-8, round out the senior loop quartet.

Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees is the only American league pitcher within whistling distance of the charmed circle. He has won 13 and lost three.

Bonham, who won 21 for the Yankees last year, and Hughson, who was credited with 22 for the Boston Red Sox in 1942, each have a chance to repeat. Big Ernie has won 10 and lost five for the Yanks; Hughson has chalked up 11 wins against seven setbacks.

In the "maybe" class may be placed Ray Starr of Cincinnati, 10-8; Claude Passeau of the Cubs, 10-7; Oscar Judd of the Red Sox, 10-6; Alex Carrasquel and Early Wynn of Washington, 10-5 and 11-7, respectively; Jim Bagby and Al Smith of Cleveland, 11-10 and 10-3, respectively; Dizzy Trout of Detroit, 10-9; and Orval Grove of the White Sox, 10-1.

Al Javery of the Boston Braves, Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds, Virgil Trucks of Detroit and Buck Newsom of the Browns have "outside" chances of hitting the 20-game mark. Each has won nine times.

Pittsburgh came up with four runs in the seventh inning to beat the Phillies, 6 to 2, in the only game played in both leagues yesterday.

The victory tightened the Pirates' grip on second place.

INDIANAPOLIS DROPS NINTH STRAIGHT TILT

By The Associated Press.

The Indianapolis Indians, league leaders through most of the first half of the season, are giving American Association fans something else to think about these days—a terrific slump that has cost nine straight games.

A week ago last Tuesday the Indians were a game and a half out of first place. Today they were within a game and a half of toppling into fourth place.

Last night's 3-to-1 defeat was by fourth place Minneapolis.

League-leading Milwaukee was carried extra innings in both games of a double header with Toledo before gaining an even split. Toledo won the opener, scheduled for seven inings, in the ninth, 3-2. Milwaukee rallied to win the second in 12 inings, 7-to-6.

Columbus' double bill with Kansas City was postponed.

St. Paul stretched its winning streak to six by nosing out Louisville, 3 to 2, in 10 innings.

Gunder Haegg To Run Two Miles Saturday; Hopes To Set Record

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 5—The famous Gunder Haegg of Sweden will step off a two-mile exhibition here Saturday night instead of one-mile as originally planned.

Haegg requested an extension of the distance so he could attempt to improve his own world record of 8.47.4 for two miles.

Other runners in the event include Gilbert Dodds, who will start even with Haegg, and Bill Hulse, who will be given a handicap.

BUCKY WALTERS GETS CHANCE TO WIN SIXTH

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—Bucky Walters, starting after his second 100 victories as a Cincinnati Red, is the pitcher today as the team opens a three-week tour against the Chicago Cubs.

Bucky also is after his seventh win of the current year, during which he has lost 11 for the worst season since he came here from the Phillies in 1938. Hiram Bithorn is the Cubs' choice to keep Bucky from improving it.

The Reds put on a twilight exhibition at nearby Fort Sheridan yesterday, downing the soldiers, 5 to 0. Ray Starr, Jack Niemes and Joe Beggs held the Fort to seven hits and the Reds took advantage of four walks and two errors in the fourth inning to score four of their runs.

SPRINGFIELD'S TEAM MAKES LEGION FINAL

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—Cleveland and Cincinnati clash today in the Ohio American Legion junior baseball semi-finals for the right to meet Springfield in a title game Friday.

The teams went into a three-way tie yesterday when Springfield upset Cleveland from its unbeaten position, 2 to 0. Each has suffered one defeat in the tourney which is being conducted on a two-losses-and-out basis.

In yesterday's contest, Springfield's ace pitcher, Henry Amato, bottled up the potential batting power of the Cleveland nine to keep his club in the running.

PIRATES RALLY TO DOWN PHILS

DiMaggio's 13th Homer Big Blow In 4-Run Seventh

By The Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5 — The Pittsburgh Pirates cut loose with a four-run rally in the seventh inning Wednesday night, capped by Vince DiMaggio's 13th homer of the year, to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-2, before 10,417 fans.

Big Max Butcher went the distance for the Bucs to register his sixth victory. He gave up eight hits but kept them well scattered.

After getting two runs on four singles in the first, the Bucs were held scoreless until the seventh when Schoolboy Rowe tired and was removed.

Rowe's successor, Al Gerheauser, was touched for two runs and charged with the defeat.

Van Robays, batting for Barrett, started the Pirates' winning rally in the seventh by slashing out a double.

Elliott drew an intentional pass and Fletcher singled to right, scoring Wyrostek, who ran for Van Robays. Elliott also scored and Fletcher went to third when May, Phillie third sacker, dropped Northey's throw from right field.

FBI Seizes Man, 50, Who Peddles Tips On How To Escape Draft

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The department of justice Wednesday announced arrest of a man accused of teaching New Yorkers how to evade the draft by simulating deafness, mental incompetence and organic disorders.

The man under arrest was listed as Stephen Weinberg, 50, and was termed by the department "a notorious impersonator and deceptionist of First World war days."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover asserted his master deception was in 1921, when he conducted Princess Fatima, sultana of Kabul Afghanistan, on a diplomatic tour of Washington while posing as a representative of the state department. He served two year in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta in connection with this offense, Hoover said.

Weinberg was apprehended in New York city by FBI agents on a charge of violating the national selective and training service act.

Hoover said Weinberg, through various fraudulent scenes, has caused the rejection or deferment of a number of New Yorkers, that he operated under the name of Stanley C. Weyman and had offices in a mid-town New York hotel where he consulted "clients".

"Weinberg's fees ranged from a few hundred dollars to more than $2,000, depending upon the service performed," the justice department said.

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 — Betcha never knew this—a collection of odd and unimportant items from sports history:

Fifth wheel.

Connie Mack's famous "$100,-000" infield was composed of five men—Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Home Run Baker (the four you've heard about) and Danny Murphy, who cost Connie about $500. Murphy arrived late for his first game with the A's on July 8, 1902, so Jud Castro played the first inning and got a hit. Then Murphy turned up and smacked six consecutive blows, so his late arrival cost him a chance to get his name into the record books with the all-time leaders.

Hugh Fullerton

Y's guy.

The fact that Wayne Johnson, who played 60 minutes of good football for Harvard against Yale last fall now is a marine trainee and candidate for the Yale team reminds old-timers of the 1913 game between the Elis and the Johnnies. F. J. O'Brien, Harvard end, scored a deliberate safety that day, thinking he was merely making a touch-back. Harvard won, so it was only a gag when O'Brien's teammates voted to award him his "Y".

Block off the old chip.

George Chip, who bossed the middleweight division in 1913-14, probably was the only champion who lost his title while serving as a substitute. George's kind brother Joe had given an unknown named Al McCoy a licking but when a return bout was arranged in Brooklyn, Joe got hurt in training. The promoter thought it would be smart to get George to sub for his brother in a no-decision affair. At the bell, Chip swarmed all over McCoy; his first assault failed to put Al down and George stepped back to get his breath. As he relaxed a moment, a punch came from nowhere. The fight was all over in just 45 seconds and McCoy was the new champion.

It's a gyp-see.

Alex Robb of the Thoroughbred Racing associations dug up the yarn about Gypsy Lee, who picked a derby winner for an English nobleman some 75 years ago. Gypsy wrote "Blew Gown" on the race program and sure enough Sir Joseph Hawley's Blue Gown won the Epsom Derby. Peeved because the nobleman criticized her spelling, Gypsy Lee then prophesied that no horse whose name began with "W" would win the derby as long as she lived—and none did. Gypsy Lee died in 1933 and and next spring the gypsies who gather on Derby day really unloaded their pockets to bet on Windsor lad, owned by the maharajah of Rajpipla. Of course the "W" horse won at odds better than 7 to 1.

'Y' WILL SPONSOR SOFTBALL EVENT

Werner Outlines Plans For Annual Tourney Here

The annual Y. M. C. A.-sponsored softball tournament will be held again this year, provided eight or more entries can be obtained, Carl A. Werner, supervisor, announced today.

Plans call for play to start Aug. 16, with games on Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the champion has been decided.

Previous tournaments have attracted from 10 to 16 teams, but most of the players who took part are now in the armed services, Mr. Werner pointed out.

Teams wishing to enter should contact Mr. Werner at the "Y", where entry blanks and rules may be obtained.

All games will be played on the Y-Vodrey field on Bradshaw. They will be seven-inning affairs.

Team rosters may contain 16 players, with the tournament being conducted on a straight elimination basis—the loss of one game removing a team from play.

The championship and runner-up teams will be awarded trophies. Registration fees must be turned in at the Y. M. C. A. not later than 9 p. m., Saturday, Aug. 14.

Hollywood Chatter

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Ginny Simms, the farmer's daughter, sat in her dressing room on the set, where the voice of Ginny Simms, the singer, was humming tunes on a playback record to George Murphy's piano accompaniment.

"I'll get to the song maybe Thursday," said Ginny. "This is just the introduction, George playing and I humming."

Through the door we could see the camera on George, his fingers caressing the ivories as if he could really play. It was real pretty music, George playing very well for a fellow who can't play at all, and Ginny humming in the special Simms style. But it was funny music, too, on the playback.

Every measure ended with a noise that said "Quack!" The music floated out, dreamy and romantic, and then that cold, impersonal rasping "Quack!" More dreams and romance, and again the poultry-yard note.

"It's not because I'm a farmer's daughter," said Ginny. "It's a way they have of marking the music—supposed to help me synchronize when I do it for the camera. It doesn't — it bothers me — but maybe it helps somebody.

It would take quite a spot of space to tell all the things Ginny Simms is, besides a farmer's daughter. She's an honorary sergeant in the marine corps, for one thing.

She's No. 1 songstress on the air, unless 18 national polls are wrong, and she's indefatigable in singing for service men. She's so busy with war work that she gets out to her own farm—run by her farmer father and mother—only on week-ends now. The farmer's daughter's farm is 40 acres, and it raises everything from piglets to lettuce.

A San Antonio, Tex., girl whose family moved to Fresno, Calif., Ginny studied piano and started singing only as a sideline. She formed a girls' trio which soon hit the air from Fresno.

When the other girls quit to continue schooling, Ginny set out on her own, was discovered by Kay Kyser ("I owe so much to Kay") and for five years toured with him as vocalist, and came to pictures with him.

"I left the band only because I was so tired I had to rest," she said. "We were on the go all the time, and I wanted a home of my own—and some rest."

She has the home now, the farm, but she doesn't get much rest.

She's so busy she has to keep an apartment in Hollywood—to keep all her appointments on time.

Missed Big Chance

HOLLYWOOD — C. E. Dobbins, 81, who was evacuated from Paris during the Franco-Prussian war, in a balloon, prides himself on being one of the oldest and earliest stamp collectors in the United States. His one great regret in his life is that the balloon which evacuated him from Paris back in 1870 was not carrying air mail at the time.

Army Rules Finally: 'No College Sports!'

Varsity Football Is Definitely 'Out'; Its Student Soldiers Only Have Six Hours Of Leisure Time Per Week

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Petitions may come and petitions may go, but the army has ruled once and for all the men it has placed in colleges are ineligible for varsity sports competition.

A hope the army would relent and permit its student-soldiers to play varsity football keeps finding expression in many quarters but officials said today: "The question is not an open one."

Not open, they pointed out, means closed—closed by the flat "no" that for four months has been the official reply to the question: Will soldiers in the army specialized training program be permitted to engage in intercollegiate sports?

Despite the petition submitted recently by 256 members of congress headed by Rep. Samuel A. Weiss of Pennsylvania, officers say there has been no change in policy.

Secretary of War Stimson and Under-secretary Patterson were not available for comment, but inquiries elsewhere made it more than evident their subordinates would be astonished if they changed the order.

The navy, much more liberal in its attitude on the subject, has an entirely different set of problems, and furthermore the policy announced last week-end by Secretary Knox, placing new restrictions on navy participation in intercollegiate football, is taken as an indication that the navy has found complete freedom in that regard not entirely to its liking.

Basically, the army's attitude is that men assigned to colleges for intensive classroom work and supervised study have no time for varsity sports. On the average, the men have about six hours leisure a week.

The army expects the men to participate in sports but strictly of the intramural variety. Special allowances and freedom could not be granted to the minority who would be engaged in varsity sports.

FLORISTS, IRISHTOWN BATTLE FOR SECOND

Second place in the City Baseball league will be at stake today when the Riverview Florists and Irishtown tangle at Patterson field in what probably will be the last game of the regular schedule before the round-robin playoff gets under way Monday.

A wet field forced Wednesday's scheduled battle between the Golden Star nine, league champions, and the Elks to be called off.

Riverview still has a postponed game against the Elks, but in all probability it will not be played.

Chester Seaman Is Initiated Quickly Through Hurricane

Seaman Dewell, who entered the maritime service last spring, is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Dewell of Florida ave.

According to the young seaman, he was aboard a tanker in the Gulf of Mexico this summer, when it was caught in the severe hurricane that struck gulf ports recently. The ship drifted for two and a half days and finally was wrecked on a reef.

The experience has only strengthened his determination to do a good job in his chosen service. He has been based at Houston, Tex., but expects to be located in the east on his return from leave.

WAR VICTIM. Pvt. Francis C. O'Hanlon, son of George A. O'Hanlon of 1142 Lisbon st., was "killed in action July 21 in th southwest Pacific," according to the war department. A former truck driver, he served in the army two years and has been stationed in the Solomon Islands, New Zealand, New Guinea and Fiji Islands.

Ray Collins of Drew Field, Tampa, Fla., has been promoted to sergeant, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Collins of Indiana ave., Chester.

Pvt. First Class Frank Daley and Pvt. Orvan Carter, Salineville boys and childhood playmates, recently staged a happy reunion when they met in Hawaii, where both soldiers are stationed.

Pvt. Louis A. Stuttler, husband of Mrs. Violet Stuttler of 1630 St. George st., has been transferred to Ft. Lewis, Wash. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Stuttler of 1635 St. George st.

Corp. Richard L. Andrus, husband of Mrs. Sara M. Andrus of West Seventh st., has been transferred to a new destination. He is in the quartermasters corps and was in Alaska for seven months.

Clarence H. Snediker, son of Mrs. Stanley Ward of St. Clair ave., has completed his basic training at the merchant marine base at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., and is seaman first class. Mrs. Ward's nephew, Pvt. First Class John E. Snediker of the engineers corps, completed basic training at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and received the highest honors of his class.

Lester J. Grimm Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Grimm of 1404 Etruria st., has completed several months of training at the naval air training center at Navy pier, Chicago, and will be assigned to duty servicing navy planes.

John J. Lillis, husband of Mrs. Bernice Lillis, of 1414 Dresden ave. has been promoted to staff sergeant at the Selfridge Field, Mich., army air base. He has been in the army since March 3, 1941.

Floyd Heddleston, 23, of 1224½ Erie st.; Richard M. Dietz, 18, of Glenmoor; Calvin K. Burcham, 18, of 1196 Pennsylvania ave.; Evan E. Orr, 23, of 169 Thompson ave., William C. Roberts, 18, of 347 Clayburn pl., Robert M. Jarvis, 17, of 2207 Harvey ave., and Stanley Tucker, 17, of 629 Dresden ave. have reported to the Great Lakes, Ill., naval station for "boot" training.

Frank W. Chambers of East Palestine was commissioned a lieutenant in the naval reserve Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

John G. Nathaniel of Grant st., Newell, has received word that his son, Pvt. Thomas P. Nathaniel, is serving in Sicily.

Pete Trainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trainer of 1421 Commerce st., Wellsville, has been promoted to technical sergeant in New Orleans. He was inducted Oct. 1, 1942.

Sgt. Merle A. Smith, husband of the former Miss Faye Penn of Chester, has been transferred to Camp Maxey, Tex. He and his wife are residing at Powderly, Tex.

Aviation Cadet William D. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Johnston of Chester, has reported to Dorr field, Arcadia, Fla.

Mrs. Walter Ashby of 320 Broadway, Wellsville, has received word from her son, Tech. Sgt. B. C. Freeman,that he has been moved to a new location in India. He writes that everything "is fine and the only enemy anywhere near them are mosquitos and they are pretty well under control."

Aviation Cadet Charles Mackall, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mackall of 563 Palissey st., has been transferred to Shaw field, Sumter, S. C., for basic training.

Pvt. Raymond "Pick" Clevenger Jr., whose wife, the former Miss Daisy Reeder, and daughter, Judith Lee, reside at 422 Grove alley, has been transferred to Ft. Benning, Ga., to complete his training in the paratroops. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clevenger of 2123 Harvey ave.

Albert Shroades has been promoted to corporal at the army air base at Pueblo, Colo., where he recently completed a course as an airplane mechanic, according to his mother, Mrs. Iona Shroades of 140 West Second st.

Delegates from the Legion and the women's auxiliary of the two local Legion posts have chartered the V. F. W. bus for the trip. A number of other members also will make the trip in the bus, which will be driven by Richard Stivason.

Members planning to attend the convention have been requested to inform Mr. Stivason.

Sweden Bars Nazi Troops

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—The National Broadcasting Co. quoted a dispatch today from its Stockholm correspondent, David Anderson, as saying that Sweden has canceled an agreement with Berlin permitting German troops transit though that country. Sweden has permitted the transit of German troops on leave from and to Norway, provided they carry no arms.

LISBON TO DELAY FATHERS' DRAFT

Board No. 3 Has Enough In Younger Group For Calls

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Aug. 5—Because Lisbon draft board No. 3 still has a reservoir of 18- and 19-year-olds and married men without dependents, the board for the present will not reclassify 3-A registrants, fathers and others with dependents, into the 1-A group in preparation for possible induction in October.

W. D. Morris, chairman, said that when this reserve list is exhausted, the work of reclassifying will be started so that the necessary men will be available for call.

The board meanwhile, registered 22 youths from the Lisbon board's district in July, who reached their 18th birthdays during the month. They are:

Nick Leonard Polifrone, West Washington st., Lisbon.

Ralph Albaneso, Anderson ave., Wellsville.

Jack Von Vergo, Lisbon r. d. 3.

Arthur Morris Dubinsky, Monessen, Pa.

Makes All-Day Standing Easy On Your Feet

If you are on your feet all day — walking the floor or standing in front of a machine — just sprinkle Allen's Foot-Ease on your feet and into your shoes every morning. This soothing powder really brings quick relief from the discomfort of tired, burning feet. When feet tend to swell and shoes feel pinched from all day standing, try Allen's Foot-Ease to relieve this congestion. Also acts to absorb excessive perspiration and prevent offensive foot odors. If you want real foot comfort, be sure to ask for Allen's Foot-Ease — the easy, simple way to all-day standing and walking comfort. Get it today at all druggists.

JUST KIDS By Ad Carter

by HENRY C. CASSIDY

THE GERMAN invasion caught the Russians by surprise but behind the frontiers mobilization proceded swiftly from the guerillas defending their homesteads to the Red army itself.

Germany Invades, Finds Russia Is Not Ready

CHAPTER 4

ONE day later in the year than Napoleon, Hitler invaded Russia, June 22, 1941. Beyond that much as they were to be compared, there was little comparison between the campaigns of the 19th-century French emperor and the 20th-century German fuehrer. For Napoleon marched to Moscow with a mobile column, turned around and marched back again. Hitler flung himself on Russia with a huge force, stopped short of Moscow, and hung on for a fight to the finish.

When it began, that fateful Sunday at 4 a. m., 170 divisions, numbering more than 2 million men, with 10,000 tanks and 10,000 planes, were unleashed against the Soviet union. With them, death and devastation stalked onto the steppes of southern, the forests of western, the tundra of northern Russia.

The invasion caught the Soviets by surprise. Despite all alarms and warnings, they were not ready. Unexpectedly, bombs showered down on Kiev, Sebastopol, Kaunas, Zhitomir, and other important cities of the rear. Shells rained on Brest-Litovsk, Belostok, and other towns on the frontier. Border posts were rapidly overwhelmed. So complete was the surprise that junior pilots rushed about their airports, seeking superior officers for orders to take off, while they themselves were being bombed. And many of the highest officers of the army and navy and officials of state were away from their posts on vacation.

Russians Hear Belatedly

It was not until 5:30 a. m., one hour and a half after the invasion, that Graf von der Schulenburg called on Foreign Minister Molotov at the Kremlin to inform him that Germany had started war on the Soviet union because of Red army concentrations opposite the German border. It was not until 12:15 p. m., that the Russian people heard, in a broadcast by Molotov, that they had been attacked without previous demands, without a declaration of war.

The confusion was complete. The Red army admitted June 23 the fall of Brest-Litovsk. It fell only the next day. A washerwoman, dropping her laundry and drying her hands when she saw the Germans, took a rifle, helped one border post stand off the enemy, then went back to a garrison and brought reinforcements. For a day that post held. The 99th Red army infantry division, commanded by Col. Jacob Kreuzer, retreated from Przemysl, in Old Poland, then pushed back and recaptured the town. They held until ordered to withdraw. But all around them the Soviet frontiers fell.

Behind the frontier, loudspeakers blazed orders: mobilization of men between 23 and 36 years old in the 14 western military districts, air-raid and anti-gas precautions, a state of seige throughout European Russia. That night, as they had in all other cities of Europe, the lights of Russia were blacked out.

And so, all unwilling, Russia became Armageddon.

I had what seemed at first to be the very bad, but what turned out to be the very good, luck to witness the outbreak of the war, not from Moscow, but from the peaceful, sunlit terrace of the Riviera hotel at Sochi.

Beautiful Sunday

It was a beautiful Sunday, warmed by the rain, after a tempest the previous day. The Black sea dashed briskly against the breakwater and sent its waters rushing across the concrete walk. The war had been on for hours, but I had no premonition of it, as I sat on the hill above the beach and watched the waves.

A telegram had come for me that morning from Moscow, saying: 'Plane immediately.' Idly, I wondered what the reason for it was, personal or business. Witt Hancock, my predecessor in Moscow, had been planning vaguely to come through Moscow if he were ordered home from his post in Turkey. In that case I had left word I would return to Moscow to meet him. That, I decided, must be the reason for the telegram. I would go, of course, but there was no hurry. There was no plane anyway until the next day. But the reason for the telegram turned out to be business. Witt Hancock, instead of going home, went on to India and Batavia, there to be lost in Java. And I was going back to the war.

As I strolled back from the beach, through the garden, I saw a crowd gathered around the loudspeaker in front of the hotel. A flat emotionless voice was speaking. It was Molotov describing the attack without warning.

As he spoke, his audience listened silently, first in sheer amazement, then in stunned realization. One or two women wept quietly, and moved away, but most of them stood, as though in a trance, astonished, then resigned to the ghastly news. I headed upstairs to my room, and as I passed a maid on the stairs, she gasped:

'They attacked us!'

I felt worse than the Russians, for I was away from my post, and the greatest story of them all was breaking. All the ugly forecasts I had heard for Russia, in case of war, came to me: It would last three weeks to three months . . . the Germans might reach Moscow in five days . . . Moscow would be leveled by a single bombing. I might never get there in time.

The rest of the day I spent in waiting for things that never came. I put in a telephone call for Moscow for 4 p. m. It never came. I was told a man would came with a ticket for Moscow on the next day's plane at 9 p. m. He never came. Then, I was told, all planes were grounded. I was stranded at the other end of Russia, with no roads between me and Moscow, with no way of getting there except by train. And the last train for Moscow that day had left.

Tempers ran higher as the day went on. There were bickerings and stampedings about the hotel. But underneath it all there was a current of feeling of determination, even of enthusiasm, about the war. Marching songs, blaring from loudspeakers, began to echo back from the mountains. The crowds grew larger and larger, listening to repeated broadcasts of Molotov's speech and successive news bulletins. Sometimes the people cheered and clapped.

Blackout Is Applied

That night the blackout was put into effect with surprising speed and efficiency. Blue bulbs appeared in the lights, dark curtains covered the windows, and a maid brought a candle to my room.

The next morning, Russia's second of war, I awoke with a start after a fitful night's sleep, and jumped out of bed to start working on a train ticket for Moscow.

I went into the railroad station office and made to an officer in Red army uniform what must have been a grotesquely eloquent speech in bad Russian. I told him I was an American correspondent, had been called the day before to return by plane, and, since there was no plane I must leave that day by the train. I produced my foreign commissariat pass, and said: "With this document I should think I might take the train today."

The officer nodded, and said "You might."

The baggageman, remained at the station, already filling up with anxious crowds, to buy the ticket, and I walked back to the hotel.

In the streets squads of men were marching in civilian clothes. Houses were being bulwarked. Troops passed in trucks. The town was emptying of all except women and children.

I could not help but compare this to the France I had seen less than a year before. There was no rush of refugees on the road. In fact, as I was still to find out, it was very difficult to move at all. There was no mass crisis of nerves: the war of nerves had never reached this remote, stolid people.

If the Russian people are ever defeated, I thought, it will not be because of nerves.

On the way to the hotel I asked a man what the morning's radio news had been.

"We are attacking," he said.

Tips On How To Keep Well

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Gastric juice and other stomach secretions are analyzed.

WE have been discussing the value of the examination of the blood to the doctor who is making a diagnosis of his patient and have tried to tell something about the procedure he goes through in order to examine the blood. Today I wish to take up other laboratory methods of examination of different fluids of the body.

The medical profession and physiologists have been very ingenious in submitting every secretion, fluid and excretion of the body to examination in health and disease. One of the first of the body secretions to be examined was the gastric juice — the secretion of the walls of the stomach during the process of digestion.

History Is Faced

Attempts were made to obtain this as far back as the 18th Century when an ambitious German physician invented a kind of brush on the end of a long wire, which he poked down his patient's gullet and mopped up the side of the stomach, very much like one of the instruments used to clean kitchen pans and bottles.

This method was not very satisfactory and the real beginning of gastric analysis was when a Dr. Kussmaul had a patient in his ward who was called Der Weiner (The Whiner). The poor thing whined all the time and for good reason, because she had an obstruction in her stomach and secretions dammed back and kept her bloated.

Tube Idea Tried

Dr. Kussmaul conceived the idea of putting a tube down and washing out her stomach, which gave her great relief. Remember, this was only as short a time ago as 1870. With this Kussmaul tube the stomach specialists were able to remove stomach contents and make a chemical and miscroscopial examination of them.

At rest the stomach is quite empty of all secretions and presents a dry glistening surface. But almost immediately after the intake of food, secretion begins and within an hour it is almost at its height.

In the early period of analysis of the stomach contents, the juice was removed an hour after a small meal and many profound conclusions were adduced on the basis of this examination. In fact, before the x-ray began to be used to visualize the stomach, the analysis of the gastric juice was about the only stock in trade of the stomach specialist.

The specialty thrived in those palmy days. In fact, as I remember it, practically every other doctor on the North Side of Chicago was a stomach specialist when I spent my interneship there. But in the course of time the general practioners and general surgeons found out there wasn't very much value in the examination of the stomach contents.

Examination Not Valuable

The stomach specialists were prone to say that when a person had a great deal of acid in his stomach contents, that meant he had ulcer and that when he had no acid at all, that meant he had cancer.

But the surgeons soon found that sometimes there were cases of cancer of the stomach with plenty of acid and cases of ulcer with no acid at all and dependence on the pronouncements drawn from analysis of the gastric juice are taken very skeptically by the diagnostician today.

One fluid of the body which has proved of surprising value in the diagnostic examination is the cerebrospinal fluid. This is a clear, watery-looking fluid which surrounds the brain and spinal cord. When these are diseased, they are likely to pour dregs into the fluid, which can be detected by chemical and miscroscopial examination and which throw light on a great many conditions.

PATROL IS MADE DEFENSE GROUP

Captain Explains Difference In New, Old Training

The Columbiana county highway patrol auxiliary, comprised of American Legion members, has been made a part of the county civilian defense organization by action of the state legislature at its recent session.

This information was given the auxiliary at its monthly meeting Wednesday night in the American Legion home at Salem by Lynn Riddle of Lisbon, county defense chairman.

Act As Auxiliary Police

Mr. Riddle explained that the auxiliary members would act in the capacity of auxiliary police to the county organization and around it would be built a civilian defense organization for the county just the same as that which exists in East Liverpool, Salem, Wellsville, East Palestine and other cities.

The auxiliary, however, will continue to serve under the supervision of the officials of the state highway patrol. Directing the organization in Columbiana county is Corp. W. H. Hatunen, commanding officer of the Salem sub-station.

The highway patrol auxiliary, which exists in every county in Ohio, recently was cited by the state defense council as the most outstanding civilian defense organization in the state. Composed entirely of veterans of the First World war, the members were schooled and trained for six months in police, road patrol, guard and first aid work before taking office.

Get Actual Experience

To gain actual experience each member is required to spend at least one night monthly in company with state highway patrolmen in road patrol work. The group also assists patrolmen in traffic checks to inspect driving licenses and certificates of registration.

Hugh Ramsey of Lisbon, now a captain in the army and a former member of the auxiliary, was a guest at last night's meeting and explained his work at training recruits in the present war as compared to the course of training given men in the last war.

In the absence of Corp. Hatunen, who is on vacation, Sgt. James Bower of Massillon, who organized the Columbiana county auxiliary, was in charge of last night's meeting. George Gonzales of Lisbon, captain of the unit, presided.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 1 in Wellsville.

SALINEVILLE K. OF C. OFFICERS ARE SEATED

Special To The Review.

SALINEVILLE, Aug. 5—Installation of officers for Knights of Columbus council 2389 was held Tuesday night with Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, district deputy, in charge.

The new officers, named at the annual election in June, are as follows: Blaise S. Burns, grand knight; James Maley, deputy grand knight; Rev. Fr. P. V. Hyland, chaplain; John Hisketh, treasurer; F. A. Strabley, recording secretary; James Kelly, chancellor; James Coughen, advocate; John Gruszecki, trustee.

A social period followed the ceremony and refreshments were served.

SALINEVILLE, Aug. 5—Mrs. S. A. Hart, chairman, today termed as successful the waste paper drive held Monday when Boy Scouts with township trucks gathered magazines, newspapers, paper bags and cartons under the sponsorship of the Women's Civic club.

FARM TEST DUE ON ARMY LABOR

Next Three Weeks May Tell If Troops Are Needed

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — The next two or three weeks may tell whether farmers will need the army's help in harvesting this year's big crop.

The agricultural department's extension service, an agency that has been directing recruitment of volunteer workers, said 1943 harvesting operations starting this month will be the test.

Signs of possible serious shortages already are bobbing up. North Dakota has made formal request for 15,100 soldiers to help gather the spring wheat crop. The request, approved by Food Administrator Marvin Jones and Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, is pending before the war department.

60,000 Workers Imported

The government promised last spring to make troops available in an emergency. Although soldiers have been used in a few areas on minor farm jobs, the North Dakota request, if granted, would be the first big-scale use of servicemen.

More than 60,000 agricultural workers have been imported from Mexico and the Caribbean area.

The biggest single job this month will be harvesting, curing and marketing the flue-cured tobacco crop in Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Other big August jobs include cutting and storing hay in the dairy belt, harvesting vegetables in various parts of the country and spring wheat.

The extension service said farm labor needs must be met primarily through local mobilizations. The agriculture department estimated 11,749,000 persons were employed on farms on July 1 and that an additional 200,000 full-time workers will be required through August, September and October.

The extension service reported that many of the more than half a million extra workers placed on farms by July were boys and girls and women.

"Reports from all parts of the country seem to indicate," the service said, "that farmers generally now are willing to accept city workers, especially in those areas where the need is greatest and crops are in danger of being lost."

Says 'Marvel Age' Remote

PASADENA, Calif.—Prof. W. H. Peckering of the California Institute of Technology warns the public against expecting a world of super-development immediately after the war as a result of the progress being made in electronics. There will be some, he concedes, but the "age of marvels", he insists, "is still remote".

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ALLIED TROOPS SEIZE CATANIA

The War Today . . .

By De Witt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

A COUPLE of more stout spikes have been driven into the coffin of Hitlerism in the capture of two highly-strategic cities—Orel on the flaming Russian front and ancient Catania in the northeast corner of Sicily.

Both these cities were vital anchor points for the Nazis.

The heavily-fortified and strongly- held railway center of Orel for almost two years has been the hinge for Hitler's great battle line between this point, not far below Moscow, and the Sea of Azov.

Catania, crouching under the great volcano of Etna, has been the powerful position to which the Nazis and Italians hooked the left wing of the front which they threw across the last remaining tip of northeast Sicily in defense of Messina and access to the Italian mainland, only two miles across the strait from that port.

These two operations, while widely separated and seemingly having little relation to each other, are parts of offensives which in reality are acting as a pair of mighty pincers on the German front in Russia.

THIS is so because (1) if the Russians have the reserve power with which to follow up their notable capture of Orel, it will endanger Hitler's entire right wing and because (2) victroy in Sicily brings the Allies nearer to possible invasion of the Balkans, which would further jeopardize that Nazi right wing.

In short, Hitler is being pushed steadily toward that day when he will have to pull back his entire vast line of more than a thousand miles in Russia in order to reach new positions which will afford greater security.

While this is a historic moment for the Alles, we should remember that these two captures are parts of continuing operations. Fierce fighting lies ahead in both theaters.

In Sicily the terrain within the remaining triangle which the Axis forces are defendng is rugged and hilly. It's well adapted to defense and has been fortified strongly.

There are said to be close to 100,000 Axis troops assigned to the desperate task of holding this "last ditch", something more than half of them being Germans.

THUS we have the makings of a great battle among the innumerable hilly strongholds, many of which probably will have to be taken at the point of the bayonet—assuming that the Axis forces don't fold up, and there's been no indication of this yet among the Germans.

Ultimately the enemy must surrender or be annihilated, for there is no escape from this triangular trap for the vast majority of the Axis troops.

It's too soon to assay the full import of the Red capture of Orel. The cracking of this major fortress represents one of the great victories of the war. Into it have gone the lives of many scores of thousands of fighting men of both Germany and Russia.

Incidentally, it's only 10 days ago that I received a letter from an anonymous Nazi sympathizer, signing himself "a soldier", who took me to task for saying that the indications were the Reds would take Orel. He said it was a preposterous suggestion and sang the praises of the Boche. There are a lot of these fifth columnists still about.

The fighting which has preceded this victory has been titantic—reminiscent of the struggle at Stalingrad. The Russians drove forward, in the face of the best defense which Hitler could muster, until they had all but had Orel surrounded.

COMPLETE encirclement would have meant the annihilation of a Nazi force of some 250,000 men, but it would appear that the German command has been able to withdraw many of them.

Orel not only is a strong point, but it is a vital rail communications between Moscow and the southern sectors.

The ultimate effect of the fall of Orel might be catastrophic for the Germans, if the Russians have the strength to develop it. However, this is no time to jump to sweeping conclusions.

All members L. U. 86 are requested to be present at N.B.O.P. Hall, 7:30 this eve., for special meeting.

REDS HAMMER WAY THROUGH CITY STREETS

Bitter Rear-Guard Defense Made By Germans After Losing Great Base

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 5 — The Red army battled its way through the streets of Orel today, completing occupation of the first great city to be wrested from the Germans in the summer campaign.

The Germans offered stubborn resistance, throwing tanks into bitter street fighting, but the action appeared to be only a rear-guard defense rather than a serious effort to challenge the Russians for possession of the key fortified city.

Bitter Resistance Met

Front-line dispatches said the Germans still are offering bitter resistance northwest and southwest of Orel in an effort to cover the retreat of the main body of their troops through the bottleneck to the west.

The Soviet army newspaper Red Star declared the Nazis have stepped up their rear-line firepower in those areas, virtually doubling the number of guns for each mile of the front, and are counter-attacking with groups of 15 to 25 tanks.

Soviet bombers, however, were reported blasting at the enemy's support lines and main bases behind the Orel salient, concentrating on the communications center of Bryansk.

Nikitovka, Yasinovataya and Ilovaiskaya behind the Kharkov front and Mga on the Leningrad front also were subjected to heavy air attacks.

'According To Plan'

(The Berlin radio announced last night Nazi forces have evacuated Orel. Describing the retreat as an "evacuation according to plan," the announcement said German forces have taken up previously-prepared positions behind the city after destroying everything of value.)

The Russian announcement that the city's inner defenses have cracked after 24 days of savage fighting, during which Soviet armored units, infantry and cavalry stormed them from three directions, listed vast stores of ammunition and guns as captured.

More than 2,500 Germans were killed and 18 enemy tanks were knocked out as the Germans fought bitterly and even counter-attacked in desperate attempts to check the Red army masses pouring into the city's streets, a Soviet communique said.

Orel, which had a normal popula-

'FLASH FLOODS' TAKE AT LEAST FIVE LIVES

Scores Of Homes Destroyed In West Virginia Area

By The Associated Press.

SUTTON, W. Va., Aug. 5—"Flash floods" which struck early today are believed to have taken at least five lives, destroyed scores of homes and left several communities in Braxton and Gilmer counties isolated.

Deputy Sheriff O. N. Singleton of Braxton county said he was informed that Mr. and Mrs. George Yeager, their daughter and her two children were drowned when their home at Heaters, about nine miles north of Sutton, was swept away by raging Salt Lick creek.

Members of several other families in the Heaters area were trapped in their beds and are missing, Singleton added.

Ninety families moved out of two Columbus suburbs as Big Walnut creek overflowed its banks. Forty families were evacuated from the Wonderland addition north of Port Columbus and 50 families were forced out in Gould park.

The Franklin county sheriff's office said a cloudburst in the northern section of the county caused the already-swollen Big Walnut to overflow.

SOME STRIKERS RETURN TO JOBS

Local Sets Deadline Before Asking General Walkout

A "back-to-work" movement began developing today in the strike of kiln employes at the Homer Laughlin China Co., but members of the original striking local remained adamant in their demands for adjustment of a seniority dispute and promised to urge a general walkout of their craft in the industry unless their demands are met by 3 p. m. Friday.

One labor official declared "the backbone of the strike is broken", while a company spokesman asserted some of the workers returned to their jobs today, apparently from the ranks of the 300-odd kiln shed men who struck in sympathy when local 130 walked out Monday.

Sympathy strikers, consisting of kiln placers, dippers and kiln drawers, began returning to their posts this morning, and others have indicated their intention to return, it was reported.

At a meeting held Wednesday night, the kiln firemen's local voted for Friday's deadline in the face of stern warnings from the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which already has declared it an outlaw strike, and suspended union benefits for the strikers until they return to work while a settlement is reached.

James M. Duffy, president of the Brotherhood, declared today, "The act of last night's meeting of trying to involve other plants is a violation of the rules and constitution of the Brotherhood. Local 130 automatically stands suspended and loses all benefits of the Brotherhood.

"The executive board will take proper action against Local 130 and other locals who have assisted them in the 'outlawed' strike."

At Homer Laughlin, where kiln shed employes left their jobs Monday morning following an argument over seniority rights, production has been cut to less than 10 percent of normal, Joseph M. Wells, general manager, said.

Late News

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes declared today "the oil transportation problem has been about whipped" and that fair and just handling of the oil supply problem will require diversion of petroleum products from the middlewest and southwest to the east, now that they can be moved.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 5—A New York identification expert swore today that a fingerprint on a paper-covered wooden screen in the room where Sir Harry Oakes was bludgeoned and burned to death was made by the multimillionaire baronet's son-in-law, Alfred De Marigny.

New Allied Victories May Bring Parley By Roosevelt, Churchill

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—A swift round of Allied victories in Russia, Sicily and the air over Germany appears to have brought the war to a point where President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill must decide soon on the best strategy for shattering Hitler's European fortress.

In the past, decisions of such magnitude have been in personal conferences in Washington or Casablanca or aboard ship.

The present situation suggests that although the two leaders last met in Washington in May, they may find it necessary to confer again at an early date in order to give final shape to a victory campaign in Europe, weigh the prospects for an early victory and relate these prospects to the possibilities of speeding up the war in the Pacific.

News of Catania's fall, indicating the imminent collapse of all Axis resistance in Sicily, was regarded here as posing the immediate problem of whether to follow the Sicilian conquest with an invasion of Italy or whether to soften up Premier Pietro Badoglio's strongholds by air first in hopes of forcing surrender without invasion.

Even more important ultimately is the question of whether to crush Germany by an aerial offensive alone or to employ a combined land-air strategy.

If air power is depended on to deliver the main punch, the in-

MARINE AND SOLDIER FROM COUNTY KILLED

War Casualties Boosted To 33 By Newest Deaths

A Lisbon district soldier and an East Palestine marine have been killed in action, according to word sent their parents by the war and navy department.

John Pierce, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vid Pierce who live on the Lincoln highway three miles west of Lisbon, was killed in the South Pacific.

Their deaths boosted to 33 the number of war casualties in Columbiana county.

Word of the soldier's death was received Wednesday night by his parents from the war department. No details were given.

The young man was drafted into the army in 1941 and had been overseas for several months. His last letter to his parents was written June 23.

BIG JAP TRENCH TORN ON MUNDA

U.S. Infantrymen Battle At Close Grips With Enemy

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 5—United States infantrymen fought at close grips today with Japanese on the south fringe of the Munda air field opposite its center after breaking through a long, covered trench.

The battle for possession of the New Georgia island air strip, which long since has ceased to serve Japanese planes but which in American hands would pose an aerial threat at enemy bases in the northern Solomons and on New Britain, is a slow-moving and violent one.

The jungle-fringed airdrome runs roughly east and west. The infantrymen now near its center came in from the east along the coast.

Capture Of Hills Expected

Across the strip from them and about a mile north of the airdrome, other Americans strove to rout the Japanese from the western slope of Bibolo hill preparatory to moving against the field.

(A naval spokesman at headquarters of Admiral William F. Halsey Jr.'s command in the South Pacific said that capture of Bibolo and Kokengolo hills is expected momentarily. He added that a drive past these positions would put the American forces on the sea coast behind Japanese lines, thus pinning the defenders within a small area and cutting off all routes of escape.)

Seven Float Planes Blasted

Along the coast on the western end of the field, many of the Japanese were frightened from their foxholes into the nearby reef-studded waters by swarms of fighter-escorted bombers which dropped 45 tons of high explosives Wednesday.

Navy Corsairs saw to it that no

SWORDS WILL SETTLE ARGUMENT OVER NAZIS

By The Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 5—Ex-Deputy Raul Damonte Taborda, who formerly headed a congressional committee investigating anti-Argentine activities, and Jack Diaz Vieyra, editor of the pro-Nazi newspaper Cabildo, undertook today to settle with swords a controversy they have been conducting through the press.

Seconds arranged for the two to meet in a duel this afternoon with double-edged, pointed blades after tentative places for a meeting last night had been canceled.

Diaz Vieyra recently launched a blistering attack on Damonte Taborda in the columns of his paper. The latter replied yesterday with an open letter offering to take on Diaz Vieyra and the editors of three other pro-Nazi papers simultaneously.

NEW BADOGLIO PARLEY HINTS PEACE MOVES

Britain Expects Meeting To Bring Answer One Way Or Other In Tangle

By The Associated Press.

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 5—Announcement that the Italian government will meet today to examine "important measures" again stirred the hopes of the Italian people that steps will be taken to remove them from the war.

(Associated Press dispatches from London said the British looked for the meeting to bring an answer to the Italian people's cries for peace and Germany's demands that Italy stay in the war.)

(A National Broadcasting Co. correspondent in Bern reported the Italian foreign minister, Raffaele Guariglia, has drafted peace proposals containing among other conditions that no Allied troops come into the country except for control purposes and that the peninsula be "neutralized". Guariglia's proposal is said to be up for consideration at today's cabinet meeting.)

'We Want Peace'

A Swiss correspondent in Milan said an air of desperation has settled on the Italian people and signs were scribbled on walls at night reading:

"Death to Badoglio and the king!"

"We want peace and work!"

"The Germans must get out of Italy!"

Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, meanwhile, convoked an extraordinary session of the 16 cardinals now in Rome for the apparent purpose, said the Corriere Della Sera of Milan, of discussing questions connected with the international situation.

At the same time a constant stream of ambassadors, ministers, apostolic nuncios and other diplomats was reported flowing in and out of the foreign office in Rome, lending credence to the belief that some important development is in the offing.

Takes Different Tack

The Lavora Italiano, taking a different tack than that of the last two days, when the press on orders from Premier Badoglio warned the Italian people that "the war must go on," today declared the sessions of the British cabinet held last Tuesday "have been interpreted in many capitals as a prelude to an eventual armistice."

The newspaper said the position of Italy and her allies is "very fluid and very dangerous" in a moment when "the voices of the diplomats should be raised."

The Corriere Della Sera declared that thoughts of liberty and war dominated Italian minds today, adding that "many have awaited, during these unforgettable days, clearer words and so are able to receive without excessive fear and

By The Associated Press.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 5—American Flying Fortresses engulfed bomb-torn Naples in another flood of high explosives Wednesday in the fourth Allied raid against the southern Italian seaport in four days.

The four-engined bombers slashed at docks and submarine bases and left the target "well covered with bombs," headquarters said. One merchant ship was left ablaze.

The unescorted Fortresses winged through heavy anti-aircraft fire and engaged 25 to 30 Axis fighters, destroying three of them.

Other Allied planes supporting the great forward surge of armies in Sicily maintained heavy assaults during the day, blasting supply dumps, road communications and motor transport, destroying and damaging many vehicles, the Allied air communique said.

From all operations over Sicily and the Italian mainland, three Allied planes are missing, headquarters said, and additional reports disclosed six more Allied aircraft are missing from operations on Tuesday besides the two previously reported

Entire Mt. Etna Line Of Axis Faced With Collapse As Americans, British, Canadians Smash Forward; U.S. Warships Bombard Enemy's Positions

By The Associated Press

Allied troops captured the vital German-defended city of Catania at 2:30 a. m., East Liverpool war time, today in a triumphant sweep threatening collapse of the enemy's entire Mt. Etna line and paving the way for the swift conquest of Sicily.

A bulletin from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said the stronghold, key to Axis defenses on the east coast and Sicily's second largest city, fell to the British Eighth army despite strong enemy resistance.

Gen. Eisenhower's command also announced that Allied troops have seized Paterno, at the foot of Mt. Etna, 10 miles northwest of Catania.

This means the enemy's western escape road which skirts the base of towering Mt. Etna has been cut off. Allied warships already have blasted the Germans' only other avenue of retreat via the narrow east coast road to Messina.

"Our troops continue their advance along the whole front," Gen. Eisenhower's command said.

The German radio attempted to sugar-coat the blow of Catania's fall with the announcement that "evacuation of Catania by German troops is confirmed authoritatively, the enemy having been misled by a successful maneuver."

This seemed to imply that Nazi defenders of the port, 18 miles below Mt. Etna and 55 miles south of Messina, have made good their escape.

Allied headquarters indicated Axis defenses are collapsing along the entire Mt. Etna line, declaring the Germans and Italians are "trying to slow down our advance by leaving behind mines and destroying all installations."

Italian headquarters gave no inkling of the latest catastrophe to befall the Axis, asserting that German and Italian troops "are withstanding with unfaltering heart the renewed impetuous attacks of enemy forces."

Gen. Eisenhower's command said American cruisers and destroyers are continuing to carry out day and night bombardment of enemy positions on the Sicilian north coast in support of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's U.S. Seventh army, racing eastward toward Messina.

The Americans have crashed four miles beyond fallen San Stefano to occupy Caronia and its port, Caronia Marina.

Axis defenders along the coastal route were blasted by American destroyers which pumped shells into defense targets from the battle line to Cape Orlando, 18 miles to the east.

Bloodiest Victory Of Campaign

The battle for Messina now has begun, all along the enemy's mountainous bridgehead British and American forces plunged forward for new gains.

The British by their continued bombardments of Taormina acted to paralyze if not cut the Germans' east coast supply—and retreat—route.

The enemy's line of retreat from Catania is a three-mile-wide corridor between the mountains and the sea and in that harsh, rugged strip there are a number of points where he might attempt a stand.

Catania's capture in effect turned the German flank on the east coast and the British surged ahead on the slopes of Mt. Etna facing the sea.

225,000 To 270,000 Nazis Patrol Northern Italy

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 5—Travelers who left Rome three days ago estimated today that Germany now has approximately 15 to 18 divisions (between 225,000 and 270,000 men) in northern Italy and is moving with incredible speed to increase this concentration of military strength north of the Po river.

Although American bombers recently left the railroad yards at Bologna in a shambles, the travelers said, Nazi military engineers quickly restored traffic on the main lines to expedite movement of German troops to strategic centers.

Throughout northern Italy, where the Nazis feverishly are constructing defenses in depth throughout the Po valley, eyewitnesses said they noted strong anti-German feeling expressed in signs, chalked on walls, many of which read, "Germans, get out!"

Adding to the bitterness of the north Italian populace was the discovery by police of huge caches of food in the homes of Fascist party members, many of whom were engaged in black market operations, the travelers declared.

U.S. CASUALTIES PLACED AT 6,741

Losses Termed 'Moderate' By Stimson In Report

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—American casualties in Sicily through July 22 totaled 6,741—501 killed, 3,870 wounded and 2,370 missing.

Secretary of War Stimson reported this today, observing:

"Considering the number of troops involved, these losses are considered moderate—particularly in view of the terrain in Sicily."

The secretary said he does not have the figures on British casualties for the same period, but they are "not a great deal higher." Casualties since July 22 are believed to be "relatively light."

The secretary told his press conference substantial gains were made by Allied forces in all theaters in the last week.

Frisoners taken in Sicily total nearly 100,000, including several thousand Germans.

In other theaters, Stimson reported:

The raid on Rumania's Ploesti oil fields by 177 American B-24 Liberator bombers struck "a most damaging blow at a vital German resource."

American losses—15 to 20 bombers shot down in the target area, as many more missing, and eight down in Turkey — made a loss exceeding 20 percent of the bombers engaged, "a very high proportion." The raid nevertheless was considered a success, due to "the deliberate gallantry of our men."

Weather has interfered with operations in the Aleutians.

Allied airmen in India continue to range all over Burma, blasting enemy installations, but in China the Japanese air offensive has revived.

Portable Pianos Devised For Solders

By The Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—A new army piano, procured by the quartermaster corps for overseas doughboy units, is less than five feet high, uses only 35 pounds of metal and sounds like one of the slickest morale aids to come out of headquarters.

It can be set up almost anywhere. The top and front of its waterproof case drop down to form a platform for the player.

Or, by taking out a couple of screws in the face of the case, a "window" can be opened up which permits playing the piano without moving it from its moisture-proof jacket.

It even has a stool attached to the base which folds out of the way when the instrument is locked up for shipment.

OPA Continues Process Of Simplifying Forms

Effective immediately, new types of tire rationing certificates requiring fewer entries by both consumer and dealer will be issued by the East Liverpool ration board.

The new forms, OPA Form A-2, eliminates completely the fourth part which the dealer formerly was required to tear off and return to the local board. This is the latest in a series of OPA steps to reduce bookkeeping.

To Paint Or Not To Paint? That's Summer Problem

Many consumers have asked cosmetic experts whether the use of leg make-up is dangerous.

The answer, according to chemical laboratory analyses and professional consumer advisors, is "No!"

Most of the alleged infections and skin disruptions reported to have come from the use of leg make-up can be traced instead to hair-removing methods used before the make-up was applied, according to these experts.

The cream and emulsion types of make-up are better for covering blemishes than the coal-tar types.

Most business girls and college students hail it as a money-and-material-saving cosmetic and a blessing in hot weather.

'A' Book Renewals Still Coming To Board

Though the No. 7 gas stamp has been valid for more than two weeks, many tardy applicants are still applying to the East Liverpool ration board for their new "A" books, ration officials said.

An applicant who is unable to produce the cover of the old book may submit the registration card of the car and a statement that he is the person entitled to use the car and that no renewal already has been issued, according to new instructions received from the Cleveland regional OPA branch.

In addition, "A" book processors at the local board say that many motorists have written in asking for their old tire inspection records.

"They don't seem to understand that the form returned to them with their new "A" book is to be used as their new inspection record and that they have no use for the old one which accompanied the application," said a member of the clerical staff working on the late applications.

OPA Question Box

Q.—I hold only an "A" book. Am I entitled to new tires?

A.—For 30 days after date of issue.

A.—Yes, each retail market must have the retail ceiling price chart on display. Moreover, it is important that this chart be displayed so it can easily be read by all customers in the market.

Q.—Is there a ceiling price on meals served on trains?

A. — Yes, standard "economy" meals are provided at 85 cents for breakfast, $1 for lunch, and $1.10 for dinner. Other a la carte meals, including alcoholic beverages, are frozen at the highest prices charged during the February 1-April 10, 1943, base period.

Q.—In applying at rationing board for my 15 pounds of canning sugar, now that I have used the 10 pounds obtained with stamps No. 15 and 16, will I be allowed sugar for making jelly?

A.—Yes, because of butter scarcity, OPA this year has made it possible to obtain five pounds of sugar per person for making jams, jellies, preserves, and fruit butter. This five pounds is included in the total of 25 pounds available for canning purposes: 10 pounds through stamps 15 and 16, and 15 pounds by application at your local war price rationg board.

877 CONVICTED BY FBI FOR DRAFT VIOLATION

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Reporting 877 convictions for failure to register with draft boards in nearly three years enforcement of the conscription law, J. Edgar Hoover said Wednesday that by contrast with the last war compliance was "in a spirit of willingness and cheerfulness."

In the first year of the 1917 draft law, the director of the federal bureau of investigation said in a statement, there were about 10,000 prosecutions for failure to register.

By comparison, Hoover added, the FBI handled only 7,190 complaints from October, 1940, to July 1, and of these 5,455 were not willful violators, 435 were found to be inelgiible and 383 agreed to immediate induction without prosecution.

There have been about 22,000,000 registrations of men from 18 through 37 years of age.

Detroit has 370,000 more inhabitants than in 1940 and San Francisco-Oakland 236,000 more for the highest increases of any cities in the nation, according to an analysis of Ration Book Two totals by an advertising firm.

THE newest OPA scheme, which in time may filter down from Cleveland regional headquarters to East Liverpool, is a "shoe swap center" for children's outgrown shoes.

Details of the plan are being sent to each regional office, and according to OPA, the "shoe swap" program will work like this:

To the center would be taken all shoes which children have outgrown, but which still are wearable.

These shoes would be disinfected by methods approved by the U. S. public health service, cleaned up and minor repairs made under center auspices. Major repairs must be taken care of by the new owners of the shoes.

No Ration Stamp Required

Any growing child, whether or not he has contributed a pair of shoes, who actually needs another pair, is eligible to come to the center and be fitted without surrendering a ration stamp.

According to present plans for such centers throughout this region, the swapping program would apply to children's shoes only.

Fitting would be done by adults who understand the subject, such as local stores' shoe salesmen who volunteer their services.

Not A Charity Project

"Swap centers are in no sense charitable or salvage projects. They are aimed at getting into circulation idle shoes so that the present supply can be made to go further," says program sponsors.

Though the shoe panel of the East Liverpool ration board has received no designated date when such a center might be set up here, the regional office is expected to send details on a proposed local setup soon, says OPA.

Stores Lauded By WPB For Advertising Code

Within five weeks of its proposal, the country's leading retail stores have adopted and put into practice an advertising code prescribed by the war production board as a necessary step to avoid clothes rationing.

This quick and patriotic action has been hailed by all the war agencies as one of the most constructive steps yet taken to keep supply and demand balanced and to put off panic buying and further rationing steps as a consequence of such buying.

The WPB asked retail stores to refrain from threatening shortages, urging multiple purchases and to eliminate the word "sale" and the phrase: "It's scarce—buy now".

"Cooperation has been marvelous," said a WPB spokesman.

"As a result, clothes rationing seems unlikely and the available textile supply will be distributed fairly."

He added, however that the eventual success of the stores' sacrifices depends on the consumers' willingness to buy sparingly.

Price Offensive Set By OPA At Youngstown

Special To The Review.

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 5—A special crew of OPA enforcement experts will come here soon, it was revealed Wednesday, to assist police and prosecutors in enforcing price ceilings.

The double-barreled drive against black markets, made possible by the city's price ceiling ordinance, was agreed upon at a meeting of A. R. Fiorette of Cleveland, chief enforcement attorney for OPA, and City Law Director John A. Willo.

A Hartville farmer already has been fined $100 under the city ordinance and two wholesalers charged with ceiling violations have pleaded innocent and will get jury trials.

HE'S DIFFERENT. Most Itallian prisoners are happy and smile for the cameraman. This captured Italian officer, sitting atop a "throne" chair on a truck bound for a temporary prison camp, is an exception. He was taken near Rosolini, Sicily.

Wholesales Sausage Prices Are Boosted

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The office of price administration announced Wednesday that the wholesale price of pork sausage will be allowed to rise $1 a hundredweight provided the sausage is packed in sheep casings and it is sold in one-pound wax paper cartons. No increase will be permitted in the retail price.

LISBON BOARD FILLS 4TH GRADE VACANCY

Coach Appointee Released For Another School

LISBON, Aug. 5 — The Lisbon board of education has filled a fourth grade teaching vacancy and is casting about for other instructors in preparation for the resumption of school next month. At the same time the board released a coaching appointee from his contract.

Miss Helen Gilbert, who taught the fourth grade at the Lincoln school for several years and has been employed in a war plant in Cleveland during the summer months, has decided to continue in her work there and not return to Lisbon. Mrs. Leo J. Hockman of Hephner Hollow road, will succeed her. Mrs. Hockman taught in the schools of Center township for several years.

John Cavalier, who was coaching at Central Catholic school in Allentown, Pa., last year, was hired by the board as head coach of David Anderson High school, but on Tuesday was released at his request. Mr. Cavalier had accepted the position in the school here and had planned to assume his duties this month with the opening of football practice, but he asked to be released to accept a position in the Greentown, Stark county schools.

A vacancy yet to be filled is the place of H. L. Reuter, science instructor in the high school, who has been employed in the soil conservation office at the courthouse, and will continue in his present work.

Actress Gives 10%

HOLLYWOOD — Film scouts spotted 17-year-old Aureen Cannon, singer-dancer-actress and linguist in six languages, in a Broadway production and signed her up. In her Hollywood contract approved by Judge Joseph W. Vickers, 10 percent of her salary will go into war bonds unless the war ends before her contract does.

It's no secret. The Help Wanted ads that fill the vacancies are the ones that appeal to the reader's viewpoint.

SLAVE TO PURGATIVES FINDS FREEDOM!

Feels 20 Years Younger, He Says!

Everyone who has despaired of ever finding normal regularity should read this unsolicited letter:

"Six years ago, I was quite constipated. I'd taken many so-called 'cures', but it was the same old story. It seemed that each dose had to be stronger than the last. Then, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Soon I was 'regular' again, with none of the old griping pain. I'm 50, but feel younger than 20 years ago when I was a victim of common constipation." Mr. A. Bousfield, 426 S. Villa Avenue, Villa Park, Ill.

What's the secret of such reports of ALL-BRAN's wonderful results? It's simply this: Lack of certain cellulosic elements in the diet is a common cause of constipation. Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a rich, natural source of these elements—which help the colonic flora do their job—lightening and fluffing the accumulated waste for easy, natural evacuation. ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Not roughage that acts by "sweeping you out"! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food! Eat ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't find the relief you've dreamed of! Insist on the genuine ALL-BRAN! It is made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

MAYORAL RACE WILL HIGHLIGHT LISBON BALLOT

Incumbent Asks Nomination For Seventh Term; 7 Are Council Aspirants

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Aug. 5—What interest there is in the primary here next Tuesday will center on Mayor G. C. Rauch's bid for nomination for his seventh term as village mayor.

The incumbent, who has been making clean sweeps since he won the office 12 years ago, is opposed by Clyde V. Hadley, garage operator. Seven candidates also seek the six council posts.

All candidates are Republicans, since the Democrats did not enter a slate.

Mr. Rauch is a lifetime resident of Lisbon and president of the Rauch real estate and insurance agency. He is married and has one son. He is a member and trustee of the Presbyterian church, a member of the Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodges and the Kiwanis club.

World War Veteran

His opponent is owner of the Hadley garage. He is a member of the Methodist church, Masonic lodge and Elkrun Grange. Mr. Hadley, a First World War veteran, is married and has two daughters.

Six of the seven candidates for council are incumbents.

Harry Arter is completing his third term and is serving as president. He is proprietor of the Arter harness shop and is a member of the Methodist church. He is married and has one son.

L. H. Johnson, completing his second term, is a lifetime resident of Lisbon. He served for a number of years, as clerk of the county commissioners. Mr. Johnson is a photographer and operates a studio. He is a member of the Christian church, is married and has one son in the service.

Seeks Fourth Term

He has two sons and two daughters. His wife died in 1941. Mr. Van Fossan is a member of the Presbyterian church. He is seeking a fourth term.

Edward Heim, a member of the firm of Heim and Heim, sheet metal workers, is completing his fourth term. He is married, a member of the Methodist church, the Masonic lodge and a veteran of the First World War.

Graham Kearney, coal broker, is finishing his second term. He has been a resident of Lisbon for many years and is chairman of the Lisbon rationing board. Mr. Kearney is married and has a son. He is a member of St. George's Catholic church, the Kiwanis club, and a veteran of the First World war.

Clarence Ball, a foreman at the R. Thomas and Sons Co., is finishing his fifth term. He is a member of the American Legion and a trustee in the Methodist church. Mr. Ball is married and has a son in the service.

Operates Auto Supply

Henry Dawes is assistant secretary and treasurer of the National Brass and Copper Co., and is owner of the Dawes Auto Supply Co. Mr. Dawes is a member of Trinity Episcopal church and the Kiwanis club. He is married and has a son in the armed forces.

The remainder of the posts are uncontested with incumbents as candidates. They are: Clerk Kenneth W. Hiscox; treasurer, Helen Blackburn, and trustees, public affairs board, William M. Morgan, Robert T. Morris and John H. Vogan.

SEIZED AFTER ESCAPE. Lieut. Hans Peter Krug, German airman whose previous escape from a Canadian prison camp led to the conviction of treason of Max Stephan, Detroit restauranter, has been captured after an escape Monday night, it was announced today.

48-HOUR WEEK FIXED FOR NEARBY COUNTIES

By The Associated Press.

CANTON, Aug. 5—The war manpower commission's labor-management committee here today ordered a 48-hour work week for workers in Stark, Tuscarawas and Carroll counties and at Sebring in Mahoning county.

J. W Reinhardt, WMC director for the Canton area, said employers will have 30 days in which to attain the 48-hour week, adding the order applies to all employers of eight or more persons.

Applications for exemptions will be studied by the labor-management committee and the area WMC office, Reinhardt said.

Victory Gardener May Enter Produce At Wellsville Show

The first Victory Garden exhibit sponsored by the Wellsville Glad-Dahlia club will be held in conjunction with the ninth annual gladiolus show Aug. 14-15 in the first floor of the Odd Fellows building, Fifth and Main sts.

Any gardener, except professional growers, may enter and membership in the club is not required.

There will be no charge of any kind and all entries must be in place by 3:30 p. m. Saturday, the opening day of the show, to be eligible for judging.

Each entry will be shown on paper plates, provided by the club, first and second awards will be made in each class and a prize will be given for the best exhibit in each class. Vegetables will be returned to the owner at the close of the show, unless otherwise disposed of by notice to the secretary. All vegetables and containers must be removed Sunday night at 10.

The eighteen classes, vegetable and quantity of each required for exhibit, are:

(1) Beets, tops off, three; (2) beans, green, 12; (3) beans, yellow, 12; (4) cucumber, one; (5) carrots, tops off, three; (6) cabbage early, one; (7) corn, white, sweet, husks open on one side, three; (8) corn, yellow, sweet, husks open on one side, three; (9) pickles, six; (10) peppers, sweet, three; (11) peppers, hot, three; (12) tomatoes, three; (13) squash, summer, one; (14) potatoes, early, five; (15) salad greens, including lettuce, endive, spinach, etc. one bunch; (16) herbs, such as parsley, sage, thyme, etc. may be shown in a glass of water, one bunch; (17) other vegetables not listed above, three of small varieties and one of large varieties; (if sufficient entries of one variety is made a class will be created). (18) collection of more than five varieties arranged for artistic effect in a basket, tray or other container to be judged for eye appeal and quality of vegetables.

Schedules may be obtained from Mrs. W. M. Crawford, the secretary, or members of the club.

Since the garden show is being held at the request of the government everyone having a garden, whether it be a backyard plot, a larger one or a Victory plot, is asked to cooperate by entering some produce or fruit.

VOTE FAVORS STRIKE AT TWO WAR PLANTS

By The Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 5—No immediate work stoppage in two Springfield war plants is inticipated, labor leaders said today, despite a vote by a majority of employes in favor of a strike in the nation's first election under the anti-strike law.

More than 1,800 employes of two Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plants balloted Wednesday in the secret election held by the national labor relations board under provisions of the recently-enacted Smith-Connally law designed to forestall strikes.

The NLRB announced that 1,850 of the 2,200 employes eligible to vote cast ballots, 1,005 in favor of a strike and 836 against. Nine ballots were voided.

The election climaxed a dispute between district 50 of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the CIO United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers of America as to which union has jurisdiction over the maintenance and production workers at the two plants.

Donald McKay's packet "Lightning" holds the all-time record for a day's run under sail—436 nautical miles—faster than most steamers go today.

Piles Of Rubble

HAMBURG has been added to the destroyed cities of World war II. Its population has been terrorized and scattered. The German government, fearing a similar fate for Berlin, has ordered its evacuation. Aerial bombing of cities now has exceeded the expectations of all but the most enthusiastic champions of air power.

They are confirmed in their belief that more damage can be perpetrated in a few minutes of "saturation" bombing than was done in the sacking of Rome, Carthage, or Moscow by direct invasion. They are confirmed in their confidence of air power's ability to exact a heavier price for war than any nation can afford to pay.

The piles of rubble that represented great cities are mounting in number but the war is not over. There is no method yet known to ward off bombers, provided the power behind them is willing to pay the price. There is not even a known way of making the price exorbitant, despite British success against German bombers; Germany undoubtedly would be retaliating with mass raids on Britain today had not its fundamental strategy been altered by the stalemate in Russia.

And still the reduction of cities to rubble is hardly out of the experimental stage. More powerful planes and more destructive bombs must wait on the outcome of the war now in progress. The weapon so powerful that men will not dare to raise it in anger lest they destroy themselves is in sight.

No Easy Outs

MUSSOLINI'S disappearance has come and gone, and the Allies still are waging war in Italy. It has been a good lesson.

There will be no easy outs in this war, except accidental ones. A Mussolini, a Hitler and a Tojo can be toppled without positive effect.

What the people feel is less important than what their leaders do. Revolution against a government rarely is clean-cut and incisive; it is frequently a grinding process of trial and error.

Soldiers in the field, being at grips with war's realism all the time, are not likely to make the common civilian mistake of expecting more than the circumstances warrant. Gen. Eisenhower, Gen. Alexander and their staffs probably anticipated nothing but the prospect of a hard campaign in Sicily, developing into a hard campaign in southern Italy, with the Germans ultimately making a tremendous stand somewhere in the north of the peninsula.

They were not unmindful of the possibility that something might happen to make things better than they promised to be, but they did not depend on it. Their countrymen now are reconciled to a similar point of view. No easy cuts are to be expected—in Italy, in Germany, or in Japan.

August Sound Effect

ALL the time wasted in hunting for the simile to describe the sound of locusts pulsing in the sultry air of August could have been saved by greater familiarity with the war worker's alarm clock—the kind that substitutes a buzzer for a bell.

It is indistinguishable on an August afternoon from the whirring of the locusts in the trees outside the windows—the same rhythmic rise to the crescendo, the same dwindling into silence. But one would need to be listening to the clocks at exactly the right time to get the complete effect—the time when they are buzzing by the score.

Otherwise, the distinguished characteristic of August's chief sound effect would be lost. When the locusts are in tune, they never stop.

Their shrill buzzing is caught up endlessly by new performers as old ones tire and run down. Science says the relentless music is concerned somehow with mating, but humans understand it only is something that comes with August, like burned-out grass, goldenrod and tomatoes by the bushel.

So accustomed are they to the sound effect they forget it is there, but let it stop for a moment and the silence roars until it is overcome by another zz-zz-zz-zz-zz-ZZ-ZZ-ZZ-zz-zz-zz! What would August be without it?

Mr. Landon Adds His Bit

IN a speech which fortunately didn't get much attention, Alfred M. Landon charged that the "American Fascists" mentioned by Vice President Wallace are all in the New Deal.

Mr. Landon now can join Mr. Wallace in the corner. Whatever an "American Fascist" may be, if there is such a thing, neither political party can claim a monopoly.

When Mr. Wallace introduced the phrase, he obviously was using a tar brush on the opposition; it was his contribution to the Roosevelt administration's smear word vocabulary. The vice president of the United States should be above such tactics. So should a former presidential candidate of the Republican party.

If Messrs. Wallace and Landon haven't anything better to do than call names as their contribution to the discussion of current problems, their cue for the duration should be silence.

By comparison with the people of other countries, Americans still live in luxury.—Rep. James W. Wadsworth of New York.

Finns At War

The People Are Tired Of Fighting But Won't Quit For Fear That Reds Will Move In As 'Liberators'

(John Colburn, after a trip to Finland, tells of living conditions in the war-ravaged country, and of the aspirations of the people.)

By JOHN H. COLBURN
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM — Finland's war-scarred men and resources, the shabbiness in dress that is stylish, empty shop windows and extremely rigid food rationing mirror the havoc caused by two years of warfare.

The current war is their second in four years and the people are tired of war, but it is a psychological weariness that comes from the inability to get good food or a real cup of coffee; from having to crowd into packed trolley cars, clump around in wood-soled shoes or wear clothing fabricated from paper textiles—apparel which becomes useless after several hard rains.

People still can laugh and have a good time, especially the younger generation, and morale is high despite the general desire for peace.

Everyone would like to get back the fine prosperous life which they led before 1939, but maintain they cannot until Finland's independence is assured.

Most of Helsinki's bomb scars are healed but much of the Karelian isthmus is devastated. Viipuri is still a city of naked walls.

Only 55 homes were rebuilt in Karkisalmi, where 800 were set afire as the Russians retreated two years ago.

THE Finns burned hundreds of their own farm houses during the winter of 1940 and many farm families are living in two-room temporary houses, Many of them prefabricated by soldiers during idle hours in the listless front lines.

Reconstruction work is slow due to limited manpower and lack of materials. Finland's small-scale pattern of the gigantic reconstruction job that faces Europe forecasts a troublesome problem after peace comes.

In some respects Finland is like an occupied country. Due to the Allied blockade she is economically dependent on Germany. It is a daily sight to see uniformed German soldiers, sailors and young girl members of the Nazi army auxiliary in the streets of Helsinki.

The German band even gives concerts in one summer restaurant.

But where there was much heiling in the streets two years ago, there is little now, and the Nazi flag seldom is seen.

Despite the presence of the Germans, the people are beginning to talk of an Allied victory. That trend of thought since the fall of Tunisia and the invasion of Sicily has increased although the Finnish press still is prevented from saying anything detrimental about Germany.

Some sections of the Finnish press have gone so far as to try and disillusion the people about Axis victory chances and the German foreign office has protested.

WHEN asked why they do not withdraw from the war and let the Germans occupy the country, the Finns reply, in effect:

"We can't do that. Germany will lose the war and the Bolsheviks will march in as liberators and we would suffer like Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania in 1940."

The Finns are as stubborn as they are tough and they are determined to battle for independence just as they have fought nature to cultivate farmlands out of the rock crust left by the ice age.

Two-thirds of the nation's 3,800,000 population are engaged in agriculture or forestry and most of them are spread around the country's lakes, swamps and forests in isolated communities, where they must depend on their own self reliance to combat the frigid winters to earn a livelihood.

No one is starving and food conditions are better than in 1918, but the average family must reply principally on potatoes, fish and dark bread except during the vegetable season. About 20,000 children have been sent to Sweden to get proper nourishment.

The food problem is complicated by bad harvests since 1938.

The employment situation, aided by the scarcity of consumer goods, is leaving the stores with little need for manpower. Many establishments not only boarded their windows to protect the glass from bomb splinters but because they had nothing to display. The people spend most of their extra money on amusement, with American motion pictures being popular.

Most of the people have lost weight, but health generally is good although tuberculosis is increasing and nervousness caused by air raids and alarms is resulting in more heart disease. Doctor O. S. K. Reinikainen, chief of the medical board, reported fewer epidemics than in other war years.

There has been an increase in crime.

Reinikainen said the care of invalids will be the biggest post-war medical problem. From the winter war there were 8,000 crippled men among the 57,000 wounded, the Red Cross reported. No official casualty figures will be released until after this war, but estimates place the dead at 50,000 and the wounded at 100,000.

During the winter war of 1939-40, 23,000 were killed and the Red Cross is busy caring for 7,000 war widows and 20,000 fatherless children.

Auto Toll Declines

WHATEVER may be the other effects of gasoline rationing and the ban on pleasure driving, these wartime restrictions on the use of automobiles have brought about a reduction of the motor vehicle accident toll in this country to the level of two decades ago, according to statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

During the first six months of 1943, the mortality from this cause among the company's policyholders was 11.6 per 100,000, approximately the rate which prevailed in the first half of 1922, and represents a drop of 37 percent from the first half of 1942.

While statisticians anticipate that the motor vehicle accident death rate will continue to improve during the last half of 1943, they do not look for any such startling drop for the year as a whole as was registered in the first six months.

Restrictions on automobile driving already had brought down the mortality from motor vehicle accidents to a relatively low level in the latter part of 1942, with the result that the difference in mortality for the two years undoubtedly will be less during the second six months of the year than in the first.

The statisticians predict that the automobile accident mortality for the full year will be approximately 13 per 100,000 policyholders, about the same rate as registered in the early 1920's.

Automobile drivers and passengers, rather than pedestrians, have been the principal beneficiaries.

While mortality due to collisions between automobiles decreased about 30 percent between 1942 and the year before, pedestrian deaths declined by only 15 percent.

Smaller reduction for pedestrians was due, in part, to carelessness in crossing streets and highways because of diminished traffic, and to inadequate lighting.

"It is gratifying that the number of deaths from automobile accidents has dropped materially at this time when manpower is so vitally needed," the statisticians comment.

"For many years those in the safety movement have been working toward a sizeable reduction in the death toll from this cause.

"In some measure their efforts have been fruitful — the death rate figured on a mileage basis has been lower in recent years than formerly.

"There also has been an appreciable drop in deaths from automobile accidents among children under 15 years of age.

"It is somewhat disappointing, however, that the recent sharp decline has been brought about mainly by diminished traffic and decreased mileage and not by safeguards to pedestrian and driver."

Agricultural Success Story

Dr. John R. Mohler, Who Helped Develop Livestock Industry, Now Has Retired

By OVID MARTIN

He is Dr. John R. Mohler, who was chief of the agriculture department's bureau of animal industry, an agency which stands guard over the health of the nation's multi-billion-dollar dairy, feed cattle, hog, sheep, and poultry industry to assure Americans a stable supply of disease-free meat, dairy and poultry products.

Dr. Mohler retired after serving 46 years in the bureau, of which 26 were spent as its chief.

A man of commanding personality, 68-year-old Dr. Mohler was able to obtain funds from congress for scientific research programs where secretaries of agriculture often failed. His clipped mustache and restrained goatee were distinguishing personal characteristics.

Perhaps his most outstanding achievement was the eradication of bovine tuberculosis, which threatened the milk supply several years ago. This country is also one of the few great nations of the world free of the terrible livestock scourge, foot and mouth disease.

Dr. Mohler sponsored the improvement of domestic animals by research in genetics and the application of scientific knowledge to practical stock breeding. Through his encouragement, the government obtained breeding stock from abroad. He sponsored also an effective nation-wide plan of poultry improvement, involving breeding and disease-control.

A lover of horses, he directed the improvement of Morgan horses at an agriculture department farm in Vermont. Many fine specimens, some of which have been used in army horse breeding, have resulted from this project.

In commenting on Dr. Mohler's retirement, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said he had "helped the department of agriculture perform a great service for the people of the United States—a service from which all of us have received many benefits."

Dr. Mohler was a native of Philadelphia. He entered government service as a veterinarian inspector shortly after finishing his college education in 1897.

'Right Down Uncle Sam's Alley'

ROSIE the Riveter, Wanda the Welder, Mack the Machinist and Larry the Lather get a break in another of the new booklets aimed at letting war workers know what they are doing to speed victory for our side. This one is about airplanes.

What goes on beneath the hood of an automobile is as mysterious to most drivers as the whereabouts of Mussolini, but an automobile engine is child's play compared to modern airplane engines.

However, this is a condition destined in the near future to be revolutionized. After the war an airplane may be parked in everyone's garage, maybe two airplanes.

Ao assist Rosie, Wanda and the average man up to the first rung in the ladder toward understanding what makes an airplane tick, General Motors Corp. has published "Airplane Power", with special reference to engines and altitudes.

Simplifying intricate aeronautical engineering problems in admirable fashion, the booklet nonetheless is struggling with a subject which is beclouded to anyone whose closest association with aircraft is the fence at an airport.

The publication touches only on the A, B, C's of airplane engines. The disinterested reader still may say, "It's all Greek to me."

Examples of this are: "The tip speed of an airplane propeller must be kept below the speed of sound . . . which incidentally accounts for the fact that a bullet does not need a streamlined tail!"

General Motors undoubtedly welcomes suggestions on efficiency from its employes but when it comes to the finer points of physics and airplane design, most employes who think they have a brand new idea probably find out they are about the umpteenth person to "originate" the unworkable principle.

The booklet should do much to forestall workers at General Motors asking foremen difficult questions.

THE booklet describes the propeller tip speed limitation thus: "When any object reaches the speed of sound — about 750 miles an hour — there is an enormous and sudden increase in drag. The air fails to follow the usual laws that govern its behavior.

"The pressure generated at the forward point cannot get out of the way and so must be carried bodily along by the power of the moving object.

"Furthermore, the air no longer will close in at the rear end of the object which incidentally accounts for the fact that a bullet does not need a streamlined tail!"

Half of the book is devoted to describing principles underlying the use of superchargers.

Following a discussion of airplane motors lacking enough air in high altitudes for proper combustion and power production, this description of the purpose of a supercharger is given:

"Next we come to the possibility of boosting the power by increasing the destiny of the air before it is supplied to the cylinders.

"In other words, if instead of using the outside air just as it is, we could compress it to a greater density, we then would be able to get more of it into the cylinders, thus providing greater power without increasing the size of the engine and without having to run it at undesirable speeds.

"This can be accomplished through the use of a blower mechanism or pressure fan connected with the fuel intake system. Such a mechanism is called a 'supercharger'."

THAT is simple enough, but from here on, the aeronautical engineers who supplied the information for the booklet pour it on.

Among reasons why the supercharger principle cannot be carried on to infinity until a plane is built which can fly to the sun are:

Compressing the air raises its temperature, which makes it difficult to handle and increases the work better on cool mixtures and when a mixture gets too hot disorderly combustion results which might seriously injure the engine; engines must be designed to withstand the higher stresses resulting from the extra power; energy expended in running the super-charger detracts from the total power produced by the engine; the bigger and heavier the engine and supercharger the bigger and heavier the airplane must be. So it goes.

To these problems add those of designing airplanes for specific tasks, such as those built for trainers, carriers, observation, bombers and fighters, with necessary variations in the design of each to suit the altitude at which it will operate, the speed required and the load it will carry. Then you really have yourself a job.

The delicate balance between possible victory or defeat for a nation — for that matter the United Nations — is nicely put in a discussion of four hypothetical fighter planes. Word comes in that an enemy bomber is 90 miles away and heading for a city.

RATES of climb of the four planes to 25,000 feet are, respectively, 6, 8, 11 and 15 minutes. The first three would get to the bomber before it reached the city, but the two slower fighter planes would not have as much time to attack as the fastest one.

However, they might have more armor, more gasoline capacity and more and bigger guns with which to attack.

The fourth plane would have even more of these than the other three, but its just being able to toe with the bomber in reaching 25,000 feet over the city virtually rules it out.

All the reader has to do is what United States and other Allied engineers and military authorities already have done very successfully—figure out which plane to put into quantity production.

The booklet contains this statement by Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, U. S. chief of service of supply: "When Hitler hitched his chariot to an internal combustion engine, he ran it right down Uncle Sam's alley."

"We're not depriving you, are we?"

Empty Promises

Either We Grant Servicemen Those Post-War Benefits At Once Or They Never Will Receive Them

By DAMON RUNYON

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT indorses in principle the campaign I have been carrying on in this column the last year for provision for men discharged from the service for a period of time that will enable them to readjust themselves to civilian life without immediate financial worries. He puts the idea in a slightly different form.

I do not think his form is as good as mine. I contend the men should continue to receive service pay for at least a year after their discharge. In his recent speech, President Roosevelt suggested that each member of the armed forces and the merchant marine should receive mustering-out pay on discharge large enough to cover "a reasonable period of time between his discharge and the finding of a new job." The "reasonable period" turned out to be three months.

In case no job is found after diligent search, then the serviceman is to get unemployment insurance if the individual registers with the United States employment service, which sounds fine, though how anyone can determine what amount would be large enough to cover a reasonable period of time between a man's discharge and the finding of a new job is beyond me. I would hate to trust to the generosity of the government in that respect, taking it off past performance, or to the liberality of the United States employment service.

Moreover, President Roosevelt's remarks might be taken as meaning he thinks the men should be paid the full sum of the mustering-out pay in a lump. I think the American Legion with its experience in the payment of the bonus will bear me out in my opinion that it will be better for the men themselves if the payments are scattered rather than to plunk down the money alloted each man in a job at a time when many veterans are likely to be lacking in financial judgment.

BUT in any event, there is a bug in the bucket. President Roosevelt states the things to which he says he thinks the men are entitled. He says he thinks the men are entitled. He says they must not be demobilized into an environment of inflation and unemployment, to a place on a bread line or on a corner selling apples. He says we must have plans ready, instead of waiting to do a hasty, inefficient and ill-considered job at the last moment, which is the same thing I have been saying for a year.

So have many others. Yet no plans are really ready. President Roosevelt hopes congress will help in carrying out his assurance to the men in the armed forces that the American people will not let them down when the war is won because, as he says, obviously the executive branch of the government cannot do it alone. But congress, with several bills before it that would make definite the pay continuance and otherwise give confidence to the servicemen of their future, has done little or nothing to confirm that assurance which was first made some time back.

Thus, it all simmers down to promises, the same old promises that have been held out to the men in all our wars. Even most of the other things which President Roosevelt says he thinks the men are entitled to are things that should have been made definite long ago.

"May the congress do its duty in this regard," says President Roosevelt. "The American people will insist on fulfilling this American obligation to the men and women in the armed forces who are winning this war for us."

I FERVENTLY echo this hope, but I cannot wax too optimistic about his faith in the attitude of the American people with respect to the men and women in the armed forces if we wait until the war is over before trying to get something done for the boys—and girls. The American people (again going to past performance) will insist only on their right to squawk about any proposals for the benefit of the veterans that will involve an additional penny of expense.

All the obligations to the veterans the people will recognize, you can put in your eye, as the saying is. You can ask the veterans of the First World war about this, if you wish. Ask them how many of the American people stepped up to them after the war and said: "I am under obligation to you and am working tooth and nail for you to get your bonus."

Remember what I tell you. If we wait until the war is over without getting definite legislation providing for the veterans, the only time you ever will hear of those promises again will be in the platforms of the two parties every four years for the next 20 years.

Pictures Do Lie

By Truman Twill

WE still want to know where they get the fakes whose pictures appear in the advertisements to help make us want to buy stuff.

This morning when we slumped into a kitchen chair which had jelly spilled on it and dug despondently into a bowl of pallid material to see whether it tasted as bad as the lukewarm coffee that had been left standing too long, we thought about the breakfast food fellow. He's the one who romps down to breakfast bright-eyed and bushy-tailed, loads up on zingy, whizzy vitamins that are all crunchy and tasty, then gallops down to the war plant or the office or wherever he's going—and gets another raise.

Where do they find that guy? Where do they find his simpering wife who's always grinning like a fool because she's eating breakfast—and where do they find all those unbearable kids who scream for a second bowl of Seedies?

Another thing we'd like is the lowdown on the frauds who model glasses—no, not drinking glasses. The contraptions you balance on your beak, with things you hook over your ears—four-eyed glasses. Millions of people wear 'em. They wear 'em twisted and battered and stuck together with chewing gum and quick-drying cement, wrapped with thread to make them bearable, smeared with flecks of potatoes and fly specks, lopsided, cracked, mutilated and bent.

They curse their fate, and girls walk in blindness for the first 20 years, or until they have landed their man, before they admit they need glasses, too. But to look at the pictures you'd think everybody looked handsome in the monstrosities.

Not to be nasty or anything, but something else we want to find out is where the soap people get those babes who whisk through a washing as though it was no trouble at all, get the thing dried, sprinkled, ironed and put away and rush to the photographer's studio while the dew is still on the roses to grimace at their loving public with those great big, gleaming white teeth while they announce in words of one syllable: "It is fun to wash the bloop way."

Years of investigation on wash day never have disclosed any babes in laundries. When they wash, they all look like wash women.

There are more, but for the present we will settle for these and for the fellow who sits down at the table in the living room with his pipe in his teeth and his gorgeous family clustered 'round him to think seriously about his life insurance while the lights are low.

In real life a fellow thinking about his life insurance is on the flat of his back in a corner with an agent choking off his wind while his family kicks him in the short ribs to make the stubborn old goat sneeze up more dough to grease their future when they push him in front of a truck.

A Quick Glance At The World's News:

From Washington—

'Functioning Efficiently'

Secretary Hull asserted Wednesday the state department is "functioning efficiently".

That was part of his response to a request for comment on a published assertion that "conflicting personalities, lack of a cohesive policy and a resulting impairment of the efficiency of the department of state at a time when it must assume tremendous burdens relating to the effectiveness of the coming peace have been reported by administrative experts to the executive office of the President." (This appeared in the New York Times, in a special dispatch from Washington.)

Hull told his press conference: "I have no comment to make except that I might say that, having been in the department for some 10 years and more and charged with all the responsibility of its administration, I think I know something about what is going on in the department.

"It is functioning efficiently and I am prepared at any time to give the fullest accounting to any person or agency. That is all I have in mind at the moment."

The published account said "rivalry between Secretary Hull and Undersecretary Sumner Welles is common knowledge" here and that "great concern is felt in Washington over the ability of the state department, in its present organizational condition, to fulfill the added tasks imposed by the President."

Rail Strike Ballot Held Up

Officers of 15 railway labor unions approved a strike ballot Wednesday but agreed not to issue it pending further conferences with railroad officials, starting Friday.

A strike vote might result in government seizure and operation of the roads for the duration. Railroad officials, anxious to avert this, were reported willing to discuss an agreement to be submitted jointly with the unions for government approval.

The unions represent more than 1,000,000 non-operating employes. An emergency board which heard their demands for an increase of 20 cents an hour and a minimum wage of 70 cents an hour recommended an increase of 8 cents. Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson set aside the recommendation.

Wire Closing Probe Ordered

The federal communications commission Wednesday ordered an investigation into the recent closing of Postal Telegraph offices in connection with the firm's proposed merger with Western Union.

The action followed a complaint filed June 26 by the American Communications association that such closures are causing "discontinuances, reductions and impairment" of telegraph service.

Both Postal and Western Union officials testified at recent hearings that the closings have not resulted in any impairment of service.

A. P. Writer Honored

John A. Moroso III, Associated Press correspondent with the Atlantic fleet, won a commendation Wednesday for his "courage, fortitude and resolution of purpose" during the Allied invasion of Sicily the morning of July 10.

The commendation came from the commanding officer of the American transport to which Moroso was assigned. The officer recommended that Moroso be given the silver star medal or some other suitable award for his courageous participation in a combat action.

Package Restrictions Relaxed

Restrictions on the size and weight of packages that may be delivered by eastern states retailers have been relaxed by the office of defense transportation to permit delivery of merchandise ordered by mail or telephone without regard to size or weight.

Retailers also may deliver gifts and make deliveries to return or replace property delivered in error without regard to the size and weight limitations.

Around The Nation—

Correspondent Operated On

NEW YORK — George Tucker, Associated Press war correspondent injured in a plane crash in Algiers May 16, was operated on successfully for a bloodclot on his brain Wednesday in a New York hospital.

Tucker, former Broadway columnist who had been on war duty in the Middle East, returned to this country Tuesday by plane under the care of Capt. James J. Ryan, chief of the neurological division of the United States army base hospital at Cairo.

He was injured while returning from the Tunisian war front where he had been on duty with the British motor torpedo boat flotillas which were making forays into Tunis harbor just before the city's fall.

Tucker was a passenger in an army transport which had landed on the Maison Blanche airport at Algiers when another plane which was carrying Col. Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son, taxied in and collided with the transport.

No one in Col. Roosevelt's plane was injured, but Tucker was thrown against the side of the transport and suffered a brain concussion.

Tojo Asks More Planes

NEW YORK — Premier Hideki Tojo of Japan, addressing workers at the Mitsuishi aircraft factory at Nagoya, called for "a far better achievement," qualitatively and quantitatively, in the production of Japanese aircraft, a Tokyo broadcast said Wednesday.

WAC's Ask Discharge

FORT CUSTER, Mich.—Twenty-one percent of the WAC membership in three companies here has requested discharge in preference to re-enlisting for regular army service, Lieut. A. T. Etcheson, public relations officer, has announced.

Etcheson said a survey conducted to determine reasons for their failure to re-enlist as regular army personnel under new war department regulations showed many of the young women are wives of soldiers who originally expected to be sent overseas but who still are in the United States.

As a result, he explained, many of them applied for discharges so they could join their husbands. Others said that they are needed at home, where illness has stricken a working member of the family.

Will Scan Replacement Schedules

COLUMBUS—Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, said Wednesday that replacement schedules, under which employers in essential industry classifications agreed to release a six-month period 70 to 75 percent of their draft-eligible men, will be considered when the induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers begins this fall.

Capt. Lester J. Burbidge, in charge of replacement schedules at state selective service headquarters, indicated fathers in plants which cooperated in the plan "early" might not be called before early next year.

Maternity Plan Parley Due

COLUMBUS — Dr. C. C. Sherburne of Columbus, president of the Ohio State Medical association, announced Wednesday the organization's council will meet "quite soon" with Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, to discuss developments on a federal offer to provide free maternity care for wives of enlisted servicemen.

The health department recently rejected the government's offer after the council objected to its adoption on the ground it might lead towards socialized medicine. The federal plan would pay the cost of maternity care for wives of men below the rank of army sergeant and navy men of comparable rank.

Dr. Sherburne in a letter to Dr. Markwith said, "I am not in a position to predict what action the council will take but I am confident that it will make every possible effort to clarify the misunderstandings which have arisen and to work out ways of assisting servicemen's families in meeting their medical problems."

Chicken Production Boosted

COLUMBUS—Ohio farms produced approximately 38,631,000 chickens this year, an increase of 14 percent over the number produced in the spring of 1942, the federal-state crop reporting service announced Wednesday.

The state ranks eighth among the states in the number of young chickens produced in 1943, the service said.

It also reported prices received by farmers for agricultural products are higher generally than a year earlier. Hog prices, however, are 60 cents per hundredweight below July, 1942, prices.

The items showing the greatest price gains within the year are wheat, oats, barley, rye, apples, hay, chickens, butter, butterfat and milk.

From Abroad—

Calls Nazi Balkan Hold Slim

CAIRO—Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, British commander-in-chief of the Middle East, expressed doubt Wednesday that the Germans could hold the Balkans with their present forces in the event of an Italian collapse, but was of the opinion that they will try as long as possible.

In answer to a question about speedy occupation of the Balkans, Wilson, who was commander of unsuccessful British forces in Greece in 1941, cautioned:

Changed conditions will require a vast reorganization in the Middle East, he explained, saying the main role of the Middle East at the present stage of the war is to supply the North African striking forces.

"As long as Gen. Eisenhower wants our resources they are at his disposal," the general said. "We have a certain number of forces which can be used for occupation purposes."

U. S. Triples Bomb Load

CAIRO—Ninth air force headquarters announced Wednesday that American bombers operating from the Middle East nearly tripled their bomb load delivery on Axis targets during July over the previous month.

The July total was 9,894,322 pounds against 3,694,640 in June. During the last nine months, more than 30,000,000 pounds of explosives have been hurled at the enemy by the Ninth air force.

Nazi Aluminum Plant Razed

LONDON—An official Norwegian spokesman said Wednesday information has been received that the American daylight raid on Heroya, Norway, July 24, wiped out the new Nazi aluminum factory there and destroyed other factory areas, a power station and two anti-aircraft batteries.

He said the director of the aluminum factory, which was the main target of the Flying Fortress attack, had reported its destruction was so complete it cannot be rebuilt during the war. Forty-two persons were reported killed and 100 injured.

Field Marshal's Son Promoted

Gen. Edward von Mackensen, youngest son of 93-year-old Field Marshal von Mackensen of First World war fame, has been promoted to colonel general in the German army, the Berlin radio announced Wednesday in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

Eberhard von Mackensen has been an army group commander since 1939. His eldest brother, Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen, is German ambassador to Italy.

Dehydrators Being Made

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — Electrically-heated and thermostatically-controlled home dehydrators expected to sell at $39.95 each are expected to be rolling in quantity off production lines in a few days, an electrical manufacturing company here has announced. The units are made of non-strategic materials and have been "in the works" for many months. Each unit can dehydrate two-thirds of a bushel of fruit or root vegetables at a time or a full bushel of greens. About 100,000 are expected to be manufactured.

without shame the thought of coming peace."

There was little news of disturbances in Italy early today, but reports from frontier towns said that half-hour strikes are continuing in Milan and in factories in other industrial cities in northern Italy as a protest against the government's insistence that the war must be continued.

Reported from Rome today was establishment of a commission to investigate the riches that Fascist officeholders were reported to have acquired between Oct. 22, 1922, and July 14, 1943, during the reign of Fascism. Fortunes irregularly obtained, it was said, will be confiscated by the state.

King Refused To Put Mussolini In Hitler's Hands

By The Associated Press.

MADRID, Aug. 5—King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy politely but firmly turned down a request by Adolf Hitler that Benito Mussolini be handed over to the Germans for safekeeping following his fall from power, it was reported here today.

The king's refusal was given to Reichmarshal Hermann Goering, who was sent to Rome by Hitler last week to find why Mussolini was deposed, travelers from the Italian capital said.

Goering was reported to have told the king that Hitler fears Mussolini's life is in danger as long as he remains in Italy.

ONLY MILITARY SITES BATTERED IN CATANIA

By The Associated Press.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 5—Precision bombing smashed military targets inside Catania, but left the city itself virtually unscathed, an R.A.F. pilot reported today as British troops entered the vital objective.

All hangars were damaged at the airdrome and one administration building had received a direct hit from a heavy bomb. Some attempt at repairs had been started, then nullified when bombs blew holes in repaired sections.

The railway switching yards are pitted with craters from heavy bombs and two large sheds were gutted.

Some of the new port facilities which will be valuable for Allied shipping almost are untouched by high explosives.

ACTION DUE SOON ON RATIONED GAS

Ban On Pleasure Driving In East Believed Near End

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said Wednesday eastern motorists can look forward to action next week on the pleasure driving ban but refused to say flatly that it will be lifted.

It nevertheless is anticipated that the promised action will be an announcement that the prohibition will be removed in the reasonably near future inasmuch as both Brown and his new chief-assistant, Chester Bowles, are opposed to that regulation.

Indications are that the step will be accompanied by an equalization of gasoline rationing between the eastern shortage area and the rest of the nation except the far west.

Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes has said several times that equaliztaion is in the offing.

Under existing regulations, eastern "A" card holders receive an average of only one and a half gallons of gasoline a week, while the "A" coupon is good for four gallons weekly in the remainder of the country.

Ickes and top members of his staff went to Chicago today for a session with a group of congressmen on the question of whether the midwest and southwest should have less gasoline.

One member of an unofficial midwest congressional rationing committee from each of 32 mid-continent states was summoned for the meeting by the chairman, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R.) of Ohio.

Ickes notified the committee last week that changes in gasoline rationing are in prospect.

Gasoline rationing procedure rapidly "is becoming a complete farce," the Oil and Gas Journal said today at Tulsa, Okla.

"The solution to this problem lies in adoption of an equitable rationing program and then enforcing it."

This brings to 27,875 the total of navy, marine corps and coast guard casualties reported to next of kin since Dec. 7, 1941. The grand total includes 8,857 dead, 4,889 wounded, 9,970 missing and 4,159 prisoners of war.

William B. Scott Dies In Crash Of Bomber

William "Bill" Scott, 26, son of Will J. Scott, who was industrial secretary of the East Liverpool Y. M. C. A. between 1922 and 1925, was killed in a bomber crash July 30 in Arizona, friends of the former "Y" executive were notified here today.

Mr. Scott, who left here in 1925 for Hamilton, and who also was on the "Y" staffs at Chicago and Ft. Wayne, now is associated with the New York "Y" war services.

In a letter written to friends here, Mr. Scott relayed news of his son's death which came only two weeks after the flier had been home on leave after serving in the Caribbean area and in Peru.

The crash occurred 30 miles from the training field at Tucson, Ariz., where the former East Liverpool youth had been stationed only nine days as an instructor.

The entire crew of the B-24 bomber was killed in the crash, according to the letter from Mr. Scott, who resides at 3900 Greystone ave., New York city.

In addition to his father, the flier is survived by his mother, who is critically ill in a New York hospital; one sister, Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, whose husband is an air force navigator at Alamagorda, N. M., and his wife, Mrs. Phyllis Scott of Ft. Wayne.

CONTINUING DROP DUE FOR CONSUMER GOODS

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Cautioning civilians to expect a "continuing drop" in consumer goods and services during the war, the office of civilian requirements today handed the war production board a tentative program for production of what it regards as enough necessities to keep the civilian economy functioning adequately.

Arthur D. Whiteside, OCR director and vice chairman of WPB, did not make public the kind and quantities of goods to be manufactured.

District Heeds Pleas To Give Recreational Help To Army Camps

Response to the East Liverpool Red Cross appeal for recreation facilities and supplies for Shenango replacement center and the Deshon Military hospital has been generous, Red Cross officials said today.

The camp is near Sharpsville, Pa. and the hospital is near Butler.

After 44 representatives of civic, fraternal and social organizations met Tuesday night and heard of the serious need for recreation rooms for the soldiers, voluntary donations are being made in a steady stream by phone call and car to the Red Cross headquarters in the Mary Patterson memorial.

Collected thus far in the "attic hunting" program have been card tables, playing cards, baseball uniforms with bats and balls, several easy chairs, record players, magazine subscriptions and radios.

"We hope this will be only the beginning of a real avalanche of goods for outfitting day-rooms and bare-looking recreation rooms at the camp," Miss Ethel M. Pierce, Red Cross executive secretary, said.

Persons interested in helping the newly-organized camp-and-hospital council need not belong to any group or club, officials stressed, but may call the Red Cross office or Standley T. Hilbert, chairman of the transportation committee, to have their donations collected and taken to the "Shenango storeroom" on the Diamond.

Officials said they hope to designate two days weekly as "pick-up" days, during which the transportation committee can make all calls at once. These will be announced as soon as arrangements are completed.

RUSSIA

tion of 91,000, had been fortified extensively with the hedge-hog system of defense since it was occupied by the German army Oct. 8, 1941.

Will Re-Open Rail Lines

It is the hinge and key defense position of the long south-central German line extending to the Sea of Azov and its recapture will re-open vital railway lines linking the Ukraine with Moscow.

(The Berlin radio's announcement did not state the extent of the German withdrawal, but the next position of importance is Bryansk, 80 miles to the west.

The Germans have only one remaining rail link between Orel nad Bryansk and the Russian column advancing from the north already has been reported within five miles of that line, holding it well within artillery range.)

The Russians also reported new successes at Belgorod, 165 miles south of Orel, where they said they smashed ahead for gains up to six miles and improved their positions..

(In London, it generally is believed Orel's fall will have an immediate and far-reaching effect on German morale, which already has suffered this summer from Allied victories in Sicily, the Italian crisis and intensified Allied aerial attacks on German industrial cities.)

WAR PARLEY

vasion army may have but to smash the outer walls of the continental defenses in order to have the whole thing collapse. The high command, it seems, must decide whether air can do the job.

Such questions ordinarily are reserved for decision by the President and prime minister and their chiefs-of-staff for land, sea and air.

Never before in the war have the Anglo-American and their Allied associates been compelled to deal with events so climactic or fast-moving.

Churchill himself posed the question of using air power to crush Germany when he addressed the congress May 19. He reported then that opinion was divided "as to whether air power by itself could bring about the collapse in Germany or Italy," he added:

"The experiment is well worth trying so long as other measures are not excluded."

The experiment has been underway several weeks. Other measures have not been lacking. On the eastern front the Russians countered Germany's major attempt at an offensive with a drive which has resulted in the fall of Orel.

Military authorities say the German army still is powerful and well equipped, but the fall of Orel definitely weakens its hold on the eastern front.

Likewise in Sicily the fall of Catania may be regarded as the beginning of the end of enemy resistance to the first Allied invasion thrust into the immediate area of Europe.

Catania dominates the Catania plain where some of the bitterest fighting of the Sicilian campaign has been ragng as the Eighth army hammered against strong mine fields and artillery and tank defenses of crack German troops.

The text of the special communique:

The city of Catania has been in our hands since 8:30 a. m. this morning.

"It is the British Eighth army which has entered the town."

Official reports said Montgomery's triumph at Catania, as brilliant as any he achieved in Africa, was made at a relatively slight cost of his soldiers' lives.

Catania can be converted rapidly to Allied use. The big port once accomodated 2,000 ships a year and liners of 50-foot draft entered there.

An official report said relations between German and Italian troops are worsening. One Italian captured in Catania said he had been a sapper but was forced into the infantry for the final defense of the city during which "I killed more Germans than I killed Englishmen."

78,000 WAR WORKERS IN STATE FACE DRAFT

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 5—Col. C. W. Goble, state director of selective service, said today 78,000 war workers in 800 Ohio plants are subject to the draft and that about 70.7 percent of the eligibles will be called within six months.

Goble explained selective service headquarters keeps records on draft status of workers at plants participating in the replacement schedule program.

Under this arrangement, he said, selective service informs employers in advance that an employe is to be called for army service and allows the employer time to train replacements.

In contrast, plants not participatign in the program often receive no advance notice of their employes' imminent induction, Goble said.

The most famous western ocean packet of the early 1800s, the 1,413-ton "Dreadnaught", held the record of 13 days, 8 hours, between New York and Liverpool. Her skipper, Capt. Samuel Samuels, never once "lay to" in a storm.

Earl T. Clark

Earl Thomas Clark, sign painter in East Liverpool for many years until he moved to Youngstown a year ago, died in the South Side unit of Youngstown City hospital Wednesday at 1 p. m. after an illness. He was 61.

Although he was born in Morristown, O., he spent virtually his lifetime here. He was employed as a sign painter in Youngstown, where he resided at 21 Chalmers st.

He is survived by a brother, Otto N. Clark of East Liverpool.

Services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the Martin funeral home by Rev. D. Park Chapman of the First Church of Christ. Interment will be in Riverview cemetery.

Miss Lola L. Love

Miss Lola L. Love, 76, lifelong resident of Wellsville, died early this morning at the home of Mrs. Charles Cain of Maple ave., where she resided for several years.

Miss Love was born in Wellsville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James W. Love. She was a member of the Second Presbyterian church.

The body was removed to the MacLean funeral home, where services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. by Rev. E. C. Irwin, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Interment will be in Spring Hill cemetery.

Friends may call Friday night at the funeral home.

Mrs. Harriet J. Gillespie

Mrs. Harriet Jane Gillespie, former resident of Wellsville, died this morning at the Glenmoor nursing home, where she was a patient for several months.

Mrs. Gillespie was born in Wayne township, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Forbes. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church. She spent her entire lifetime in Wellsville and in Columbiana county.

Her survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Harry Freshwater of Toronto; a son, Clarence Gillespie of East Liverpool; five sisters, Mrs. L. E. Conner of East Liverpool, Mrs. John McCord, Mrs. Mary Robinson and Mrs. Frank Huston of Lisbon, and Mrs. Anna Robinson of Cleveland; two brothers, Howard Forbes of Lisbon and Norval Forbes of Canton, and four grandchildren.

The body was removed to the MacLean funeral home. Arrangements will be announced later.

William Hawk

Interment was made this afternoon in Spring Hill cemetery for William Hawk, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hawk of 1615 Riverside ave., Wellsville, who died Wednesday night at the home.

PALESTINE HAS 3 CONTESTS IN G.O.P. PRIMARY

Only Republicans Interested Tuesday As Democrats Lack Candidates

EAST PALESTINE, Aug. 5 — This community's primary next Tuesday will be strictly a "family affair" for Republicans, as Democrats did not enter any candidates.

The G. O. P. partisans will decide three contests, with five seeking nominations for the three councilmen-at-large posts, while two each ask the nominations for Second and Third ward offices.

Incumbents Listed

The councilmen-at-large incumbents are Warren Ashbaugh, William Wile and Russell Biggins, while the opponents' are E. C. Leake, John MacIntosh and Howard Patton.

Mr. Ashbaugh is seeking his second term. He is employed in the editorial office of the Vindicator at Youngstown and serves as the paper's East Palestine correspondent. He is married and has one son.

Mr. Wile, also seeking his second term, is a pottery worker and an official in local 31 of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters. He is single and a veteran of the First World war.

Mr. Patton was named to fill a First ward council vacany recently when Albert Forney resigned to accept a board of elections post. He was a contestant in the last election for the same position. Mr. Patton is a foreman at the W. S. George Pottery Co., is married and has a son in military service.

Candidate Is Councilman

Mr. Leake, who is serving his third term as Second ward councilman, is a potter. He is married, has a son in the armed forces, and another son and daughter at home.

Mr. MacIntosh, former Third ward councilman, is a potter and plumber. He is married, has a son in the service and two daughters at home.

Mr. Biggins, former president of the Eagles lodge, is employed at the W. S. George Pottery Co. He was named to fill the unexpired term as councilman-at-large of Chester Whitehouse, who is in military service. The candidate is single. This is the first time his name has appeared on a ballot.

Asks For Third Term

James Vocature, incumbent, and Roy Van Fossan are candidates for the Third ward council post. Mr. Vocature is seeking his third term. He is a welder at the Adamson Tank Co., and is married.

Mr. Van Fossan is a newcomer. He is employed at the W. S. George Pottery Co. and is married.

Mr. Gaiser, who is entering politics for the first time, is a machinist. He is married.

460 CRUCIBLE HOUSES AT MIDLAND ARE SOLD

Special To The Review.

MIDLAND, Aug. 5—Sale of 460 dwellings owned by a subsidiary of the Crucible Steel Company of America to the Beaver Valley Land Companies has been announced.

C. C. McKallip and Co., Pittsburgh realtors, yesterday reported the sale of the units, including substantially all the housing properties of the Midland Improvement Co. in Midland.

The improvement company is a subsidiary of Crucible. The buyers of the property, the Beaver Valley Land Companies, was represented in the transaction by the Sache Real Estate Co. of Pittsburgh.

The properties include 136 single homes; 132 double houses, eight blocks of six houses each and a number of other buildings and 76 vacant lots.

YOU CAN GET A $100 SALARY LOAN
IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $10.07 A MONTH

If you ever need $25, $50, $100 or more quickly and simply, come to Household Finance. If you have a job so that you can repay in small monthly payments, you are welcome to apply for any amount up to $1000. The sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Example: a $50 loan repaid in 6 monthly instalments of $9.24 each costs $5.44—if repaid in one month the cost is only $1.50. No endorsers or guarantors are ever needed. We never make inquiries of friends or relatives.

MARRIAGE VOWS WERE EXCHANGED before an altar decorated with palms, ferns, white gladioli and lighted tapers Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Second Presbyterian church of Wellsville by Miss Frances Mae Givens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Givens of 601 17th st., Wellsville, and Petty Officer Second Class Harry S. Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Goodman of 1648 Globe st., East End.

Rev. E. C. Irwin performed the ring service in the presence of friends and relatives.

An organ prelude was given by Mrs. E. R. Baughman and included, "Dreams", "To a Wild Rose," and "Venetian Love Song," She used the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengren" for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a wedding gown of white slipper satin trimmed with a chiffon yolk with seed pearls. The skirt had a short train. Her veil of illusion was trimmed with Irish lace and was draped from a halo of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book from which was festooned white orchids and white satin streamers.

Miss Margaret Givens, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of rose taffeta bodice with buffant skirt of chiffon. A shoulder veil of rose fell from a rose taffeta head bandeaux, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and baby breath.

Both mothers were attired in navy blue with navy and white accessories and both wore shoulder corsages of gardenias and red rosebuds.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Tice and Mrs. James Boram of Bellevue, Pa.

Mrs. Goodman is a supervisor with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in East Liverpool and will reside with her parents for the duration. The bridegroom is in the insurance corps at Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va. Previous to his enlistment, he was employed in the office of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co. in Midland.

A double ring ceremony united in marriage Miss Janet K. McConachie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McConachie of 757 Armstrong lane, and Mr. Robert J. McNicol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McNicol of 249 Moore st., Saturday night in the rectory of St. Aloysius Catholic church. Rev. Fr. Francis J. Lavery officiated.

Mrs. Martha J. Swoger as matron of honor wore brown crepe with a corage of yellow tea roses. Mr. John J. Stoffel served as Mr. McNichol's best man.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of East Liverpool High school. The bride is employed with the Ohio Power Co. and the bridegroom is associated with Bergner's service station.

A reception for 50 guests followed the ceremony and was held in the newly-furnished apartment of the couple at 911 Dresden ave.

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Knapp of Greenville, Pa., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Knapp, to Cadet James W. Batey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Batey of 726 Bradshaw ave.

Miss Knapp was graduated from the Greenville High school with the class of 1938 and received her bachelor of arts degree at Grove City college, Grove City, Pa., where she is a member of the Sigma Delta Beta sorority.

Cadet Batey was graduated from the East Liverpool High school with the class of 1939 and received his bachelor of science degree in business administration at Grove City college, where he is a member of the Pan Sophic fraternity. He is enrolled in the engineering school of the army specialized training corps at North Georgia college, Dahlonega, Ga.

The wedding will take place Sept. 8 in the Knapp home.

Forty members of the Men and women's Missionary society of the First Church of Christ held their monthly session Tuesday night in the basement chapel.

Mrs. F. Q. Mason installed the following officers:

Mrs. Charles Cobb, president; Mrs. Pearl North, vice president; Mrs. J. P. Ebert, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Dietz, treasurer.

The program included a vocal duet, "Jesus Is Always Here," by Mrs. Irene Doughty and Mrs. Edith James, accompanied by Miss Naomi Smith, and two vocal solos, "Trust and Obey" and "Fairest Lord Jesus," by Miss Janice Smith, accompanied by her sister, Naomi.

Refreshments were served during the social hours by the committee, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Edward Bailey and Mrs. Early Sheppard.

Plans were made for a coverdish dinner to precede the meeting Sept. 7.

A birthday party was held Saturday night in honor of Miss Mary Cornell of Blandville, W. Va., who has been spending two months with Mrs. Edith Dailey, 825 Chester ave. The honor guest was presented with gifts. She will return home this week to enter her senior year in the high school.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dailey, Miss Cornell and Miss Rosemarie Dailey. Covers were arranged for Mrs. Ezza Dailey and children, Rosemarie and Bert, Mrs. Florence Collins and daughters, Jean and Janet; Mrs. Essie Good, Mrs. Cora Dailey, Mrs. Louis Hughes and son, Walter; Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Cornell and daughters, Violet, Vera and Velma; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Koch, all of East Liverpool, Mr. William Cornell of Blandville, and Pvt. First Class Dolliver Pierce of Columbus.

Women's Missionary society of the First Baptist church held a picnic dinner Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shaffer on Lisbon st. Covers were arranged for 34. The social committee included Mrs. Carl Serafy, Mrs. Jessie McCune and Mrs. Charles Parsons.

Devotionals were presented by Mrs. Wilda Boyce, after which group singing was led by Miss Ora McElroy.

A summer Christmas tree was featured and gifts were given to be sent to Mrs. Dudrow of Granville, O., a recently returned missionary from Burma, Mrs. Ola Hanson of Pittsburgh, a retired missionary from Burma, was the guest speaker and told of that country.

The next meeting will be Sept. 7 at the home of Mrs. H. H. Schussler, Calcutta rd.

Naomi circle, Women's Society of Christian Service of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist church, met Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Arthur Hill, Pennsylvania ave. Mrs. Ida Scharf, past president, conducted devotionals and the business session. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Tillie Willis and Mrs. Earl McCoy.

During the social hours, refreshments were served 17 members and the husbands, who were guests. Mrs. Hill was aided by Mrs.

U.S. DEFIES SUIT IN COAL SEIZURE

Ickes Declares Government Might Charge Operators

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—An undercurrent of talk about possible damage suits against the government for seizing the coal mines during the recent strikes brought from Interior Secretary Ickes today a warning the government might charge the operators for running the mines.

Representatives of the coal industry have demanded return of the mines to the owners and Ickes, the mine boss in his capacity as solid fuels administrator, has withheld a reply.

He made it clear, however, in laying down terms for return of the mines on an "if and when" basis, that in any case where the government is subject to a damage claim:

"It expressly reserves the right to assert by way of offset to any such claimed liability, benefits resulting to the mining company from government possession and control."

The interior secretary thinks the owners should regard government control of the mines as a benefit. He contends government seizure kept the mines going and making money whereas they would have lain idle and profitless.

It is not clear how he would measure the extent of the "benefits" or how long a period of time he would claim they ran.

He has held the mines for more than three months—through three strikes by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers — and Lewis has threatened to strike again if the mines are turned back to the owners before Oct. 31.

Meanwhile, Ickes is awaiting an opinion from Atty. Gen. Biddle as to when he must return the properties under terms of the new anti-strike law.

NEW PROGRAM DRAWN TO AID RETURNING MEN

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Republican congressmen dissatisfied with President Roosevelt's plans for the economic rehabilitation of returning soldiers are considering legislation under which war veterans would be absorbed by private business.

Their plans are in a nebulous stage but out of conference now going on with some of the nation's business leaders they said they expect something concrete to develop by the time congress reconvenes in September.

Rep. James C. Auchincloss of New Jersey, First World war veteran who is spearheading the movement among freshmen members of congress, said the returning warriors will not want "a dole or a handout."

"What they want and what they deserve is security for themselves and their families," he said.

SMITH & PHILLIPS ANNUAL
August Furniture Event?

During the past years we have conducted, each summer, an August furniture sale. There will BE NO AUGUST SALE at SMITH & PHILLIPS THIS SUMMER.

Our government, striving to conserve diminishing stocks of merchandise; endeavoring to check rising prices and to prevent further inflation, is urging civilians to confine their purchases to ACTUAL NECESSITIES. We are desirous of supporting any action designed to aid the war effort.

We believe that by conserving the stocks we now possess—by exercising prudence in their distribution—we will be able to supply the ACTUAL homefurnishings NEEDS of ALL of our customers throughout the duration. It is our intent to REMAIN in business all through this trying war period and to CONTINUE in business for long thereafter.

However Smith and Phillips can still supply your every furniture need.

Try to make the homefurnishings you now have last.

In the meantime, buy all the WAR BONDS you CAN. These gilt-edge, interest-bearing securities will continue to increase in value until date of maturity and will provide a tidy nest egg that will enable you to purchase that modern kitchen or the new living room or dining room and the many other items which you will want when its over.

Five Pitchers Likely To Win 20 This Year

10 Others Have Good Chance To Extend Streaks; Most Of Them Are In National League; Sewell Leads

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major leagues may be able to boast of 10 or more 20-game winning pitchers this year compared to only four in 1942.

Where only Mort Cooper, Johnny Beazley, Ernie Bonham and Tex Hughson were able to make the grade a year ago, five twirlers already seem certain of reaching the coveted 20-game goal with 10 others having better than an even chance.

Topped by the veteran 35-year-old Rip Sewell of the Pittsburgh Pirates, the National league claims four of the five twirlers virtually certain of winning 20 games. Sewell has won 17 and lost two. Cooper, Cardinal ace, has a record of 15-6. Elmer Riddle of Cincinnati, with 14-5, and Hi Bithorn, of the Cubs, with 13-8, round out the senior loop quartet.

Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees is the only American league pitcher within whistling distance of the charmed circle. He has won 13 and lost three.

Bonham, who won 21 for the Yankees last year, and Hughson, who was credited with 22 for the Boston Red Sox in 1942, each have a chance to repeat. Big Ernie has won 10 and lost five for the Yanks; Hughson has chalked up 11 wins against seven setbacks.

In the "maybe" class may be placed Ray Starr of Cincinnati, 10-8; Claude Passeau of the Cubs, 10-7; Oscar Judd of the Red Sox, 10-6; Alex Carrasquel and Early Wynn of Washington, 10-5 and 11-7, respectively; Jim Bagby and Al Smith of Cleveland, 11-10 and 10-3, respectively; Dizzy Trout of Detroit, 10-9; and Orval Grove of the White Sox, 10-1.

Al Javery of the Boston Braves, Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds, Virgil Trucks of Detroit and Buck Newsom of the Browns have "outside" chances of hitting the 20-game mark. Each has won nine times.

Pittsburgh came up with four runs in the seventh inning to beat the Phillies, 6 to 2, in the only game played in both leagues yesterday.

INDIANAPOLIS DROPS NINTH STRAIGHT TILT

By The Associated Press.

The Indianapolis Indians, league leaders through most of the first half of the season, are giving American Association fans something else to think about these days—a terrific slump that has cost nine straight games.

A week ago last Tuesday the Indians were a game and a half out of first place. Today they were within a game and a half of toppling into fourth place.

Last night's 3-to-1 defeat was by fourth place Minneapolis.

League-leading Milwaukee was carried extra innings in both games of a double header with Toledo before gaining an even split. Toledo won the opener, scheduled for seven inings, in the ninth, 3-2. Milwaukee rallied to win the second in 12 inings, 7-to-6.

Columbus' double bill with Kansas City was postponed.

St. Paul stretched its winning streak to six by nosing out Louisville, 3 to 2, in 10 innings.

Gunder Haegg To Run Two Miles Saturday; Hopes To Set Record

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 5—The famous Gunder Haegg of Sweden will step off a two-mile exhibition here Saturday night instead of one-mile as originally planned.

Haegg requested an extension of the distance so he could attempt to improve his own world record of 8.47.4 for two miles.

Other runners in the event include Gilbert Dodds, who will start even with Haegg, and Bill Hulse, who will be given a handicap.

BUCKY WALTERS GETS CHANCE TO WIN SIXTH

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—Bucky Walters, starting after his second 100 victories as a Cincinnati Red, is the pitcher today as the team opens a three-week tour against the Chicago Cubs.

Bucky also is after his seventh win of the current year, during which he has lost 11 for the worst season since he came here from the Phillies in 1938. Hiram Bithorn is the Cubs' choice to keep Bucky from improving it.

The Reds put on a twilight exhibition at nearby Fort Sheridan yesterday, downing the soldiers, 5 to 0. Ray Starr, Jack Niemes and Joe Beggs held the Fort to seven hits and the Reds took advantage of four walks and two errors in the fourth inning to score four of their runs.

SPRINGFIELD'S TEAM MAKES LEGION FINAL

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—Cleveland and Cincinnati clash today in the Ohio American Legion junior baseball semi-finals for the right to meet Springfield in a title game Friday.

The teams went into a three-way tie yesterday when Springfield upset Cleveland from its unbeaten position, 2 to 0. Each has suffered one defeat in the tourney which is being conducted on a two-losses-and-out basis.

In yesterday's contest, Springfield's ace pitcher, Henry Amato, bottled up the potential batting power of the Cleveland nine to keep his club in the running.

PIRATES RALLY TO DOWN PHILS

DiMaggio's 13th Homer Big Blow In 4-Run Seventh

By The Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5 — The Pittsburgh Pirates cut loose with a four-run rally in the seventh inning Wednesday night, capped by Vince DiMaggio's 13th homer of the year, to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-2, before 10,417 fans.

Big Max Butcher went the distance for the Bucs to register his sixth victory. He gave up eight hits but kept them well scattered.

After getting two runs on four singles in the first, the Bucs were held scoreless until the seventh when Schoolboy Rowe tired and was removed.

Rowe's successor, Al Gerheauser, was touched for two runs and charged with the defeat.

Elliott drew an intentional pass and Fletcher singled to right, scoring Wyrostek, who ran for Van Robays. Elliott also scored and Fletcher went to third when May, Phillie third sacker, dropped Northey's throw from right field.

FBI Seizes Man, 50, Who Peddles Tips On How To Escape Draft

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The department of justice Wednesday announced arrest of a man accused of teaching New Yorkers how to evade the draft by simulating deafness, mental incompetence and organic disorders.

The man under arrest was listed as Stephen Weinberg, 50, and was termed by the department "a notorious impersonator and deceptionist of First World war days."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover asserted his master deception was in 1921, when he conducted Princess Fatima, sultana of Kabul Afghanistan, on a diplomatic tour of Washington while posing as a representative of the state department. He served two year in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta in connection with this offense, Hoover said.

Weinberg was apprehended in New York city by FBI agents on a charge of violating the national selective and training service act.

Hoover said Weinberg, through various fraudulent scenes, has caused the rejection or deferment of a number of New Yorkers, that he operated under the name of Stanley C. Weyman and had offices in a mid-town New York hotel where he consulted "clients".

"Weinberg's fees ranged from a few hundred dollars to more than $2,000, depending upon the service performed," the justice department said.

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 — Betcha never knew this—a collection of odd and unimportant items from sports history:

Fifth wheel.

Connie Mack's famous "$100,000" infield was composed of five men—Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Home Run Baker (the four you've heard about) and Danny Murphy, who cost Connie about $500. Murphy arrived late for his first game with the A's on July 8, 1902, so Jud Castro played the first inning and got a hit. Then Murphy turned up and smacked six consecutive blows, so his late arrival cost him a chance to get his name into the record books with the all-time leaders.

Hugh Fullerton

Y's guy.

The fact that Wayne Johnson, who played 60 minutes of good football for Harvard against Yale last fall now is a marine trainee and candidate for the Yale team reminds old-timers of the 1913 game between the Elis and the Johnnies. F. J. O'Brien, Harvard end, scored a deliberate safety that day, thinking he was merely making a touch-back. Harvard won, so it was only a gag when O'Brien's teammates voted to award him his "Y".

Block off the old chip.

George Chip, who bossed the middleweight division in 1913-14, probably was the only champion who lost his title while serving as a substitute. George's kind brother Joe had given an unknown named Al McCoy a licking but when a return bout was arranged in Brooklyn, Joe got hurt in training. The promoter thought it would be smart to get George to sub for his brother in a no-decision affair. At the bell, Chip swarmed all over McCoy; his first assault failed to put Al down and George stepped back to get his breath. As he relaxed a moment, a punch came from nowhere. The fight was all over in just 45 seconds and McCoy was the new champion.

It's a gyp-see.

Alex Robb of the Thoroughbred Racing associations dug up the yarn about Gypsy Lee, who picked a derby winner for an English nobleman some 75 years ago. Gypsy wrote "Blew Gown" on the race program and sure enough Sir Joseph Hawley's Blue Gown won the Epsom Derby. Peeved because the nobleman criticized her spelling, Gypsy Lee then prophesied that no horse whose name began with "W" would win the derby as long as she lived—and none did. Gypsy Lee died in 1933 and and next spring the gypsies who gather on Derby day really unloaded their pockets to bet on Windsor lad, owned by the maharajah of Rajpipla. Of course the "W" horse won at odds better than 7 to 1.

'Y' WILL SPONSOR SOFTBALL EVENT

Werner Outlines Plans For Annual Tourney Here

The annual Y. M. C. A.-sponsored softball tournament will be held again this year, provided eight or more entries can be obtained, Carl A. Werner, supervisor, announced today.

Plans call for play to start Aug. 16, with games on Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the champion has been decided.

Previous tournaments have attracted from 10 to 16 teams, but most of the players who took part are now in the armed services, Mr. Werner pointed out.

Teams wishing to enter should contact Mr. Werner at the "Y", where entry blanks and rules may be obtained.

All games will be played on the Y-Vodrey field on Bradshaw. They will be seven-inning affairs.

Team rosters may contain 16 players, with the tournament being conducted on a straight elimination basis—the loss of one game removing a team from play.

The championship and runner-up teams will be awarded trophies. Registration fees must be turned in at the Y. M. C. A. not later than 9 p. m., Saturday, Aug. 14.

Hollywood Chatter

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Ginny Simms, the farmer's daughter, sat in her dressing room on the set, where the voice of Ginny Simms, the singer, was humming tunes on a playback record to George Murphy's piano accompaniment.

"I'll get to the song maybe Thursday," said Ginny. "This is just the introduction, George playing and I humming."

Through the door we could see the camera on George, his fingers caressing the ivories as if he could really play. It was real pretty music, George playing very well for a fellow who can't play at all, and Ginny humming in the special Simms style. But it was funny music, too, on the playback.

Every measure ended with a noise that said "Quack!" The music floated out, dreamy and romantic, and then that cold, impersonal rasping "Quack!" More dreams and romance, and again the poultry-yard note.

"It's not because I'm a farmer's daughter," said Ginny. "It's a way they have of marking the music—supposed to help me synchronize when I do it for the camera. It doesn't — it bothers me — but maybe it helps somebody.

It would take quite a spot of space to tell all the things Ginny Simms is, besides a farmer's daughter. She's an honorary sergeant in the marine corps, for one thing.

She's No. 1 songstress on the air, unless 18 national polls are wrong, and she's indefatigable in singing for service men. She's so busy with war work that she gets out to her own farm—run by her farmer father and mother—only on week-ends now. The farmer's daughter's farm is 40 acres, and it raises everything from piglets to lettuce.

A San Antonio, Tex., girl whose family moved to Fresno, Calif., Ginny studied piano and started singing only as a sideline. She formed a girls' trio which soon hit the air from Fresno.

When the other girls quit to continue schooling, Ginny set out on her own, was discovered by Kay Kyser ("I owe so much to Kay") and for five years toured with him as vocalist, and came to pictures with him.

"I left the band only because I was so tired I had to rest," she said. "We were on the go all the time, and I wanted a home of my own—and some rest."

She has the home now, the farm, but she doesn't get much rest.

She's so busy she has to keep an apartment in Hollywood—to keep all her appointments on time.

Army Rules Finally: 'No College Sports!'

Varsity Football Is Definitely 'Out'; Its Student Soldiers Only Have Six Hours Of Leisure Time Per Week

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Petitions may come and petitions may go, but the army has ruled once and for all the men it has placed in colleges are ineligible for varsity sports competition.

A hope the army would relent and permit its student-soldiers to play varsity football keeps finding expression in many quarters but officials said today: "The question is not an open one."

Not open, they pointed out, means closed—closed by the flat "no" that for four months has been the official reply to the question: Will soldiers in the army specialized training program be permitted to engage in intercollegiate sports?

Despite the petition submitted recently by 256 members of congress headed by Rep. Samuel A. Weiss of Pennsylvania, officers say there has been no change in policy.

Secretary of War Stimson and Under-secretary Patterson were not available for comment, but inquiries elsewhere made it more than evident their subordinates would be astonished if they changed the order.

The navy, much more liberal in its attitude on the subject, has an entirely different set of problems, and furthermore the policy announced last week-end by Secretary Knox, placing new restrictions on navy participation in intercollegiate football, is taken as an indication that the navy has found complete freedom in that regard not entirely to its liking.

Basically, the army's attitude is that men assigned to colleges for intensive classroom work and supervised study have no time for varsity sports. On the average, the men have about six hours leisure a week.

The army expects the men to participate in sports but strictly of the intramural variety. Special allowances and freedom could not be granted to the minority who would be engaged in varsity sports.

FLORISTS, IRISHTOWN BATTLE FOR SECOND

Second place in the City Baseball league will be at stake today when the Riverview Florists and Irishtown tangle at Patterson field in what probably will be the last game of the regular schedule before the round-robin playoff gets under way Monday.

A wet field forced Wednesday's scheduled battle between the Golden Star nine, league champions, and the Elks to be called off.

Riverview still has a postponed game against the Elks, but in all probability it will not be played.

Footnotes About Fighters—

Chester Seaman Is Initiated Quickly Through Hurricane

Seaman Dewell, who entered the maritime service last spring, is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Dewell of Florida ave.

According to the young seaman, he was aboard a tanker in the Gulf of Mexico this summer, when it was caught in the severe hurricane that struck gulf ports recently. The ship drifted for two and a half days and finally was wrecked on a reef.

The experience has only strengthened his determination to do a good job in his chosen service. He has been based at Houston, Tex., but expects to be located in the east on his return from leave.

Ray Collins of Drew Field, Tampa, Fla., has been promoted to sergeant, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Collins of Indiana ave., Chester.

Pvt. First Class Frank Daley and Pvt. Orvan Carter, Salineville boys and childhood playmates, recently staged a happy reunion when they met in Hawaii, where both soldiers are stationed.

Pvt. Louis A. Stuttler, husband of Mrs. Violet Stuttler of 1630 St. George st., has been transferred to Ft. Lewis, Wash. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Stuttler of 1635 St. George st.

Corp. Richard L. Andrus, husband of Mrs. Sara M. Andrus of West Seventh st., has been transferred to a new destination. He is in the quartermasters corps and was in Alaska for seven months.

Clarence H. Snediker, son of Mrs. Stanley Ward of St. Clair ave., has completed his basic training at the merchant marine base at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., and is seaman first class. Mrs. Ward's nephew, Pvt. First Class John E. Snediker of the engineers corps, completed basic training at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and received the highest honors of his class.

Lester J. Grimm Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Grimm of 1404 Etruria st., has completed several months of training at the naval air training center at Navy pier, Chicago, and will be assigned to duty servicing navy planes.

John J. Lillis, husband of Mrs. Bernice Lillis, of 1414 Dresden ave. has been promoted to staff sergeant at the Selfridge Field, Mich., army air base. He has been in the army since March 3, 1941.

Floyd Heddleston, 23, of 1224½ Erie st.; Richard M. Dietz, 18, of Glenmoor; Calvin K. Burcham, 18, of 1196 Pennsylvania ave.; Evan E. Orr, 23, of 169 Thompson ave., William C. Roberts, 18, of 347 Clayburn pl., Robert M. Jarvis, 17, of 2207 Harvey ave., and Stanley Tucker, 17, of 629 Dresden ave. have reported to the Great Lakes, Ill., naval station for "boot" training.

Frank W. Chambers of East Palestine was commissioned a lieutenant in the naval reserve Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

John G. Nathaniel of Grant st., Newell, has received word that his son, Pvt. Thomas P. Nathaniel, is serving in Sicily.

WAR VICTIM. Pvt. Francis C. O'Hanlon, son of George A. O'Hanlon of 1142 Lisbon st., was "killed in action July 21 in th southwest Pacific," according to the war department. A former truck driver, he served in the army two years and has been stationed in the Solomon Islands, New Zealand, New Guinea and Fiji Islands.

Pete Trainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trainer of 1421 Commerce st., Wellsville, has been promoted to technical sergeant in New Orleans. He was inducted Oct. 1, 1942.

Sgt. Merle A. Smith, husband of the former Miss Faye Penn of Chester, has been transferred to Camp Maxey, Tex. He and his wife are residing at Powderly, Tex.

Aviation Cadet William D. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Johnston of Chester, has reported to Dorr field, Arcadia, Fla.

Mrs. Walter Ashby of 320 Broadway, Wellsville, has received word from her son, Tech. Sgt. B. C. Freeman, that he has been moved to a new location in India. He writes that everything "is fine and the only enemy anywhere near them are mosquitos and they are pretty well under control."

Aviation Cadet Charles Mackall, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mackall of 563 Palissey st., has been transferred to Shaw field, Sumter, S. C., for basic training.

Pvt. Raymond "Pick" Clevenger Jr., whose wife, the former Miss Daisy Reeder, and daughter, Judith Lee, reside at 422 Grove alley, has been transferred to Ft. Benning, Ga., to complete his training in the paratroops. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clevenger of 2123 Harvey ave.

Albert Shroades has been promoted to corporal at the army air base at Pueblo, Colo., where he recently completed a course as an airplane mechanic, according to his mother, Mrs. Iona Shroades of 140 West Second st.

—Furlough Notes—

Pvt. First Class Robert L. McBane is spending a 15-day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Ethel McBane, his son, Robert Jr., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester McBane of 407 Prospect st. His brother, Pvt. Lester James McBane, has been transferred to Camp A. P. Hill, Va.

Corp. Technician Robert Costello has returned to Camp Sauganash, Chicago, after a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Costello, Norton st.

Lieut. Melrose "Pete" Franklin Clark has concluded a seven-day leave with his wife, the former Miss Ann Birch, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clark of 670 Riley ave. His wife accompanied him to his base at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Petty Officer First Class W. O. Behne Jr. of Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va., has concluded a 10-day leave with his wife, Mrs. Violet Behne of 1631 Glove st. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Behne of Youngstown.

Petty Officer First Class Harold C. Urie has returned to his station on the east coast after a six-day leave spent with his wife, Mrs. Mildred Urie, and daughter, Linda Kay of Main st., Wellsville.

Corp. Thomas Coughen of Camp Stewart, Ga., is spending a brief furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Coughen of Salineville.

Pvt. First Class Joseph F. DeSenze of Camp Rucker, Ala., is spending a 14-day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Jean McDowell DeSenze of 126 West Center st., and his father, Pete DeSenze of Wellsville.

Staff Sgt. John D. Owen of Ft. Bragg, N. C., is spending a seven-day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Nita Owen, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Owen of Vine st.

LISBON TO DELAY FATHERS' DRAFT

Board No. 3 Has Enough In Younger Group For Calls

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Aug. 5—Because Lisbon draft board No. 3 still has a reservoir of 18- and 19-year-olds and married men without dependents, the board for the present will not reclassify 3-A registrants, fathers and others with dependents, into the 1-A group in preparation for possible induction in October.

W. D. Morris, chairman, said that when this reserve list is exhausted, the work of reclassifying will be started so that the necessary men will be available for call.

The board meanwhile, registered 22 youths from the Lisbon board's district in July, who reached their 18th birthdays during the month. They are:

Nick Leonard Polifrone, West Washington st., Lisbon.

James H. Hogue, Salineville r. d. 1.

Ralph Albaneso, Anderson ave., Wellsville.

Jack Von Vergo, Lisbon r. d. 3.

Arthur Morris Dubinsky, Monessen, Pa.

Ralph Eugene Cunningham, Main st., Wellsville.

Robert Charles Randolph, East Palestine r. d. 2.

Harry Tsosmilles, Salineville.

Aaron Roach, Buckeye ave., Wellsville.

Jerry Henry Morow, Lisbon r. d. 5.

Eugene Acuff, Main st., Wellsville.

Harry George Davis, Lisbon r. d. 1.

Wilbur Charles Myers, New Waterford.

William Andrew Myers, New Waterford.

James Wilbur McClure, Commerce st., Wellsville.

Frank Angelo Colella, New Waterford.

Homer A. McKee, Salineville.

John Leland McMillen, East Palestine.

Frank Elba Padurean, Elkton.

Fred Everett Dailey, Lisbon r. d. 3.

Clarence Harvey Frantz, Lisbon r. d. 1.

Fred Emil Zacharias, Wellsville r. d. 1.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR KNOWLES PICNIC

Event Will Be Held Saturday At Thompson Park

Committees have been named to complete the final plans for the annual picnic of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in Thompson park, sponsored by the firm and the recreation committee.

Hugh McKernan, general chairman, has listed the following assistants:

First aid, Arthur Smith; ponies, "Laddie" McKernan; prizes, Fred Stoddard, Maxon King and Probert Dager.

The event will feature a baseball game, races and free pony rides. The latter attraction will be for children under 12. The ponies, belonging to Larry Reed of Glenmoor, will include a tiny animal, fully grown and standing only 30 inches high.

Dinner will be served at 6 with coffee and cream, orange juice, peanuts, candy and ice cream furnished by the firm.

VETERANS TO ATTEND CINCINNATI ASSEMBLY

The East Liverpool delegation to the annual convention of the American Legion Sunday through Tuesday in Cincinnati will leave Saturday at 7 a. m.

Delegates from the Legion and the women's auxiliary of the two local Legion posts have chartered the V. F. W. bus for the trip. A number of other members also will make the trip in the bus, which will be driven by Richard Stivason.

Members planning to attend the convention have been requested to inform Mr. Stivason.

Sweden Bars Nazi Troops

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—The National Broadcasting Co. quoted a dispatch today from its Stockholm correspondent, David Anderson, as saying that Sweden has canceled an agreement with Berlin permitting German troops transit though that country. Sweden has permitted the transit of German troops on leave from and to Norway, provided they carry no arms.

Children's Clothing Crusade

NEW YORK—More than 400,000 pounds of clothing have been distributed to needy children in isolated sections of the United States, child war victims in Britain and needy youngsters in Puerto Rico as a result of the National Children's Clothing Crusade, according to Dorothy Canfield Fisher, of the advisory committee.

Today's Markets

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 — Stocks were irregularly in early dealings today with changes generally limited to minor fractions.

Higher at a rather quiet opening were U. S. Rubber, American Waterworks, N. Y. Central, Paramount and Westinghouse. In lower ground were Chrysler, General Motors, Texas Co. and Western Union.

Followers of oil shares noted the weekly report of American Petroleum Institute which disclosed another moderate decline in supplies of principal oil products on the Atlantic seaboard. The nation's gasoline supplies at the close of last week were 74,977,000 barrels, off 737,000 from the previous week.

Don't Lose Your Driving Privilege
September 20th, 1943 the new Automobile Liability and Property Damage Financial Responsibility Law becomes effective.
Under its terms, any motorists who has a Judgment rendered against him either for Public Liability or Property Damage which he fails to satisfy within Thirty Days, loses his DRIVING PRIVILEGE FOR A PERIOD OF FIVE YEARS or until the Judgment is satisfied.
Protect your driving privilege by having the right kind of Automobile Insurance. Advise us if you have an A, B or C Book, and we will quote the rate. Cost is reasonable.

73 Repairing—Service

Let's Talk Shop
NEIGHBOR
We have been urging you to take care of your present car, to keep it in good repair. There are sound reasons for it. Let's look the facts in the face:
No new Cars Being Built
Used Cars Growing Scarce
Prices Getting Higher
All Cars Getting Older
More People Wanting Cars
Fewer Cars Available.
After the war—more gas, more tires, more driving, but too few cars. Months or even years before car production will be able to meet the demand.
CONCLUSION
Take care of your present car. Don't let little troubles develop into big ones through lack of attention. Bring your car here regularly for lubrication and check up. Our mechanics are qualified to repair any make car.

THE GERMAN invasion caught the Russians by surprise but behind the frontiers mobilization proceded swiftly from the guerillas defending their homesteads to the Red army itself.

CHAPTER 4

ONE day later in the year than Napoleon, Hitler invaded Russia, June 22, 1941. Beyond that much as they were to be compared, there was little comparison between the campaigns of the 19th-century French emperor and the 20th-century German fuehrer. For Napoleon marched to Moscow with a mobile column, turned around and marched back again. Hitler flung himself on Russia with a huge force, stopped short of Moscow, and hung on for a fight to the finish.

When it began, that fateful Sunday at 4 a. m., 170 divisions, numbering more than 2 million men, with 10,000 tanks and 10,000 planes, were unleashed against the Soviet union. With them, death and devastation stalked onto the steppes of southern, the forests of western, the tundra of northern Russia.

The invasion caught the Soviets by surprise. Despite all alarms and warnings, they were not ready. Unexpectedly, bombs showered down on Kiev, Sebastopol, Kaunas, Zhitomir, and other important cities of the rear. Shells rained on Brest-Litovsk, Belostok, and other towns on the frontier. Border posts were rapidly overwhelmed. So complete was the surprise that junior pilots rushed about their airports, seeking superior officers for orders to take off, while they themselves were being bombed. And many of the highest officers of the army and navy and officials of state were away from their posts on vacation.

Russians Hear Belatedly

It was not until 5:30 a. m., one hour and a half after the invasion, that Graf von der Schulenburg called on Foreign Minister Molotov at the Kremlin to inform him that Germany had started war on the Soviet union because of Red army concentrations opposite the German border. It was not until 12:15 p. m., that the Russian people heard, in a broadcast by Molotov, that they had been attacked without previous demands, without a declaration of war.

The confusion was complete. The Red army admitted June 23 the fall of Brest-Litovsk. It fell only the next day. A washerwoman, dropping her laundry and drying her hands when she saw the Germans, took a rifle, helped one border post stand off the enemy, then went back to a garrison and brought reinforcements. For a day that post held. The 99th Red army infantry division, commanded by Col. Jacob Kreuzer, retreated from Przemysl, in Old Poland, then pushed back and recaptured the town. They held until ordered to withdraw. But all around them the Soviet frontiers fell.

Behind the frontier, loudspeakers blazed orders: mobilization of men between 23 and 36 years old in the 14 western military districts, air-raid and anti-gas precautions, a state of seige throughout European Russia. That night, as they had in all other cities of Europe, the lights of Russia were blacked out.

And so, all unwilling, Russia became Armageddon.

I had what seemed at first to be the very bad, but what turned out to be the very good, luck to witness the outbreak of the war, not from Moscow, but from the peaceful, sunlit terrace of the Riviera hotel at Sochi.

Beautiful Sunday

It was a beautiful Sunday, warmed by the rain, after a tempest the previous day. The Black sea dashed briskly against the breakwater and sent its waters rushing across the concrete walk. The war had been on for hours, but I had no premonition of it, as I sat on the hill above the beach and watched the waves.

A telegram had come for me that morning from Moscow, saying: 'Plane immediately.' Idly, I wondered what the reason for it was, personal or business. Witt Hancock, my predecessor in Moscow, had been planning vaguely to come through Moscow if he were ordered home from his post in Turkey. In that case I had left word I would return to Moscow to meet him. That, I decided, must be the reason for the telegram. I would go, of course, but there was no hurry. There was no plane anyway until the next day. But the reason for the telegram turned out to be business. Witt Hancock, instead of going home, went on to India and Batavia, there to be lost in Java. And I was going back to the war.

As I strolled back from the beach, through the garden, I saw a crowd gathered around the loudspeaker in front of the hotel. A flat emotionless voice was speaking. It was Molotov describing the attack without warning.

As he spoke, his audience listened silently, first in sheer amazement, then in stunned realization. One or two women wept quietly, and moved away, but most of them stood, as though in a trance, astonished, then resigned to the ghastly news. I headed upstairs to my room, and as I passed a maid on the stairs, she gasped:

'They attacked us!'

I felt worse than the Russians, for I was away from my post, and the greatest story of them all was breaking. All the ugly forecasts I had heard for Russia, in case of war, came to me: It would last three weeks to three months . . . the Germans might reach Moscow in five days . . . Moscow would be leveled by a single bombing. I might never get there in time.

The rest of the day I spent in waiting for things that never came. I put in a telephone call for Moscow for 4 p. m. It never came. I was told a man would came with a ticket for Moscow on the next day's plane at 9 p. m. He never came. Then, I was told, all planes were grounded. I was stranded at the other end of Russia, with no roads between me and Moscow, with no way of getting there except by train. And the last train for Moscow that day had left.

Tempers ran higher as the day went on. There were bickerings and stampedings about the hotel. But underneath it all there was a current of feeling of determination, even of enthusiasm, about the war. Marching songs, blaring from loudspeakers, began to echo back from the mountains. The crowds grew larger and larger, listening to repeated broadcasts of Molotov's speech and successive news bulletins. Sometimes the people cheered and clapped.

Blackout Is Applied

That night the blackout was put into effect with surprising speed and efficiency. Blue bulbs appeared in the lights, dark curtains covered the windows, and a maid brought a candle to my room.

The next morning, Russia's second of war, I awoke with a start after a fitful night's sleep, and jumped out of bed to start working on a train ticket for Moscow.

I went into the railroad station office and made to an officer in Red army uniform what must have been a grotesquely eloquent speech in bad Russian. I told him I was an American correspondent, had been called the day before to return by plane, and, since there was no plane I must leave that day by the train. I produced my foreign commissariat pass, and said: "With this document I should think I might take the train today."

The officer nodded, and said "You might."

The baggageman, remained at the station, already filling up with anxious crowds, to buy the ticket, and I walked back to the hotel.

In the streets squads of men were marching in civilian clothes. Houses were being bulwarked. Troops passed in trucks. The town was emptying of all except women and children.

I could not help but compare this to the France I had seen less than a year before. There was no rush of refugees on the road. In fact, as I was still to find out, it was very difficult to move at all. There was no mass crisis of nerves: the war of nerves had never reached this remote, stolid people.

If the Russian people are ever defeated, I thought, it will not be because of nerves.

On the way to the hotel I asked a man what the morning's radio news had been.

"We are attacking," he said.

Tips On How To Keep Well

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Gastric juice and other stomach secretions are analyzed.

WE have been discussing the value of the examination of the blood to the doctor who is making a diagnosis of his patient and have tried to tell something about the procedure he goes through in order to examine the blood. Today I wish to take up other laboratory methods of examination of different fluids of the body.

The medical profession and physiologists have been very ingenious in submitting every secretion, fluid and excretion of the body to examination in health and disease. One of the first of the body secretions to be examined was the gastric juice — the secretion of the walls of the stomach during the process of digestion.

History Is Faced

Attempts were made to obtain this as far back as the 18th Century when an ambitious German physician invented a kind of brush on the end of a long wire, which he poked down his patient's gullet and mopped up the side of the stomach, very much like one of the instruments used to clean kitchen pans and bottles.

This method was not very satisfactory and the real beginning of gastric analysis was when a Dr. Kussmaul had a patient in his ward who was called Der Weiner (The Whiner). The poor thing whined all the time and for good reason, because she had an obstruction in her stomach and secretions dammed back and kept her bloated.

Tube Idea Tried

Dr. Kussmaul conceived the idea of putting a tube down and washing out her stomach, which gave her great relief. Remember, this was only as short a time ago as 1870. With this Kussmaul tube the stomach specialists were able to remove stomach contents and make a chemical and miscroscopial examination of them.

At rest the stomach is quite empty of all secretions and presents a dry glistening surface. But almost immediately after the intake of food, secretion begins and within an hour it is almost at its height.

In the early period of analysis of the stomach contents, the juice was removed an hour after a small meal and many profound conclusions were adduced on the basis of this examination. In fact, before the x-ray began to be used to visualize the stomach, the analysis of the gastric juice was about the only stock in trade of the stomach specialist.

The specialty thrived in those palmy days. In fact, as I remember it, practically every other doctor on the North Side of Chicago was a stomach specialist when I spent my interneship there. But in the course of time the general practioners and general surgeons found out there wasn't very much value in the examination of the stomach contents.

Examination Not Valuable

The stomach specialists were prone to say that when a person had a great deal of acid in his stomach contents, that meant he had ulcer and that when he had no acid at all, that meant he had cancer.

But the surgeons soon found that sometimes there were cases of cancer of the stomach with plenty of acid and cases of ulcer with no acid at all and dependence on the pronouncements drawn from analysis of the gastric juice are taken very skeptically by the diagnostician today.

One fluid of the body which has proved of surprising value in the diagnostic examination is the cerebrospinal fluid. This is a clear, watery-looking fluid which surrounds the brain and spinal cord. When these are diseased, they are likely to pour dregs into the fluid, which can be detected by chemical and miscroscopial examination and which throw light on a great many conditions.

The Navajo Indians of New Mexico are natural soldiers. Most of them are already hardened by their nomadic life. That may account for the fact that they like the strenuous branches of the service. Recently 92 joined the marines. On the firing range, they outshot all other platoons at their particular field

Captain Explains Difference In New, Old Training

The Columbiana county highway patrol auxiliary, comprised of American Legion members, has been made a part of the county civilian defense organization by action of the state legislature at its recent session.

This information was given the auxiliary at its monthly meeting Wednesday night in the American Legion home at Salem by Lynn Riddle of Lisbon, county defense chairman.

Act As Auxiliary Police

Mr. Riddle explained that the auxiliary members would act in the capacity of auxiliary police to the county organization and around it would be built a civilian defense organization for the county just the same as that which exists in East Liverpool, Salem, Wellsville, East Palestine and other cities.

The auxiliary, however, will continue to serve under the supervision of the officials of the state highway patrol. Directing the organization in Columbiana county is Corp. W. H. Hatunen, commanding officer of the Salem sub-station.

The highway patrol auxiliary, which exists in every county in Ohio, recently was cited by the state defense council as the most outstanding civilian defense organization in the state. Composed entirely of veterans of the First World war, the members were schooled and trained for six months in police, road patrol, guard and first aid work before taking office.

Get Actual Experience

To gain actual experience each member is required to spend at least one night monthly in company with state highway patrolmen in road patrol work. The group also assists patrolmen in traffic checks to inspect driving licenses and certificates of registration.

Hugh Ramsey of Lisbon, now a captain in the army and a former member of the auxiliary, was a guest at last night's meeting and explained his work at training recruits in the present war as compared to the course of training given men in the last war.

In the absence of Corp. Hatunen, who is on vacation, Sgt. James Bower of Massillon, who organized the Columbiana county auxiliary, was in charge of last night's meeting. George Gonzales of Lisbon, captain of the unit, presided.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 1 in Wellsville.

SALINEVILLE K. OF C. OFFICERS ARE SEATED

Special To The Review.

SALINEVILLE, Aug. 5—Installation of officers for Knights of Columbus council 2389 was held Tuesday night with Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, district deputy, in charge.

The new officers, named at the annual election in June, are as follows: Blaise S. Burns, grand knight; James Maley, deputy grand knight; Rev. Fr. P. V. Hyland, chaplain; John Hisketh, treasurer; F. A. Strabley, recording secretary; James Kelly, chancellor; James Coughen, advocate; John Gruszecki, trustee.

Waste Paper Collected

SALINEVILLE, Aug. 5—Mrs. S. A. Hart, chairman, today termed as successful the waste paper drive held Monday when Boy Scouts with township trucks gathered magazines, newspapers, paper bags and cartons under the sponsorship of the Women's Civic club.

FARM TEST DUE ON ARMY LABOR

Next Three Weeks May Tell If Troops Are Needed

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — The next two or three weeks may tell whether farmers will need the army's help in harvesting this year's big crop.

The agricultural department's extension service, an agency that has been directing recruitment of volunteer workers, said 1943 harvesting operations starting this month will be the test.

Signs of possible serious shortages already are bobbing up. North Dakota has made formal request for 15,100 soldiers to help gather the spring wheat crop. The request, approved by Food Administrator Marvin Jones and Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, is pending before the war department.

60,000 Workers Imported

The government promised last spring to make troops available in an emergency. Although soldiers have been used in a few areas on minor farm jobs, the North Dakota request, if granted, would be the first big-scale use of servicemen.

More than 60,000 agricultural workers have been imported from Mexico and the Caribbean area.

The biggest single job this month will be harvesting, curing and marketing the flue-cured tobacco crop in Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Other big August jobs include cutting and storing hay in the dairy belt, harvesting vegetables in various parts of the country and spring wheat.

The extension service said farm labor needs must be met primarily through local mobilizations. The agriculture department estimated 11,749,000 persons were employed on farms on July 1 and that an additional 200,000 full-time workers will be required through August, September and October.

The extension service reported that many of the more than half a million extra workers placed on farms by July were boys and girls and women.

"Reports from all parts of the country seem to indicate," the service said, "that farmers generally now are willing to accept city workers, especially in those areas where the need is greatest and crops are in danger of being lost."

Says 'Marvel Age' Remote

PASADENA, Calif.—Prof. W. H. Peckering of the California Institute of Technology warns the public against expecting a world of super-development immediately after the war as a result of the progress being made in electronics. There will be some, he concedes, but the "age of marvels", he insists, "is still remote".

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
